HOW IT WILL BE DONE

Some doubt has been expressed upon the part of thinking men, particularly thinking republicans, as to whether or not Senator Foraker will be able to handle the next legislature and secure his election, even though Mr. Donithen be elected and the legislature have a republican majority. These inquirers are all right in their logic but they do not go far enough. They do not look far enough into the future or consider what has happened and what will happen. They seem to feel secure in the thought that not all of the republican members of the legislature are Foraker men. They know some of them are Taft men, or in other words are administration men and they feel inclined to place security in this fact and it is a fact.

But, let us take a glance over the situation. Let us see what has been accomplished by the Foraker men. Let us see what it all means. It is pretty generally conceded by republicans that George B. Cox did not sleep more than one night after writing his resignation, announcing his retirement in politics. The ink was scarcely dry before he set to work laying his wires to get back into the harness. It is pretty generally admitted too that he has accomplished that end. The Dayton convention showed the work of the boss. He gave the word that Thompson was to be the nominee and he was named. It is true that he stayed in the background, but he was there in the spirit if not in the flesh.

Another point which is pretty generally conceded is that Foraker and Cox have pooled their interests and are now working to bring about the election of Foraker at the next session of the legislature. They have been wise enough to take into account the fact that there will be Taft men in that general assembly and have been looking for the lever with which to move them and they have found it. Cox and Foraker have their hands upon the first and second, the sixth, seventh, tenth, eleventh and fifteenth Ohio congressional districts. Each one of these districts is entitled to two delegates to the national convention, next year and Foraker men are sure to be selected. It is also certain that Foraker, because of his stand on the Brownsville affair, absolutely controls the colored vote in Ohio.

Now then, with fourteen delegates to the national convention and the 60,000 colored voters backing him up, Foraker can go to Taft with a proposition like this:

"Mr. Taft, you want the nomination for president next summer, and in order to get it you must have the solid delegation of your own state. You may think you can win the nomination with a divided delegation, and if you should be nominated without Ohio's solid support, I have under my thumb the 60,000 colored voters in Ohio and you know, that practically represents the republican majority in Ohio, and I will swing them against you and lose you your own state in the election. Now there is no use in us fighting this way. I'll turn over to you my fourteen delegates to the convention and my 60,000 colored voters on election day if you will deliver the United States senatorship."

What will be the result?
The only thing which could result from such a proposition and such a condition, Mr. Taft will send the order that his followers in the general assembly must vote for Mr. Foraker, and Foraker will be elected, provided the general assembly is republican.

Some may think that Taft would not enter into such a deal, but they must remember that Taft is in politics to win. He would be willing to make any sacrifice if he could win the presidency and to win the presidency, he must have the Ohio delegation to get the nomination and to get the solid Ohio delegation he must have those fourteen delegates whom Foraker controls and in order to get them he must give Foraker what he wants—the Ohio senatorship. One follows naturally upon the other.

The election of Hoke Donithen this fall will make it all the easier for Foraker to accomplish this end. It will give him not only one more vote, but will give him, at the same time a greater leverage upon Taft. Foraker, if Donithen is elected, can point to the fact and show how Donithen was elected in Marion county where the sentiment seemed to be for Taft, pointing out this as an indication that he (Foraker) has a very strong backing which is not apparent upon the surface.

These are points worthy of consideration. You may think Foraker has been eliminated from Ohio politics but he has not been and he will not be if Hoke W. Donithen is elected.

More attention is being given to the election of school board members this fall than at any election held here in many years. With the multiplicity of candidates for this important office, it behooves the voters to remember that men of knowledge and experience should be placed on the board of education. They should be men who know Marion and its needs.

In Fred E. Guthery and J. Wilbur Jacoby, the democrats have chosen candidates who cannot fail to demand the support of all public spirited citizens.

Who is there in Marion that does not know Mike Clary, the veteran blacksmith? And who is there that does not know Mr. Clary for his thrift, his honesty and his sobriety? Mr. Clary is a man who has struggled through adversity to comfortable circumstances and who can look the world in the face and say that he has always been true to his fellow man. A vote for Mr. Clary for the board of public service will be a vote for one who will safeguard the city's interests as he would his own.

Mr. Bryan was greeted by a large audience in New York and made one of his finest efforts. He modified his general attack upon the great newspapers of the country by saying "some not all" of the owners employ brilliant editors to chloroform their readers while they pick their pockets. Could Mr. Bryan have had John Temple Graves in mind, whom Mr. Hearst has just made editor of the American, when he thus attacked the metropolitan press.

One of Marion's best known citizens is Henry A. Schuler, who for years has been a trusted employe of the Huber Manufacturing company. He is a man respected by all who have known him during his long residence in Marion and this fact is the strongest possible testimonial to his worth. Mr. Schuler is a democratic candidate for council-at-large, and is slated to receive a heavy vote at the election next week.

Just plain "Tom Mead" is the way hundreds of Marion people refer to Thomas J. Mead, one of the democratic candidates for board of public service. Practically everyone in West Marion and the majority of people in other parts of the city know Tom Mead and know him to be a man of honesty and uprightness. That is why everyone says that his election is practically assured.

The friends of John Sharp Williams, the democratic leader in congress, are suggesting him as the most available candidate for president for the Democracy to unite upon. Mr. Williams has the democratic requirements for high position, for he is both able and honest, and probably the hardest worker in Congress with a knowledge of things and men equaled by few.

No business man in Marion is better known nor more universally liked than J. C. Anthony, the veteran laundryman. Ever since entering business here, Mr. Anthony has been successful and he has accomplished success purely through his industry and business ability. Every citizen interested in the welfare of Marion should cast his vote for Mr. Anthony for the board of public service next Tuesday.

The National Banks now have $177,287,888 of government money deposited with them upon which—thanks to republican legislation—they pay no interest. No wonder the Wall Street bankers favor Cortelyou for president and are such liberal contributors to republican campaign funds.

J. W. Hurr is the candidate for council in the Fourth ward and the democrats of that section of the city could not have made a wiser choice. He is bound to make a great race.

Not a word from Mr. Roosevelt on the tariff and yet he knows that it protects the trusts and plunders the people. Why does the President stand pat?

Secretary Taft's political manager says he is very pleased with the outlook. But then it does not take much to make a political manager feel optimistic these days.

The Cortelyou Literary Bureau is seducing the Labor Union organs into the belief that he is a "friend of labor," and the Wall Street bankers are for him to a man.

Mr. Harriman would like to abolish government inquiries into corporation affairs. Has he tired of paying assessments to republican campaign funds?

Some would be frenzied financiers have been forced out of the game, but it gave Wall Street and the favored banks an awful jolt to get rid of them.

Henry M. Whitney and his ticket has been declared by the court the regular democratic nominee for governor and state officers in Massachusetts.

Down in that Republican stronghold, the Third ward, B. B. Carter, the democratic candidate for council, is making a great fight. Mr. Carter's friends say he will be elected.

The leading republican politicians appear to have secured considerable of the New York traction "yellow dog fund."

The question is who killed the bear, Teddy, or the colored brother? Anyhow the darkey got the $20 reward.

MOTHER OF THE COOK BOYS DROPS DEAD

Dayton, O., Nov. 1.—Sudden and tragic, but in consonance with the turbulent life she had led, was the fate of Mrs. Martha Cook of this city, who at the wind up of a drunken debauch, dropped dead in the kitchen of her home. Mrs. Cook was the mother of Edward and Charles Cook and Rose Sharaf, all inmates of state penal institutions. A fourth son has also served time in the penitentiary.

Rose Sharaf was the paramour of Charles Stimmel, who was electrocuted for the murder of Joseph Shide. She was convicted of aiding and abetting in a highway robbery. Mrs. Cook has been arrested many times for drunkenness and disturbing the peace. She possessed a bold and defiant spirit that was transmitted to her children and accounts for their perverse nature and criminal instinct.

The men demand higher pay and shorter hours and the railroad directors say that compliance would wipe out all profits on many lines. They concede that a walkout will tie up transportation throughout England.

About 250,000 men will be involved. They have a campaign fund of over $1,000,000.

CRIMINAL ACTION

Will now be Begun by States Attorney Against Editor Harden.

HAU WILL NOT BE EXECUTED

Death Sentence will be Commuted and the Prisoner May Go Free.

Karlsruhe, Nov. 1.—The death sentence against Prof. Karl Hau, of Washington, D. C., is about to be commuted to life imprisonment and it is generally believed that this will be the preliminary to releasing him altogether.

The Grand Duke of Baden has informally announced that a commutation will be granted on the strength of a recommendation from the minister of justice.

Hau was convicted of murdering his mother-in-law, Frau Moltor.

BANKER TAKES POISON

Worry Over Losses Causes an Iowa Man to Take Morphine.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 1.—Frank Crocker, cashier of the First National Savings Bank of Charlton, committed suicide yesterday. His daughter found him dead in bed. He had taken morphine.

The bank is believed to be in good shape. Worry over losses sustained in alleged use of Modern Woodmen funds is believed to be the cause. Crocker left a note saying: "I can't bear this strain any longer."

Crocker was once grand treasurer of the Modern Woodmen of America and held a national office in that order up to the time of his death. The bank has been closed and an investigation will be started. Charlton is a town of five thousand inhabitants, 100 miles from Des Moines.

THAW'S DEFENSE WILL BE IN SANITY DODGE

New York, Nov. 1.—Announcement was made that insanity is to be the plea in the defense of Harry K. Thaw, whose second trial for the slaying of Stanford White will begin on Dec. 2, next. Martin W. Littleton, chief counsel for Thaw, it is stated, has decided on this course. He is said to be convinced that Thaw is insane and has not adopted this course as merely a theory on which to conduct a successful defense, but because he feels certain of the unsound mental condition of his client.

Ever since he took charge of the case, it is said, Mr. Littleton has given the question of Thaw's mentality careful study. He has traced the Thaw family tree and it is said he has decided that the insanity of Thaw may have been an inheritance.
