FOUR TEAMS STAND SOLID

Desire to Know What's Coming Off.

SOUTHERN O. & P. CLUBS

Hold Meeting and Reaffirm Their Position.

Newark will Stand by Marion, Mansfield and Lancaster to the Very End.

Men who furnish baseball to the flourishing towns of Marion, Newark, Lancaster and Mansfield haven't been frightened into submission and silence by the threats that the northern clubs of the Ohio-Penn circuits will refuse to go on another year with the old organization.

At the Hartman there was a conference between officials of the four southern clubs. Each club president was on hand as follows: Stael, of Newark; Wollenweber, of Marion; Davidson of Lancaster and Sturges, of Mansfield.

There was a unanimity of opinion that organized baseball will be provided for the citizens of each town and there was no demand that the northern towns be urged to go through with their expressed intention of breaking down the old lines. In fact, the gentlemen who conferred would be willing to have the league remain as it has been for two years past.

That's what they told their northern associates at a recent meeting in Cleveland and nothing was done toward receding from that position.

However the officials of the southern clubs want to know what is going to be done and they don't care to wait until January or February to find out about it.

There is but little doubt that Akron and Youngstown people, backed up by those in charge at New Castle and Sharon have gone along on plans to form a new league. In case these should be blocked it is but natural to expect that the Akron alliance will turn toward the southern quartet of clubs and beg of them to help keep the old Ohio-Penn league running.

It was pointed out in the State Journal a few days ago that fairness to all parties concerned prompted a call for an early settlement of the dispute. The gentlemen who met here took steps that may result in a final decision before the holidays.

Newark's lot will be cast with the other three towns of the southern division. Bob Berryhill's Molders will be found making a pennant fight next year against Lancaster, Marion, Mansfield, and four other teams. No matter what the unnamed four may be, Newark will stick with the three towns mentioned.

It may be a case of "play with or pay" for Akron and her allies. The southern towns cannot be forced into a separation. Possibly a story of alimony in baseball will be ground out shortly. In addition to the club presidents those who had a part in the deliberations were: Secretary L. J. Smith and E. G. Stater of Marion; Louis Rosey and W. D. Nothaker of Lancaster; Secretary W. J. Maurath of Newark and Manager Cal McVey of Mansfield.—Ohio State Journal.

WILL KNOW BETTER NEXT TIME.

Young Reporter in Trouble on His First Assignment.

Reporters are not born, as some people seem to think, but made, and sometimes the making is a series of mishaps. A young man just put on the staff of a Philadelphia paper was handed his police card and assigned to a tour of the hospitals and police stations of a certain district. Full of importance in the possession of the much-coveted police card, the young man hastened to a hospital. Arrived there he found a side door and, not knowing just how to proceed, he hunted about until he spotted an electric push button. He didn't stop to read the sign over it, but gave it a good shove and stood back awaiting results. They came. In a moment the door was thrown violently open and two men came rushing out with a stretcher, while behind them followed two nurses and a doctor. The doctor at once accosted the young man. "What is it?" he demanded. "What do you want?" The young man drew himself up. "I'm a reporter," he said, "and I want a list of accidents." The physician took the young man by the arm and marched him over to the button. He pointed to the sign, which read: "In case of accidents, push." "Now I want to tell you," he said solemnly, "if you try that trick again you'll be in an accident."

TWO KINDS OF MERRY.

Both Are Suffered by Authors, but One Has Compensations.

"Among the acutest of the small miseries of my existence," declared Hal Caine in the Book Monthly, "has been that of seeing a man, or more frequently a woman, take up and lay down, in the midst of a running fire of desultory conversation, in the halls of hotels or on the seashore a story on which I might have spent all my strength and have written, as I supposed, with my heart's blood."

"Now, that's all very well," comments Keble toward in the Sketch, "but Mr. Caine must remember that there are a good many novelists also writing with their heart's blood who never see their stories taken up at all. When they do see them taken up there is often a large fly in the ointment."

"A week or two ago," for example, I spent five hours in a railway carriage with a wealthy gentleman, who was actually reading one of my own humble works.

"When he had finished it he handed the volume to his son. The son remarked that his mother had read the same copy. It was a sixpenny edition sold at four pence halfpenny. I got the half-penny."

Cat Killed by Mail.

In the hailstorm of the other day Paul Hill, manager of the Omaha catery, 2017 Charles street, lost White Faun, one of his most valuable pussies.

In the Omaha catery are kept some 20 pedigreed cats, all of which are worth a great deal of money. The cat house itself is made of tar paper, built a temporary structure, and when the hail fell it beat through the roof, causing the death of White Faun, the big white pussy of them all.

White Faun was lying in a box at the rear of the center of the roof. The other aristocratic cats were playing about the yard. When the hail began Mr. and Mrs. Hill ran to their rescue, but poor White Faun lay exposed to the death-dealing blows of the immense hailstones. When the proprietors of the catery came back they found White Faun lying dead. She was valued at $150.

Legends of Goblin Hounds.

Cunna Doyle's "Hound of the Baskervilles," a "fiaracrao animal," is said to have its origin in the legends of packs of spectral hounds which are popular in various parts of England and Wales. In the north of England these apparitions are known as "Goblin's hounds." In Devon, the "Wisk," "Yest," or "Heath hounds." In Wales, "Cron Anwn," or "Cron Wybir," and in Cornwall the "Devil's Dandy dogs." They are supposed to be evil spirits hunting the souls of the dead. Generally they are only heard and seem to be passing swiftly along in the air, as they usually choose cloudy nights for the pursuit of their prey. Their yelping is said to be terrific, resembling the note of a bloodhound. All of which tends to show that the origin of these legends of goblin-hounds is to be found in the terrifying noises made by flocks of wild geese.

Maj. Dreyfus is Pensioned.

Paris.—The announcement of the pensioning of Maj. Alfred Dreyfus has been officially gazetted as follows: "Dreyfus, Alfred, chief of squadron (major) 30 years 10 months and 24 days service; pension from August 25, 1907, 2,850 francs ($470) a year." Dreyfus, having retired before having completed two years' service as major, received only the pension of a captain.

MUST PRODUCE MONEY

If Southern Teams Withdraw From the League.

Northerners Must Get Busy at Once if They Carry Out Their Plans for Redistricting.

One of the local directors stated today that the owners of the southern teams in the league do not intend to sit around and wait for the Northerners, if the affairs of the league continue as at present the matter of redistricting will not be settled until January or February. If the northern crowd wants to redistrict it must announce its plans at once. If not there will be no change in the league.

"It is the plan of the Akron-Youngstown crowd," said director, "to keep us waiting until they find out whether they can reach an agreement and get together a league that will suit them or not. By that time it will be February and should they redistrict the southern clubs would have no show whatever."

"If the Northerners want the Southerners to withdraw from the league, they will have to produce some money and it is certain that the league will be forced by the clubs which were represented at yesterday's meeting. We should be able to know just what will be done by the first of next week."

At the present time it seems as though an excellent league can be formed around the southern clubs of the present league. It was first proposed to take in Springfield and Lorain, but for numerous reasons those cities have been termed undesirable. Lima is certain to go in with the Mansfield, Newark, Lancaster and Marion club as is Zanesville. Both East Liverpool and Steubenville also want to get in and it seems quite certain that if there are any changes made in the league the cities mentioned will compose what will be known as the Ohio State league.

It is stated that it requires the votes of six of the clubs to disband the league, and it is certain that the northern crowd can not get that many votes. They may withdraw from the league and become outlaws but the remaining clubs will take over all of the players under contract to those clubs and will control the franchises in those cities, making it impossible for the outlaws to get back into organized baseball.

The magnates in this section of the league circuit have the situation well in hand and are ready for any kind of move attempted by the other side.
