LA TRAPPE CHURCH.

Ancient Edifice Near Philadelphia to be Opened for Visitors.

Norristown, Pa. — The ancient church of La Trappe, which inspires Longfellow to write some beautiful verses, is to be opened on request to any pilgrims who visit the quiet little spot, a few miles from here, where the historic church still stands, a little shabby in its old age but dignified and beautiful still. If you are sufficiently interested in such ecclesiastical landmarks as to take a trolley trip to La Trappe the keys will be found for you and the ancient and rusty lock turned for your admittance.

Within the church you will see the unpainted pews just as they were nailed together by the pioneers. The woodwork is worn smooth by the pressure of successive generations of worshippers on the high backs of the pews, but just as they were constructed in 1743 so they appear to-day.

In one corner a quaint old pulpit of walnut, with the high sounding board of ancient days, is the most ornate feature, while upstairs there is all that remains of the pipe organ that was imported from Europe soon after the congregation settled down in its fine new church. What with the antics of the soldiers during the revolutionary war, when music for ribald barrack room ballads was played on the old instrument, and the attacks of vandals and relic hunters, there is little left of the organ but the frame.

The pews, the records tell us, were occupied by the men on one side and the women on the other, while the apprentices, servants and children were watched over by the sexton in the gallery above.

There is some controversy as to the origin of the name La Trappe. It is generally conceded, however, that it originated from the remark of an early settler who had visited a little tavern in the vicinity and who, on being scolded by his wife, stated that he had fallen into the "trap" on his way home.

A curious inscription in the graveyard adjoining the old church records that one John Favinger was born in 1774 and died in 1721, "aged 47 years and seven days." It isn't recorded that the "trap" was responsible for this, but such may have been the case.

DECLINES DIPLOMATIC POST.

Bacon Does Not Want to Be Ambassador to Germany.

Washington.—The resignation of Charlemagne Tower, of Pennsylvania, as American ambassador at Germany, has been received by President Roosevelt and will be accepted. Announcement was made in Berlin recently that Mr. Tower would retire from the diplomatic service.

The president tendered the ambassadorship to Robert Bacon, of New York, the assistant secretary of state and in doing so indicated in effect that he was so much pleased with Mr. Bacon's administration of his political office that he should greatly regret to have him leave Washington, but he felt that a selfish consideration of that character on the part of the president should not be permitted to stand in the way of offering to Mr. Bacon an opportunity which would be in the nature of an appreciation of his work and at the same time give him a chance for diplomatic achievement.

Mr. Bacon declined the offer, on the ground, it is understood, that he preferred personally to remain in the state department.

ECZEMA NOW CURABLE

All Itching Skin Diseases Which are not Hereditary Instantly Relieved by Oil of Wintergreen.

Can Eczema be cured? Some physicians say "Yes." Some say "No."

The real question is, "What is meant by Eczema?" If you mean those scaly eruptions, those diseases which make their first appearance, not at birth, but years afterward, and perhaps not until middle age—then there can no longer be any question that these forms of Eczema are curable.

Simple vegetable oil of wintergreen, mixed with other vegetable ingredients will kill the germs that infest the skin, and instantly that awful itch is gone. The very moment the liquid is applied, that agonizing, tantalizing itch disappears, and continued applications of this external remedy soon cure the disease.

We carry in stock this oil of wintergreen properly compounded into D. D. D. Prescription. While we are not sure that it will cure all those cases of skin trouble which are inherited, we positively know that this D. D. D. Prescription, whenever rightly used, will cure every last case of genuine Eczema or other skin trouble which did not exist at birth.

We know this. Anyway you yourself will know that D. D. D. Prescription instantly takes away the itch the moment it is applied to the skin. Flocken's Pharmacy, Marion, Ohio. Stop that itch today—Instantly. Just call at our store and try this refreshing and soothing liquid; also ask about D. D. D. Soap.

LYNCHED, YET LIVES

Alabama Negro is Cut Down and Revived by Officers.

Dothan, Ala., Jan. 21.—The negro Grover Franklin, who, last night, was taken away from Sheriff Butler and his deputies and who was swung to a tree, is again in the hands of the law, and stands a chance for recovery. The mob was so closely followed by the officers and law-abiding citizens, determined if possible to avert the lynching that they did not have time to get their victim outside the corporation limits and hurriedly hanged him on the first tree and thinking they had rid themselves with bullets, fled.

On the arrival of the officers the negro was still alive and was immediately cut down and placed in jail.

A. C. Faulk, who was assaulted by the negro Saturday night is resting easily and his wounds are not regarded as serious.

Fifteen deputies are patrolling the jail yard to avert any trouble at the hands of a second mob. Everything is quiet.

CHILDREN STARVED

While Their Parents Fought Each Other for Their Custody.

Omaha, Neb., January 21.—Shockingly emaciated, due to neglect, disease and want of food, Robert, Gertrude and Daniel Revins, young children who came here recently from Sidney, Ohio, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Revins, were today taken into the juvenile court, where Judge Estelle ordered them sent to the County Hospital.

After the family came here recently from Ohio the mother, it is said, took $350 belonging to the father, and, without his consent, went back to Sidney with the children. The father pursued them there, took and returned with them to Omaha. The mother followed, and since the parents have been fighting for possession of the children.

JUROR IS SORRY HE CONVICTED JOHN R. WALSH

Chicago, Jan. 21.—A special dispatch to the Journal from Harvard says that Elbert Palmer, the juror who stood out so long for the acquittal of John R. Walsh, told Attorney C. J. Hendricks, who represents him in an affidavit a conversation held by him with Palmer, that he did not believe that Walsh was technically guilty and that had he known that he could change his verdict when questioned in court by Judge Anderson he would have done so.

Palmer said he rather would have blown out his brains than to have presented a verdict of guilty in court had he known he could change it when the juror was polled.

Palmer is at his farm near Harvard, a physical wreck.

COOL AND BAINTY NECKWEAR.

Pretty Ways of Dressing the Neck Without Discomfort.

The woman who dresses her neck neatly can be forgiven a great many other faults, and there are many ways of doing this without enduring any great discomfort. The linen collar is probably the most practical of all, and in case of them are embroidered in blue, work or white, and with them are worn soft fingerless ties or bows. Get these collars in a comfortable large size and not too high. They are the coolest things you can wear and still look neat. The high gloss of the starch seems to resist the perspiration and feels cool to the skin. Little protection or turndown collars, while they are not particularly new, still find favor now and then, but that means you must wear a silk stock, and with white blouses, this is to be avoided.

Another dainty and cool fashion that has asserted itself is the wearing of soft lawn and mull ties with embroidered or hemstitched ends. These ties are about a yard or a yard and a half long, and should go around the neck twice—by that I mean place the middle of the tie under the chin, carry it around the neck, cross it at the back and tie the bow in front. You can tuck little pieces of whalebone in these ties to keep them upright, and pin them fast to your blouse with a fancy pin.

The young girl and the debutante have things pretty much their own way, as soft rolling collars are almost universally worn by them. These are finished off with a Windsor tie or piece of ribbon to harmonize with the dress they are wearing. High stock collars and four-in-hand stocks are seldom seen any more, which is a blessing, for nothing could have been more heating to the throat than those made of heavy English madras that were worn so much at one time.

The lingerie bow of nainsook, lawn or mull has taken the place of silk bows and these are easily made at home from bits of material and scraps of laces that have been left over. The sheer blouse waist should have a collar of lace insertion attached to it, and tiny pieces of featherbone are sufficient to hold them up. The skeleton collars, made of stiff goods and bones around and up and down, are no longer worn.

REPLICA OF THE SPHINX.

Work of an American Woman Bought for a Chicago Museum.

London.—A remarkable work by an American woman sculptor, who is now resident in Paris, has been bought for presentation to the Field Columbian museum in Chicago by W. N. McMillen, the well-known American traveler and explorer.

The work is a plaster replica of the sphinx, made to scale, and the artist is Mrs. David Garrick Longworth, who was before her marriage Miss Beatrice Willis. Mrs. Longworth was a Chicago girl and received first lessons in sculpture in Chicago's art schools.

Mrs. Longworth's sphinx is ten feet long and three feet high. She spent three years on the work while she and her husband were living in Cairo, where Mr. Longworth was the editor and publisher of The Sphinx, a newspaper devoted to travel and society news. Every detail of the reproduce tion is in exact proportion and Mrs. Longworth has climbed all over the great Egyptian monument making measurements. She is probably the only woman who has ever been on the head of the sphinx.

The statue was exhibited at the Paris salon in 1903.
