

DEATH CALLS MRS. LINCOLN

Silent Messenger Calls This Afternoon.

AN ESTIMABLE LADY

Who will be Mourned by Many Friends.

Mrs. Lincoln Had Been Ill for Almost Six Months—Funeral Services will be Held Thursday.

The death of Mrs. Sylvia Lincoln, wife of D. H. Lincoln, cashier of the City National bank, occurred at the Sawyer Sanatorium shortly before 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Her death resulted after an illness of about six months with cancer and a complication of diseases.

Last Saturday morning Mrs. Lincoln was taken to the hospital, where an operation was performed at 9:15 o'clock. She appeared to rally from the operation and for a time her condition seemed to improve. She suffered a relapse, however, Sunday night and since that time had been lying at the point of death. She had been practically an invalid for over six months and the operation was performed as a desperate chance to restore health.

The deceased had resided in the city about eight years. With her husband and family she came to this city in the fall of 1900, having formerly resided in Mt. Gilead. She was prominent in local social circles and her demise will bring grief to a host of friends.

The deceased was aged about fifty one years. She was the mother of two children, both of whom survive. They are Mrs. William Knapp of New York City, and Mrs. Harry Scherff, of this city. One brother, E. B. Van Atta of New York city, also survives.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home on east Church street, Thursday, the hour has not been definitely determined. Interment will probably take place in the Marion cemetery.

thief, who took the rig and came to this city with it, has not yet been found although a rigid search is being conducted.

Straser and Rail are in partnership at Upper Sandusky. Mr. Rail being in charge of the barn. This morning the thief took the horse from the barn on condition and on the consent of the manager. He was soon found to be a thief, however, and Straser came to this city, where he was supposed to have gone and found the rig and continued his search for the thief. The horse was a steel brown driving horse and was very valuable.

VISITS WITH UNCLE BY

A Fallen Idol.

A Missouri man who owns an archaic fowling piece, the piece de resistance of historic blunderbusses, has removed the gun from over the living-room door, locked it in a cupboard and given his wife the key.

The other night he dreamed the crows were in the corn and awoke straddle of a rail fence in the cornfield, the artillery across his bare knees.

"Far from the maddening crowd's ignoble strife," in the heart of the simple life, his red-shirt was flapping in the breeze, white goose pimples as large as mosquito bites, dotted his bare legs. He had fired the gun while in a somnambulant state—but did not fare even as well as Pat who found the toad under a tree and claimed him as a "moldy foin' bird" before it shot all the fibers out of ye!"

Frills.

Every pump has its sucker—and almost every town pump has two or three!

The nut market was very strong during the recent Chicago-New York ball games.

The man who makes the most of today cheats procrastination of its sting and "lives happily ever afterward."

A South Haven man boasts of a sunflower stalk bearing 91 buds and blossoms. Talk about your sunshine factories!

Even an affinity gets hers occasionally. Artist Earle's did—and the fact that she went back to him after he had beaten her suggests that affinities are just women, after all.

A Woman's Love.

Upon the banks a willow stands,
And where the peary clam-shells gleam,
It bows with weeping tenderness
Above the bosom of the stream,
In springtime when the banks are full,
It reaches down to kiss the tide—
For, in the years and years ago,
The willow was the river's bride!

And when the freshest came that way,
The willow's roots held firm and true
And saved the river from the fate
Of wasting in the lowland slough!
Ah, then the willow tree was fair,
With brown-eyed daddies at her throat—
The gay young river loved her well,
And sang for her his parent note!

But as the years sped on apace,
The banks gave birth to taller trees—
To maples and to elm and ash—
That brought the stream new estates!
And where he sang his song to her,
He veered and left her standing dry—
A faithful helpmeet of his youth,
Lovered on the bank to die!

And as the saw affection fade,
Her heart was broken with its weep,
And howling low her head, she wept
Her sorrow to the undertow!
Ah! Since that day the faithful bride
Has been the "weeping" willow tree—
The cant-off sweetheart of the stream,
Who sings to die a bride!

Ascending Values.

An Italian prince has refused to become the husband of an American girl with but $100,000.

This should be a warning to food fathers to dig in harder. Any father who refuses to make his daughter happy by working longer hours, is not worthy of the name of father—much less the father of a dutchess, a princess or a countess.

The dotting father who believes in honoring his beloved offspring should bear in mind that the tendency of the times is for higher prices. He should not spend so much time over his cold roast beef and beer and more over his ledgers. If he ever expects his daughters to break into the nobility, he must get up a movement that represents "going some." This may put a crimp in his vertebra—but it gets prices!

The Cheapest Fat Reducer is the Best

The attention of all who are half-choked and generally bedeviled by an excess of fat which, by the way always seems more excessively excessive during the sultry season than any other, is called to the Marmola Prescription Tablets.

Seventy-five cents secures enough of these remarkable fat reducers from any druggist to last you a good while, in fact, it buys an extra large case. This is enough to make a very desirable change in almost anyone's weight. Taken one after each meal and at bedtime the loss of as much as a pound of fat a day has been attained innumerable times.

This is a royal result that seems all the more remarkable when one realizes these tablets are cheaper by a half than anything else your druggist has. But the net loss they bring about is not the only good feature of these tablets. They are pleasant to take; don't disturb the stomach; don't require one to exercise a particle or diet a mouthful and last, but not least, do not cause wrinkles. They reduce one quickly, but evenly—naturally. They produce, in short, the identical results of the famous Marmola Prescription, with which they are identical in composition. Try a case. If your druggist is sold out then write the makers, the Marmola Company of Detroit, to send you one by mail.

HIS ENGINE WAS ON THE CENTER

Jacob Berger is Very Painfully Injured.

starts the Flywheel with the Steam Turned on and is Thrown Against House.

Jacob Berger, of Silver street, who is employed as an engineer in the shops of the Marion Manufacturing company, was the victim of an accident while at work Monday afternoon, shortly after 3 o'clock. Berger is confined to his home with two broken ribs and a number of torn ligaments about the limbs. Aside from this he suffers a number of bruises.

At the time of the accident Berger had his engine "on center" so that it would go neither way. Climbing upon the machine, Berger attempted to start the fly wheel, forgetting that he had turned on the steam. Consequently when the fly wheel started, the engine began running violently and Berger was thrown and hurled against the side of the engine house, inflicting the injuries which he received. A number of workmen assisted the injured man and the engine was stopped and Dr. H. J. Lower was summoned to give attention.

Although the injuries of the man are not very serious, he will be confined to his home for some time.

CHICAGO LETTER.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The Chicago School Board this year has an awkward problem for school fraternities and sororities very much on its hands. Such a violent crusade was conducted against them last year that the board decided to abolish them. In spite of the protests of thousands of boys and girls and many parents, the order went into effect. Every pupil this year who has been a member of a secret society, has had to sign a pledge renouncing his membership. The sorority members have already done so, but the majority of the boys have flatly refused and are now defying the board. As the matter stands they will not be allowed to return until they submit, and the question is thus a burning one in thousands of households. Over 300,000 trained and untrained school children fled reluctantly to their places when the public schools opened. The annual opening, which used to be a simple matter has assumed remarkable proportions, and the machinery to be set in motion is complex. Beside the assignment of teachers and pupils and the securing of substitute teachers, there are medical examinations to be made and provision for seating nearly 10,000 pupils in excess of the present school capacity. One hundred medical inspectors have begun a hurried examination of 300,000 throats and 600,000 eyes. The primary object of the inspection is to prevent possible epidemics of contagious diseases, but great attention is paid to eyesight and to "adenoid" growths in the children's throats, which doctors declare are the cause of 80 per cent of the backwardness and lack of attention in pupils, as well as fertile breeders of disease. The preliminary examination will take several days and will be followed later by a thorough one.

The report of the work of the government reclamation service for the past year at the coming session of the National Irrigation Congress will be the most interesting in the history of the service, say engineers at the headquarters office in Chicago, established by Uncle Sam. Figures have been compiled showing the extent of the work to date and the possibilities for future progress along this line. According to C. J. Blanehard, statesman of the government reclamation service, the appropriations of the government now amount to $3,000,000, and as much more will be appropriated when the present projects are completed. All ready 3,189,000 acres have been brought under water through public and private efforts, and 2,270,000 acres additional are now contemplated. This will add $200,000,000, it is estimated, to the taxable wealth of the United States, and will provide homes for 80,000 families. Together with progress in the actual work of reclamation the financing of projects has become easier, owing to growing recognition of the peculiar security of irrigation bonds

WOMAN'S NIGHTMARE

There is no woman who is not full of dread that the thought fills her with apprehension. There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either very painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend prepares the system for the coming event, and it is passed without any danger. This remedy is applied externally, and has carried thousands of women through the crisis with but little suffering.

No woman can be happy without children; it is her nature to love them as much so as it is the beautiful and pure. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass is so full of dread that the thought fills her with apprehension.

that are issued under the Carey act. Unlike most other bonds, the security for these investments increases all through the term, both by the increase in value of the property after the water is on it and by the annual payments made under the Carey act by the people who buy the land. At present the rate of interest on such creating investment demand it will probably be materially reduced in the next few years. Another interesting point in irrigation work is the gradual employment of reclamation methods outside the arid regions, wherever a regular supply of moisture is desired. According to engineers of the service, the time is not far distant when artificial water supply will be received in the heart of the grain belt, in sections where the farmers at present suffer heavy losses through occasional droughts.

When Salome danced before King Herod, as the Bible relates she did, she might have worn more clothes if she had dreamed that twenty centuries later theatrical representations of her dance would have so shocked Chicago that it was seriously proposed to put a man into the Salome role. The Salome dance which a prominent theater has ventured to present, gauzy and less, so stirred the critics that various censoring delegates from the police department were sent to pass judgment upon its moral effect, and finally Chief of Police Shippy went in person. In this crisis the proposal was made to give the Salome role sandals, beads and all, to a man. It was pointed out that nearly every woman who has tried to portray this delicate story, through the interpretation of a dance, has been unable to hold herself within the bounds of propriety, and all over the country, beginning at the Metropolitan Opera House, in New York, and sweeping westward, there has been a wave of opposition to the exhibition of sensual dancers. Should Mrs. Faust be stopped by the police the only Salome in Chicago who still remains unmolested from police interference will be a Harvard graduate in a mistletoe aggregation.

The growing favor of corporation managers for provisions protecting their employes against death, sickness, disability and old age had a notable example in the plan just proposed to the 30,000 employes of the International Harvester Company by the management. If 75 per cent of the employes agree to contribute 2 per cent of the wages of each to a benefit fund, the company will contribute $50,000, or if half of them agree to the plan the company's check will be for $25,000. A novel feature of the plan, and one which is looked upon as liberal, is that not limiting the liability of the company for personal injuries, the right of employes to damages being unimpaired. The responses from all branch houses of the company have not yet been received, and cannot be for several weeks, as they are scattered all over the globe, but the approval of the plan is reported to be certain. Replies at the rate of 1,000 a day having come in at once. In brief, the plan provides that every employe who contributes 2 per cent of his wages to the fund becomes a member of an association and is entitled to all of its benefits. He is insured against death from sickness or accident, and will receive half wages while disabled by sickness or injury. The family of a man who is killed by an accident while on or off duty will receive two year's wages. For the loss of both eyes or the loss of both hands or feet the employe will receive two year's wages. In case of death from illness one year's wages will be paid. The company receives no financial benefit from the new plan, the association being solely for the benefit of the employes, who are allowed to choose one-half of the board of trustees from members representing the various branches and departments. Membership is open to every employe of the company, irrespective of age or physical condition, no medical examination being necessary. In promoting this protection to employes the Industrial Club of Chicago whose members are at the head of some of the largest Western corporations has been very active during the last two years a sign of improving relations between capital and labor.

No sooner had Mayor Buse, red faced and perspiring in September heat issued his famous proclamation on granting straw hats after September 1 of 1908 a 15-day reprieve from banishment than others in more or less authority extended the straw hat season still longer. Finally the Western Golf Association marked the season up to October 7 on the ward of "Colonel Boney" supreme in golf in a proclamation which explains the benefits of sunshine to this atches of hair. Straw hats not only "go" on the golf links until September 15, but until the harvest home dinners mark the windup of the golfing season. In proof of his loyalty to the great army of golfers, Colonel Boney also extended the bare headed period thus: "3 p. m. 1908—Recognizing no higher authority in the golf world and exercising the well-known prerogative of the chief ruler of golfers, I, Colonel Boney F. R. G. A., do vitiate all proclamations issued by mayors of municipal pallies extending the time for wearing straw hats from Sept. 1 up to and including Sept. 15, 1908, and do hereby extend the time to Oct. 7, 1908. The period for playing golf here headed so as to get full advantage of the glorious fall weather and stimulate the growth of young hair upon the pate of our captains of industry and kings of professions, as usual is hereby officially ended in snow time."

Receivership for A. Booth & Co., established 40 years ago, was a financial disaster that struck throughout a very wide area, on sea and land, for the concern had boats on the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico and Atlantic oyster plants on Chesapeake Bay and branch houses in Canada and on the Pacific Coast. It has been called the "fish trust," and although it handled only 5 per cent of the yearly fish catch of the country, its business in fish and seafoods has been so enormous that, conserved under a receivership, the company is likely to become prosperous again. The business was allowed to grow too fast for the capital of the company. Of fish the company is said to have handled over 50,000,000 pounds annually. This figure is interesting in comparison with the total of the New England catch, which is less than 400,000,000 pounds annually. In the Great Lakes the annual catch is about 200,000,000 pounds. A unique item of the company's equipment is the tank cars in which carp caught alive in streams in Illinois and other Western states are shipped to New York for the Kosher markets, where the Jews buy the live fish they demand. The receivership has followed quickly upon the return of W. Vernon Booth from Europe, where he has spent much time—too much time—it is proved. The heads of successful concerns, J. Ogden Armour, for instance, are tremendous workers, at their offices when many of their subordinates are at breakfast.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
