COUNTY LOSES ITS CONTENTION

Goodenow Case is Tested Thoroughly.

OHIO SUPREME COURT RULES

Local Court's Decision is Upheld.

Effort to Tax the Stocks, Bonds and Moneys in Hands of W. H. Schaffner Administrator of the Estate of the Late Josephus Goodenow.

The county officials will not seek the verdict of the United States Supreme court on the question as to whether or not they have a right to collect taxes on the bonds and stocks and cash in the hands of William H. Schaffner, Ohio administrator of the estate of the late Josephus Goodenow. This was made known today by their attorney, John H. Clark, following the decision of the Ohio supreme court yesterday in which it was declared that the state has neither the right to tax the stock and bonds nor the cash, all of which amounted to $238,490.

In deciding the case the supreme court upheld the late Judge Boston G. Young who rendered an opinion which barred the state from collecting any taxes and granted an injunction restraining county auditor C. L. Allen and Treasurer W. C. Worthington from doing the circuit court held that no taxes could be collected on the stocks and bonds but that the cash, amounting to about $20,000 was taxable. Both the plaintiff and the defendant carried the case to the supreme court which overruled the circuit court and sustained Judge Young, and made the injunction perpetual.

Ohio Administrator W. H. Schaffner had sent all of the bonds, stocks and mortgages held by the decedent to the New York administrators but still holds the $20,000 in cash, which he has kept pending the decision. Of this amount, $10,000 is invested in Hocking Valley preferred stock which is to be paid off the later part of this month. The remainder is so invested as to be easily converted into cash. It is thought that as this is a case of an interstate nature there might be a chance of getting into the supreme court of the United States but the plaintiffs decided that they would abide by the decision of the Ohio courts. This is the first case on record of this kind and will doubtless be given a prominent place in the Ohio State law reports.

Charles L. Justice, receiver of the Marion Manufacturing company, Wednesday caused execution to be issued against Caroline Count, Clark Dix, Mary Gullooly, William Hudson, August Kull, J. K. Redd, Herbert McClain, Anna B. Ulsch, James H. Vaughn and Viola Vaughn. The persons mentioned are among those who have thus far failed to pay the judgments taken against them in the suit of Henry Seifer against the Marion Manufacturing company, a proceeding to assess stockholders. In the event that the sheriff is unable to find any property in the possession of the defendants, the receiver will commence proceedings in aid of execution to determine whether or not they have concealed any property.

REPUBLICANS BADLY WORRIED

By United Press Wire.
Washington, April 20.—The political earthquake in Rochester yesterday had an after-effect in a great commotion today in the house of representatives. Jubilation among the Democrats was unbounded. It was the third special election held to fill vacancies in the house and it was the third shock sustained by the Republicans who showed plainly that they were worried by this "harbinger of the fall election" as Bryan called it.
The Rochester defeat is charged by Republicans largely to Aldridge's connection with the scandals in the New York legislature. The Democrats declare that dissatisfaction with the tariff was the great factor.

POLICE BATTER DOWN A DOOR

Mosier Home is Searched for Intoxicants.

PLENTY OF WHISKEY FOUND

All is Promptly Toted to Headquarters.

Officers Disregard Threats to Shoot the First Man Who Enters and are Rewarded With a Big Find. Residences are Being Watched.

Ben Moziers residence on north State street was the scene of a great deal of excitement Tuesday night when the police battered down a door and fell in on a large quantity of liquor. A keg containing over five gallons of whiskey, six one-half pint bottles of corn juice, besides several quart bottles of the same liquid were confiscated.

It was about 9 o'clock when Chief J. W. Klinefelter in company with Patrolmen Hostetter, Stevens and Shrock, called at Mosier's residence. They were armed with a search warrant which was procured by the police chief. The officers rapped gently on the front door and a command "Who is There" came from inside. The officers informed the person that it was the police who wanted to search the house.

"You can't search my house. I will not open the door" remarked Mrs. Mozier.

A rammal was broken from the door and the officers entered. The liquor was found in a small closet beneath a stairway. Big Patrolman Stevens loaded the five gallons of whiskey on his shoulder and carried it to police headquarters. The other officers toted the bottled goods.

When the police were attempting to enter the home, Mrs. Mozier repeatedly threatened to shoot them. "The first man who comes through that door, I will shoot" remarked the excited woman. Chief Klinefelter paid no attention to the threat and pushed through the frail door. Mrs. Mozier had a large revolver laying on the table but she did not make a move to use it.

"We have a search warrant here for you and we intend to serve it," remarked the chief. The woman was surprised and the search carried out as scheduled.

The police believe that they have a good case against Mozier. The evidence against him will be entirely circumstantial. The authorities claim that they can show that Mozier's residence was made practically a public resort as numerous visitors were seen to call at the home. The fact that the whiskey was found in such large quantities is believed to be another good point in making a case for the state.

Mozier claims that the police had no right to search his home. He says that he has a right to keep all the liquor he wants in his private residence, and bitterly resents the actions of the officers last night.

The police say that practically all of the bootlegging in the city is carried on from private residences. They intend to try and break up the practice and the raid last night was the first move in this line.

An affidavit against Mozier will be filed sometime Wednesday.

Robert Marshstetter, drunk and unable to care for himself, was arrested by Patrolmen Shrock and Stevens at 10 o'clock last night. He was napping on north State street when the officers apprehended him.

In mayor's court Wednesday, he arranged to pay a fine of $5 and was released.

Happy, Happy, Use TIZ

A Marvel for Sore Feet, Acts right off

Sore Feet? Never After using TIZ—Good-bye sore feet, aching feet, swollen feet, sweaty feet, smelly feet, tired feet.

Good-bye corns, callouses and bunions and raw spots. You've never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

It acts at once and makes the feet feel remarkably fresh and sore-proof. TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

If you don't find all this true after trying a box of TIZ you can get your money right back.
TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25 cents per box, or it will be sent direct to you if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago Ill.

fluence of whiskey Tuesday afternoon and was pulled in by Patrolman Thompson. He paid a fine of $5 when arraigned in mayor's court Wednesday morning.

Manuel Bowers took several drinks too many Tuesday night and was collared by Patrolmen Shrock and Stevens shortly before 10 o'clock. He was arrested on north Main street.

In mayor's court Wednesday, Bowers pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication and drew a fine of $5.

Richard O'Donnell, the man who was arrested after the fight on north Main street Sunday, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty. Tuesday afternoon, O'Donnell was charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct. He was fined $5 which was paid by a friend.

Elbert Hubbard on Suffering.
Elbert Hubbard, editor of the Philistine, says: "Most of the suffering in this life comes from too much work, or too little." He could have left off that "too little" and he would have left it off had he referred to washday suffering. There has been too much work on washday for the women but now we have Hewitt's Easy Task soap that does the work easily, quickly, cleanly and surely—and does half the work all by itself. It is the cleanest, purest, white laundry soap made and sold at five cents a cake.

MRS. F. T. SMITH PASSES AWAY

Estimable Lady is a Victim of the Dread White Plague.

Mrs. Emily Smith wife of Francis T. Smith died at her home on east Church street, Wednesday morning shortly before 10 o'clock. Death resulted after an illness of several years with tuberculosis. She had been confined to her bed for a period of six weeks.

The deceased was aged forty-one years, nine days. She had been a resident of the city nearly all of her life and leaves many local friends to grieve. Aside from the husband, three small children survive.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

PERSONALS

Dr. H. M. Neece, of Marion is in Columbus today on professional business.

OBITUARY.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Walter M. Hynes were held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, in the home on West Arch street. They were conducted by the Rev. S. A. Stewart of the Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. Loren M. Edwards of the M. E. church.

Mrs. Haynes before marriage was Miss Elizabeth A. Moore of Marion, Ohio, and was born March 20, 1856.

Her life until her marriage was spent in Marion, Ohio, with the exception of about one year spent in Liber college to which she had been drawn by the fame and acquaintance of the president of that institution. Here she met Walter M. Hynes, to whom she was married October 10, 1877, who survives her with one daughter, Mrs. Eugene Starbuck, of Kokomo, Indiana and by one sister, Mrs. J. W. Schrote, of Marion, Ohio and her aged parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Moore, also of Marion.

Coming as a bride to the new home on the corner of Arch and Pleasant streets, her entire married life was spent there. The present home was of her planning and its splendid interior shows forth her wisdom in arranging details. Her home was her joy and her home life in which she had her place was in many ways ideal.

As a neighbor she was loved by all. None knew her but to love her, none loved her but to praise, and in her kind sympathetic manner, she knew the right thing to do or say at the right time. The fires of her religious life burned brightly. Uniting with the M. E. church in Marion at an early age, throughout her entire life, she was a most exemplary christian. Her faith was clear and expressed itself in her daily life. Her bible was not only on her table but it was daily read and never in her life did she neglect her daily devotions. Her's was a pure sweet life, a life which was a positive force for good as all who knew her realized, and her being called home is not only a loss to her immediate family but to the entire community.
