—Diphtheria is again among us and several children have become its victims—four out of one neighborhood, beside others in other localities. Its prevalence is not confined to this town. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Pinney of Jefferson lost a son last week.

—The Ashtabula Garfield Cavalry company now has nearly fifty members and has made two street parades this week. The following officers have been temporarily appointed: Captain, George C. Mygatt; First Lieutenant, Frank E. Watrous; Second Lieutenant, James Reed, Jr.

—W. H. Linton has a half breed Laneshire sow which gave birth to an even score of living pigs the other day, sired by Michael Stevens' full-blood Laneshire boar. Such a litter is of very unusual occurrence. Mr. Stevens has a pair of Victoria sows now which he is breeding from.

—A very handsome India ink likeness of General Garfield and his Mentor Lincoln, is being laid before our citizens, for their approval and purchase, by Mrs. H. W. Forbes. It is a very faithful, and most attractive picture, and hardly a Democrat would hesitate to possess it at a cost of 50 cents.

—Enterprise and good stock mark the course of our friend Fred Wilcox of Rock Creek. Besides his Clydesdale propagator, he has just secured an imported Holstein bull. He is said to be a beauty, and weighs 1,400 pounds. This is new stock for this region, but it is generally popular where known.

—The Ashtabula & Pittsburgh Railway, has, for one or two, a road-bed that is equalled by few roads in the country. It is blasted with broken slag, and the road is smooth, free from dust and as firm as a mountain. Great credit is due to Mr. W. H. Linton the company's road master, for the fine condition of this road.

—The new firm of Hubbard & Strader have extended their business by adding corn, oats and mill feed to their stock which they are prepared to furnish at wholesale or retail. Their baled hay and straw are put up in small, firm bundles weighing little over one hundred pounds and are free from dust and weeds.

—The Warren Tribune has a rebel flag—prepared to give effect to its account of the Hancock celebration at Hot Springs, Ark.—which it generously offers to lend to any Democratic friends who may wish to give credit to any of their gatherings about home. We name this for the benefit and accommodation of Hancock friends.

—The night of the Democratic speech was made vocal—as one of our neighbors inform us—with drunken howlings and disturbances. Then the sidewalks were made filthy by the insurrection of sundry abused stomachs. Our informants say that relief was found in one instance, at least, by the throwing off of a bolus—a sausage some ten or twelve inches long.

—A man whose name was Thomas Connor, and supposed to be a sailor and a resident of Toledo, was found early last Tuesday morning at the Lake street crossing of the L. S. & M. R. Ry., with both legs cut off. He was taken to the depot and afterwards removed to the Union House where he soon died. It is supposed he attempted to jump the midnight train and fell under the wheels. He was about 35 years of age. The remains were cared for by the Township Trustees.

—The Council has procured from Mr. Carson Crane of New York, a deed conveying to the Village the water privilege of the Spring on Mill Hill, and the right to ditch across that property. This land was formerly owned by Mr. Crane who reserved these privileges when he sold to Mr. Seth Wells, has kindly turned them over to the village for a nominal sum, and Mr. Wells has, by direction of the Council, been notified to return the water to its original channel. The Council is now prepared to give the public the benefit of this spring water and it proposes to do so.

—The meeting so hastily called for Wednesday evening for Messrs. Lawrence and Sypher, on account of indisposition was sustained by Judge Lawrence, who showed himself equal to the task. His speech combined more clear, concentrated, searching telling points, than anything that has gone before it in this campaign. The absorbing interest and attention in the arguments put the house either in a rousing enthusiasm, or a breathless silence. Dr. Fricker, the representative Democrat, chafed under the arraignment of his party, and asked for privilege to put an entangling question. It was kindly granted and civilly answered. The speaker then took the liberty, in turn, to put a question to the interrogator. But the doctor failed to answer, and after bearing a few jibes, dodged his tormenter in a perfect storm of applause. The meeting was one of the best.

NOVELTY.—A novel affair in the form of an elegant cap, 50 feet long, 11 feet wide and 15 feet high, filled with the products of Minnesota, Dakota, Montana and Washington, was drawn up to the L. S. station on exhibition, on Monday evening, and remained over until Tuesday at 11 a. m. Nothing could be more aptly arranged than the numerous commodities on exhibition. Nearly 1,000 little sheaves of wheat, oats, barley, rye, &c., were grouped in beautiful and graceful designs and effect over the whole surface of the ceiling. Grasses—23 varieties—and grains showing the length of stalks covered the sides, and grain in berry filled a pyramid of glass jars, with numerous and monstrous vegetables, filled the corners and the floor along the sides. Woods in all their variety of fiber and grain, were compactly placed, with minerals from Montana and the Black Hills of Dakota. Curiosities, also, petrifications and stereoscopic views of the Yellow Stone region made up the complement. This novel fair goes through the East to St. Albans, Vt., to Montreal.

FIRE IN SAYBROOK.

On Thursday, Sept. 23d, while Mr. Geo. Seaman and wife of Saybrook, were at the County Fair, his corn barn took fire, probably from a passing train, it being near the track, and burned up, together with the contents, consisting of wheat, corn, corn sheller and carpenter's tool. Mrs. Forbes, a neighbor, discovered the fire and gave the alarm, but too late to save the building. The dwelling house was in danger, being close to the corn barn, and the neighbors who had gathered in the main time worked with desperate energy to save the house. To each and all of them Mr. and Seaman tender warm thanks. The loss on barn and contents, amounting to something like $200, is a dead loss, there being no insurance.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

There was a special meeting of the Council on last week Thursday evening; all members were present except Messrs. Call and Hancock. A resolution was duly adopted providing for the collection of delinquent sidewalk bills.

The Clerk was directed to notify Mr. Seth Wells to return the spring water on Mill Hill to its proper channel, as the Village now has a deed of the water privilege and right to ditch through the adjoining property.

The Clerk was directed to draw an order for $3 in favor of Carson Crane, in payment of the above named water privilege.

The Marshal was directed to see that the lumber on the north side of Sherman street is promptly removed.

PITTSBURGH EXPOSITION.

The excursion to the Pittsburgh Exposition over the Ashtabula & Pittsburgh Ry. on Tuesday last was a most enjoyable occasion. The train entered Allegheny about 11 o'clock, and was composed of seven cars well filled with excursionists and drawn by locomotive No. 326, Alex Galloway engineer, the same that drew the Grant special so rapidly from Warren to Ashtabula. The excursionists enjoyed themselves visiting the great Pittsburgh Exposition and other places of interest in and about Pittsburgh and Allegheny and started on the return trip at 10:30 p. m. reaching Ashtabula about 8:30 a. m. The Exposition closes tomorrow.

ATTENTION CAVALRY.

The Plymouth and Kingsville companies are expected to join the parade.

COMMANDANT.

SAD ACCIDENT.

H. C. Frazier, a young man employed at Hubbert & Paige's Foundry, met with a terrible accident on Saturday forenoon, of last week. He was running a planing machine and had stepped up to the window at one end of the barn and was looking out, and while in this position was caught between the planing bar and the wall, and terribly crushed, the bar catching him just above the hips. Painesville Telegraph.

Mr. E. H. Frazier of Ashtabula, his brother, received a telegram last Wednesday evening from Painesville stating the injured man was likely to die at any moment. He took the first train for Painesville.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

On Friday morning an accident occurred at the farm of J. J. Wilcox, near North Center, which came near resulting in the death of our well-known citizen, M. B. Heath, who was engaged at the time in baling hay at the barn. It appears that Mr. Heath after going to the engine, which was in the yard, and looking to the fire, returned to the barn and succeeded to oil the press, it being then in motion. Putting his left arm in where he desired to put the oil, the cog caught in the sleeve of his blouse and drew his arm in, further and further with each revolution, the cog grinding the flesh from his arm at a point just above the elbow at every turn. As his arm was drawn in his head was brought in contact with the balance wheel of the press, which struck his head as it revolved till the skull was laid bare. All this was the work of but a few moments. George Heath, a son, shut off the steam and side by Austin Shaw, one of the hands, shoved off the belt from the balance wheel of the press, and Mr. Heath was released. The flesh was not only ground from his arm nearly to the bone, but an artery was also severed, and he was in immediate danger of bleeding to death. Mr. Wilcox, with rev. presence of mind, put a strap around the arm above the wound, twisted it tightly and thus stayed the flow of blood. A physician was called in haste, who put the wounded man in the best slings possible, and he was removed to his home. A young man by the name of William Babcock was on the hay mow when Mr. Heath was first caught in the cog, and jumped down to render assistance. He staggered against the balance wheel as he struck, and was thrown several feet by the motion of the wheel, and suffered an ugly scalp wound. He was knocked insensible and lay in such a condition for more than one hour. The young man is about again and will be all right after due time. Mr. Heath was yesterday as comfortable as could be expected, and though terribly injured will, it is thought, recover.

Painesville Telegraph.

Mr. George B. Paine, formerly of this place, who has been with Higginson & Co. Cleveland, since Aug. 1st, 1878, has recently established himself in business in Ashtabula, with Siles Dodge, of New Lyme, in that county. The firm, Dodge & Paine, have purchased the stock of the late George C. Hubbard & Co., and have leased the old stand, 130 Main street, occupied by that firm for nearly half a century. We congratulate the people of Ashtabula on the acquisition of Mr. Paine to their business and social community. They will find him a very social gentleman, a prompt business man, and in all respects a valuable acquisition to their growing city.

COUNTY NEWS.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.

SAYBROOK.

Rev. G. J. Bliss has been returned here by Conference and will also supply North Geneva every Sunday P. M.

Miss Angeline Branch is visiting friends in Licking County, Ohio.

The annual meeting of the Ashtabula Co. U. T. Union will be held at Saybrook on Tuesday, Nov. 16th.

The second quarterly meeting for the current year of the W. C. T. Union of Ashtabula Co. will be held at Saybrook on Wednesday, Nov. 17th. The arrangement of the meetings by the Presidents of the two societies had two objects in view: the holding of both meetings during the full moon, to insure a good attendance at the evening sessions, and also to accommodate friends from adjoining towns giving them a chance to attend both by staying over from the first meeting. Due notice will be given by the proper officers of the two societies.

We look for good delegations from Ashtabula and Geneva at those meetings.

A good many Garfield and Hancock poles have been raised in this township by young Americans, and political matters have reached fever heat among the children of a larger growth, and the indications are that a full vote will be polled the 12th.

ORWELL.

A trip to Orwell on Saturday last brought us into the society of the editor of the Standard and Hon. J. B. Burrows, of Painesville. Both these gentlemen being bound for the same place with us Mr. Howell was on business connected with the lay out of campaign work, while Mr. Burrows was billed for a speech at Orwell in the evening. There was a tacit agreement to make Stone's Hotel headquarters. The leading Republicans of the town called and paid their respects to the speaker of the evening. Landlord Stone was in his best mood and made his distinguished guests as comfortable as possible.

While dinner was being made ready we took a turn about town, and found the chief attraction—after taking due thought for the evening speech—seemed to be the new town hall, the walls of which were about being made ready for the roof, under contract with Brake & McMillan of Ashtabula. These gentlemen had taken the contract for the completion of both masonry and wood work. The woodwork had been relet to Mr. E. Paine of Orwell. General satisfaction of the walls was expressed. The roof would be in place the present week, and Mr. Paine expects to push along the work to have no delay about the plastering, in the hope of finishing the building by the first of December. The hall causes no disappointment to the just pride of the citizens.

Landlord Stone has planted a set of hay scales in front of his house and put up a new sign of commendable taste, and giving good effect to the surroundings.

Derog's tact and enterprise is seen in the trade which he has built up and retains. His business qualities are of more than a common range. The only competition that Mr. Devoe has is that of Myers & Pinsky, who seem to be enjoying their full share of trade.

Mr. H. W. Stone has a very pleasant and neat establishment for the accommodation of his drug business and the post office. His attention and competency in these departments is well rewarded, and Ward is the favorite of the community, and never haggles at extending to all the utmost accommodation.

We are indebted to Mr. Olds of the hack line for attention. He keeps a good team and seems to have a very adequate idea of the importance of editors and stump speakers. His heart always beats on the right side.

Several new houses are either going up or just finished, giving evidence of growth. Among the manufacturers of Orwell we noticed that the freight house was stowed with axe helves, of the best make, direct from a wide extent of country—mainly to Michigan, where the supplies of suitable lumber must be much more numerous than here.

Orwell has a good class of citizens, a good soil, and shows unmistakable signs of progress.

KINGSVILLE.

If, after reading R's letter in the last week's issue of the News, any one can tell to what political party he belongs, that one must receive credit for having a better insight into human nature, than usually falls to the common lot of man.

During the war of the rebellion Keerved with distinction on the republican side of the fence; but when he makes such statements as those alluded to, we must take issue with him. He says that "republicans will not spend a cent for democratic papers." Now that is a misstatement. For every democrat he will find in this town who takes a republican paper, we will find two republicans who take democratic papers; not counting the News which is here considered democratic. After stating that he proposes to add two subscribers to the News, for every one that stops it on account of its politics, and after telling about republicans being fed on "parian pap," and other things in the same strain, he goes on to praise the speech of Gen. Groot, Esq., of Cleveland. Now, how any one can praise that speech, and still uphold the party that is committing the outrages that are enumerated in that speech, is more than the average republican of this town can comprehend. Friend K, you can write over two masters.

WINDSOR.

Means, Editors.—Refreshing rains have come at length, and wheat begins to take on a living green and to give early promise for the future harvest.

Jacob Bash the champion stone breaker, made a break at Stewart's quarry the other day. The dimensions of the stone, were 135 feet in length, 10 feet wide and 20 inches thick.

Our Diabolus thinks that a big one—i. e. a big stone—54.

This quarry is a place of curiosity—so many men at work—and the ponderous engine running two derricks which lift the heavy stones from their beds and place them upon the wagons, or piling them up for future use. The top sheet, or layer, so far as has been stripped, is as smooth as if it had been scoured off and rubbed down. Straight parallel lines run through it in a north and south course. The lines of some process of this description are plain. The quarry is a place of business, and Stewartville is bound to be a place of some consequence. Stewart himself is a power, as he puts his shoulder to the wheel, and he never fails to fetch them.

Alonso (Olin) is quite sick, and under the care of Dr. Pomroy. He has seen sorrow and affliction and is entitled to the sympathy and the sweet charities of life.

AUSTINBURG.

Rev. Geo. Thompson, an early student of G. R. L., gave one of his lectures on Africa, here a few days ago. His name is familiar to many. His lectures are interesting to old and young, as you no doubt found at Ashtabula. I was a child when he was here some 20 years ago, but have a keen recollection of the reality which he gave everything pertaining to life in that dark land.

Eds. Tel.—Our citizens were treated with some rich truths from the eloquent lips of our friends, Lampton and Burrows, Saturday evening last. Their arguments were presented to the people in such manner as made a lasting impression. Our township will respond to the call, and vote for the standard-bearer of the noble Republican party.

Robt. Crane, of Geneva, is expected to address the Garfield and Arthur Club on Saturday evening of this week.

Prof. Hamilton of Windsor passed through here yesterday, on his return from his summer campaign. Our old veteran showman, M. M. Hilliard, is expected the 10th of this month. Will winter in Orwell.

The town hall is looming up, and the execution of the brick work under the management of Messrs. Brake & McMillan called that they are workmen, and competent to do all work in that line. The people of Orwell have reasons to be proud of such a structure.

Our friend Dr. F. F. Little has taken a partner in his business, this time a wife, business to him, and, by the way, we are willing to say that he cannot be excelled as an operator in his line. He now has full apparatus for administering vitalized air, and you can rest in peace while he is quietly removing those old, troublesome teeth. Call and see him—office over post office.

It is but a simple statement of a fact when I say that Dr. E. K. Thompson's Sweet Worm Powder has saved, humanly speaking, several lives, one of which was that of a valuable native freasher.
