

THRILLING

Experience With Robbers Had Mr. W. S. Steinhoff

A Brother Of Mr. Chas. A Steinhoff Of The City

Girl Prevents A Double Hold Up In The Store

Of Her Father Which Is Located In Columbus

Bullet Crippled The Young Lady's Eyebrow

The Columbus Dispatch on Sunday contains an account of W. S. Steinhoff and daughter, Miss Juanita's thrilling experience with a robber at their drug store in Columbus. Mr. Steinhoff is a brother of Mr. C. A. Steinhoff, the well known pharmacist employed at the Thomas Taugher drug store, this city.

The account from the Dispatch follows:

The chance entrance of a customer for his evening paper saved the owner of the Steinhoff drug store, Third and Pennsylvania avenues, from one of the boldest holdups of the winter. Incidentally, Miss Juanita Steinhoff, daughter of W. S. Steinhoff who owns the store, narrowly escaped being shot and saved the day by emitting a piercing scream.

It was shortly after five o'clock Saturday evening that two men, one about six feet tall with a sandy mustache and wearing a cap, the other much shorter, wearing a soft hat, and both without overcoats, entered the Steinhoff store, and standing near the door surveyed the establishment.

Before Mr. Steinhoff had an opportunity to ask them what was wanted, Emmet Hedrick of Michigan avenue, stepped off the Pennsylvania avenue car at Third avenue and entering the store, bought his evening paper. He had to push between the two men to reach the newspaper counter, and the two men walked back to the rear of the room as if in search for the telephone.

As Mr. Steinhoff walked to the rear of the store to secure change for Mr. Hedrick, the shorter of the two men grappled with him, jerked a gun and attempted to snatch his watch from his pocket. The taller man twisted a blue handkerchief over the lower portion of his face, pushed a revolver in the face of Mr. Hedrick and demanded his money.

Mr. Hedrick regarded the affair at the start as a joke. He attempted to push the revolver aside and told the man to stop his foolishness.

He was about to produce his pocketbook, however, when Miss Juanita Steinhoff, the daughter of the drug store owner, attracted by the noise of the scramble in the room, which adjoins the kitchen of the Steinhoff residence, appeared in the doorway and, approaching the man grappling with her father, ordered him to stop.

Without hesitating a second, this man raised his revolver, and, although within a few feet of the young lady, pulled the trigger. The bullet whizzed past her ear and imbedded itself in the wall. Powder from the pistol of the highway-man's revolver slightly burned the young woman's face.

Miss Steinhoff screamed and frightened by the fear of the result of this and the revolver shot, the two men made a stumbling but hurried exit and ran south on Pennsylvania avenue. Mr. Steinhoff's watch chain was jerked from him in the struggle and it was thought that this was the only prize of the daring robbers, but later this was found near the drug store door, where it had evidently fallen when the robbers ran away.

Miss Steinhoff was very much elated with her part in the holdup, yet her close call almost caused hysterics. "If I hadn't been game enough to come in they would have gotten away with it," she said. The robbers evidently planned to find Mr. Steinhoff alone, but the chance entrance of Mr. Hedrick, the tussle, and the subsequent appearance of Miss Steinhoff spoiled the plan. The police, with a good description of the men were searching for them late Saturday night.

KENYON

Defeated By Wesleyan By A Big Score

Delaware, O. Jan. 17.—Neither Ohio Wesleyan nor Kenyon played brilliantly Saturday afternoon in the basketball game, won by Ohio Wesleyan, 41 to 18. The Methodist college's visitors, both in team work and basket-shooting, but when this is said, it must be added that the best feature of the game was the promise shown for the Wesleyan team.

The team work was erratic in spots, and it was largely the brilliant individual work of Stauffer Cope that piled up the score. Both men threw a number of difficult baskets, and at one time in the second half Stauffer did a sensational Marathon race, circling three sides of the field, but missing the basket at the end.

Wesleyan should have doubled the number of baskets thrown considering the chances given, and in this line did rather poor work. Cardillo, who threw the fouls for Kenyon, missed all six entries in the first half, but did better in the second, throwing four out of six. Thirteen personal fouls were called on Wesleyan and six on Kenyon.

Danals of the Wesleyan team did not get into the game at all on account of an infected blister on his foot.

ADJUSTED

Was The Squabble In The Harry Blake Case

On Monday And Prisoner Is Taken To Indiana

By Sheriff Moss Monday Afternoon

Hayner Is Given A Fine Of $300 And Costs

Other Items Of Interest From Court House

After battling before the governor of Ohio and in two courts in Knox county to prevent an officer taking Harry Blake, colored, back to Indiana to answer to a charge of petit larceny, the matter was adjusted out of court Monday morning and Sheriff Moss who has been in the city several days awaiting to secure the prisoner, left for Indiana Monday afternoon with the young man in custody.

Saturday afternoon the question of issuing extradition papers was submitted to Judge Seward in the court of common pleas, but a writ of habeas corpus was secured by the attorney for Blake in the common pleas court and the proceedings were tied up for Saturday. Judge Seward announced that he would hear the habeas corpus proceedings in Newark Monday afternoon at one o'clock.

However, Sunday, Sheriff Moss made a proposition to L. C. Stillwell, attorney for the boy, and informed him what the court of Union county, Indiana, would be willing to do in the matter. Mr. Stillwell considered the settlement of the matter a just one and after calling up the court in Indiana over the telephone Monday and receiving a substantiation from the court of the facts as presented by the sheriff and securing the consent of Blake's parents, Mr. Stillwell decided to let the sheriff take young Blake back to Indiana. An agreement was made by Attorney Stillwell over the telephone with the judge in Union county, Indiana, whereby young Blake was to receive the minimum fine for petit larceny and a recommendation for a pardon.

Sues For Damages:—
Nettie Hosack, by her attorneys, Lewis B. Houck and J. W. Galbraith has begun suit in common pleas court against Howard Ruhl for $3,000 damages.

The plaintiff alleges that on Jan. 3, 1910, the defendant falsely and maliciously and without reasonable cause, charged plaintiff before David Gano, justice of Perry township, with having committed the offense of larceny and procured the justice to issue a warrant for the arrest of plaintiff and thereupon plaintiff was arrested under the warrant and imprisoned for eight hours. The defendant procured the justice to issue the warrant for the purpose of a search for a sweater of plaintiff's defendant to have been stolen by the plaintiff and thereupon a search of plaintiff's residence was made and the sweater coat was not found. On Jan. 8, 1910, the case was dismissed, and the plaintiff acquitted of the offense and the prosecution is ended. Wherefore the plaintiff has been greatly injured in her credit and reputation to her damage in the sum of $3,000 for which she asks judgment.—Mansfield News.

Hayner Is Fined:—
W. M. Hayner, charged with soliciting orders for liquor through the mail in violation of law, appeared before Judge Seward Saturday afternoon to receive sentence. He was accompanied by his attorney, Judge J. B. Wright. The court fined Mr. Hayner $300 and costs and ordered him committed to the workhouse until the fine and costs are paid, but suspended the sentence for 20 days during which time the defendant in will file a petition in error in the circuit court. Mr. Hayner, the defendant in this case, is a well known distiller of Dayton.
