

FRENCH SHIP HITS ROCK; 156 DEAD.

General Chanzy Lost In Mediterranean.

ONLY ONE LIFE SAVED

Steamer Sinks Before Boats Could Be Lowered.

TWO AMERICANS ON BOARD

Port at Marseilles Is Crowded With Frantic Relatives of Passengers on Ill-Fated Vessel.

Paris, Feb. 12.—Of the 157 souls aboard the steamer General Chanzy of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, when she went down opposite Palma, island of Majorca, in the Mediterranean, only one was rescued.

The General Chanzy left Marseilles on Feb. 9, bound for Algiers. It seems that she was overtaken by a strong gale and dense fog. She tried to reach a refuge through the channel between the islands of Majorca and Minorca, when she struck a rock near Ciudadela, Minorca, a notoriously dangerous place, where the Ville de Rome was wrecked three years ago. The bottom of the General Chanzy was apparently ripped out, for she filled and sank in a few seconds. She foundered so quickly that there was no possibility of launching the small boats.

The steamer had 157 souls aboard, of whom about 80 passengers were drowned. The name of the sole survivor is given as Maurel, who is said to be a customs officer, but his name does not appear on the official list. It is stated that those drowned were nearly all French and Italian, many of them belonging to Marseilles. They included military officers and other soldiers, the members of a theatrical company, customs officers, priests, clerks employed by the Lyons railroad, and many children.

In the passenger list furnished at the Transatlantic company's office there appear the names of Green and Stukely, who were probably English.

According to a brief telegram from Palma, Maurel is in the hospital at Ciudadela, too ill to give any details of the disaster.

Saw Wreck in Vision.

A girl, whose brother was on the lost steamer, went to the quay at Marseilles about the time of the wreck in a state of great excitement, and shouted time and again: "There has been a disaster; I had a vision of it."

The victims include Francis DePor, a popular Parisian vaudeville performer, and Derenda and Green, who are said to have been Americans, who had been performing at the Alcazar, Marseilles. A dispatch from Marseilles says the Cannegiari, the hotelier which leads to the old port, is crowded with a desperate, excited multitude, among whom are many relatives of those drowned. Terrible scenes of grief can be seen everywhere.

Captain Gayel, commander of the General Chanzy, was one of the most experienced officers in the employ of the General Transatlantic company. He had received the decoration of the Legion of Honor. He was sometimes twitted for his extreme caution.

Well Known in Vaudeville.

New York, Feb. 12.—Leon Derenda was an American club juggler, well known among vaudeville people. He was formerly associated with Thomas Breen, another American juggler, under the name of Derenda and Breen. His home was in Portland, Ore. He leaves an aged mother and a sister.

LIFT VEIL AT "BLEAK HOUSE"

Grand Jury to Learn Secrets of Swops Household.

INVESTIGATION DECIDES TODAY

Statement From Nurse Houlehan Throws Light on Events That Transpired During Last Illness of Chrisman Swops—Goes Into Convulsions After Taking Capsule and Dies Following Day—Weird Story Expected to Be Told.

Kansas City, Feb. 12.—The "Bleak House" of independence, as the Swops home is known, is about to give up its full secret. The grand jury met today and the members will hear the whole story. The shielding curtain, which was rolled back for a moment, in the coroner's inquest which laid bare in a passing glance the details of the death of Colonel Swops, is to be torn aside and the recital of veiled accusation in the death of Chrisman Swops and in the typhoid epidemic is to be heard by the 12 men summoned by Judge Latschaw.

A score of witnesses have been subpoenaed and weird will be the stories related behind the closed doors of the grand jury room. The investigation is to start with the peculiar circumstance and go through the weeks of suspicion and dread to the verdict of the coroner's jury Wednesday.

It was asserted that the grand jury was summoned more to investigate the circumstances surrounding Swops's death than to probe further into the manner of the death of his uncle. And again it will be a nurse who will give the important testimony.

Nurse Makes Affidavit.

In the hands of the Swops attorneys is the sworn statement of this nurse, Miss Houlehan. This statement is as dramatic as the story related by Miss Pearl Kellar, the witness stand. It tells of her being summoned to the Swops home to care for Chrisman Swops, who was stricken with typhoid. The nurse describes minutely the symptoms, those of the ordinary typhoid patient, the high fever, the irregular pulse, and then it tells of the convulsions in which Chrisman Swops died.

It was about 3:30 Sunday afternoon, the nurse states in her affidavit, that she was told Chrisman had been given a capsule. Thirty minutes later followed the convulsions, almost identically the same as those in which Colonel Swops died. The nurse tells of the injection of a grain of strychnine and later of the use of a nitro-glycerin injection. This was Sunday afternoon. The next day Chrisman died.

In Chicago the chemical analysis on the viscera of Chrisman Swops still is in progress. A report has not been made upon it and will not be ready for several days.

ALDRICH TAKES A HAND

Root Prepares Amendment That May Kill Postal Bank Bill.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Passage of the postal savings bank bill at the present session of congress is believed to be imperiled by an amendment drafted by Senator Root of New York. It provides, in effect, that the deposits of the postal savings bank, instead of being re-deposited by the government in local banks nearest the postoffices in which the savings are accumulated, shall be invested in government bonds.

This agreement is relied on by the Aldrich forces in the senate, it is understood, to accomplish one of two things, either of which will be satisfactory to Senator Aldrich. Either it will result in the defeat of the bill or it will fit into the Aldrich plans for the creation of a central bank.

VISIT GOLD AND SILVER PLANTS

Find Apples, Oranges and Eggs in Abundance, But No Meat or Eggs, Learn That System 72ds at Least $1 to Cost of Each Barrel Stored During Season—Creeper Uncertain In Elson's Innocent Looking Telephone Measure.

Columbus, O., Feb. 12.—The food probe committee that is to investigate the high cost of living in Ohio, after a delay of several weeks, has settled down to work, and the first day's experience has demonstrated to the members that they have a formidable job before them.

In a tour of the Columbus markets today the probers learned that the city makes an annual profit of $13,000 from rentals of stalls, the total receipts aggregating $27,000. Scores of other market dealers pay merchants, in front of whose places they have stands, three or four times as much for space as the city charges.

The committee inspected the storage plant of the Crystal Ice and Cold Storage company and found thousands of barrels of apples and crates of onions and celery, but no meat or eggs. According to Manager Kennard the goods stored belong to Columbus commission men, who pay an average of 32 1/2 cents a barrel for the season.

REPRESENTATIVE BENSE. Wants to Divorce County Elections From Evil of State Politics.

beginning early in September and ending in May or June. This charge, added to the freight and cost of handling added at least $1 to the cost of each barrel of apples to the consumer.

Storage Men Talk.

The storage firms in Columbus claim that they have not stored eggs or meat for a period of years in any quantity, and stated that the commission men and others depending on storage eggs usually bought them from the storage houses in the smaller cities. There are storage plants in Newark, Zanesville, Circleville, Chillicothe and London that are said to store eggs, and the committee intends taking up these cases immediately.

"Our initial trip has been marked with little or nothing of interest," said Chairman Williams of the committee, "but we intend visiting every storage plant in the state of Ohio that we think is holding too much goods. We know that eggs are being stored in large quantities in some of the smaller cities near here and we will visit those places as quickly as we can. There will be no stone unturned to bring about some means of forcing the owners of this fruit and foodstuffs to put it on the market. Of course the apple proposition is not such as to demand a great deal of consideration. If people want apples this time of year they must be stored, and are usually considered a delicacy. What we want to see taken from the storage is eggs, meat, celery, butter, cabbage and vegetables of all kinds."

Alleged Sleeper Found.

Discovery that an innocent looking 17-line bill introduced by Representative Elson of Tuscarawas, "by request," in reality would not only permit mergers of the two big telephone interests in Ohio, but would chloroform the Valentine anti-trust law, so far as its provisions apply to such cases, probably has defeated the bill. Representative Calvey of Cleveland, a member of the committee on railroads and telegraphs, in whose hands the bill is reposing, said that he felt sure the bill would be killed in committee.

Apparently the bill is to provide for exchange of service in the interest of accommodating the public. But it provides that when lines and equipment have been connected that they shall be "owned, operated and maintained as agreed upon by the directors of the respective companies." It then authorizes the consolidation of the companies and wipes out "all conflicting laws."

This is believed fully to sanction

Washington, Feb. 12.—Bishop J. C. Hartzell, Methodist representative in Africa, called at the White House to pay his respects to President Taft, and on leaving the president's sanctuaries had a few words to say on the Fairbanks incident in Rome.

"For the pope to refuse all who are received by him," said the bishop, "to refuse to speak to any Protestant organization in Rome, even if he is an active member of such an organization, means a worldwide challenge to Protestantism which will be accepted. It will hasten the day when all Protestant governments will require that Greek and Roman Catholic governments shall extend the same religious liberty to Protestants under their flags which Greek and Roman Catholic churches enjoy under Protestant flags."

Prosecutor Says He Is on Trail of Stolen Millions.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 12.—Indictments were returned by the Hamilton county grand jury against two prominent contractors, as the initial step in an inquiry which involves millions of dollars and includes in its scope city contracts for the last eight years.

T. F. McClue and J. A. Eberhardt, the indicted men, are charged with entering into a conspiracy in restraint of trade in connection with the obtaining of recent paving contracts. Prosecutor Hunt asserts he has in his possession evidence showing that three firms have been in a combination for several years to destroy competition in the bidding for city contracts.

A number of business men, city officials and others have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury and it is understood that many further indictments will be returned before the inquiry is concluded. Hunt refuses to discuss the subpoenas. "There is something big doing, but I am not yet ready to give it out," he says.
