MUST KEEP FAITH

When the voters of Ohio gave the Democratic party a political victory last week they placed in the hands of the party great responsibilities, and if those elected to office properly discharge the duties that will come to them, the party will enter the presidential campaign two years hence with a strong probability of success, at least so far as Ohio is concerned.

For the coming two years the Democratic party will be on probation, as it were. If greater and more important duties are to come to the party in the nation, absolute faith must be kept with the people, and it must be shown, on all occasions, that the party is worthy of the trust imposed.

Among the first important duties in Ohio will be the election of a United States senator. Already several persons have been "mentioned." Within a few days the actual candidates for the high office will be known and full opportunity will be afforded to discuss their merits.

There are plenty of good, able and clean men in the ranks of the Democracy of Ohio from whom to make choice for senator.

No scandal must attach to the selection.

The man on whom the great honor is bestowed must come up to the full expectations of the people. He must possess high character and ability and merit the greatest confidence.

The sort of men who now misrepresent Ohio in the senate, Dick and Burton, were powerful arguments in the recent campaign in influencing thousands of Republicans to vote the Democratic ticket in the hope and expectation of having the great state of Ohio properly represented in the upper branch of congress.

And there must be no repetition of the last two senatorships filled by the Democrats of Ohio, as otherwise the party would meet with a just censure and be properly condemned as unworthy for betraying the confidence of the people.

The Democratic majority in the new legislature by making the right kind of selection for senator will not only keep faith with the people and have Ohio properly represented, but will build strong and well for future victories for the Democratic party.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Sarah Trullinger The following from the Coon Rapids Enterprise, Carroll county, Iowa, contains an account of the death of Mrs. Sarah Trullinger, who was born and raised in Knox county and was well known here, being a sister of Miss Jane Bricker and an aunt of Miss Nellie Walsh, both of Mt. Vernon, and who have just returned from Coon Rapids, after attending the funeral.

Mrs. Sarah Trullinger died Sunday evening after an illness of several weeks duration. The deceased was a woman greatly beloved by her friends for her many womanly qualities, being kindly and gracious in her nature. She was one of the pioneer mothers, coming west with her husband in her early life and going through all the hardships connected with pioneer days. The present generation owes much to such mothers, for, with their husbands, they made the present comforts possible, though they do not live sufficiently long to enjoy in full measure the fruits of their labor and accomplishments. But the rewards for the labors of this life are not always commensurate with just deserts. The life beyond holding the compensations due to those who have given of their lives generously for the happiness of others.

The funeral services were conducted by Father Rebbach at the Catholic church on Wednesday morning, the church being well filled with mourning friends and relatives. Sarah Margaret Bricker was born in Knox county, Ohio, in 1837. She was married to Michael Trullinger in Ohio in 1859. They emigrated to Illinois in 1863 and from there to Iowa in 1866, locating first in Tampa, then in Jasper county, a few years later moving still further west, for the past twenty-eight years making their home, until the death of Mr. Trullinger last year, in Green, Guthrie and Carroll counties, but most of the time in Guthrie county, dying Sunday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. E. Sherbourne, north of town. She was the mother of six children—Frank, Charles and George, and Mrs. E. E. Sherbourne, Mrs. Nancy Bails and Mrs. George Wilt, Charles dying in his youth. The remaining children live in the community and were with their mother during her last hours.

Mrs. Margaret Curtis Vaughan A telegram was received by friends in Mt. Vernon Sunday evening conveying the sad information of the death of Mrs. Margaret Curtis Vaughan, which occurred at her late home in Chicago, Ill., Sunday afternoon at one o'clock. The cause of her death was pleurisy, followed by hemorrhages, after an illness of two weeks. Mrs. Vaughan was well known in Mt. Vernon where she resided for many years. She was a vocalist of rare ability and a composer of considerable note. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Hazard and three sons. The deceased was a member of the Baptist church for many years. The funeral will occur Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock from the home of the deceased in Chicago. The interment will take place in that city.

George Myers Mrs. C. L. Moushey of this city received word on Monday morning announcing the death of her father, Mr. George Myers, which occurred at his home in Plymouth, Ohio, on Sunday afternoon. Clarence E. Reese has commenced suit in the court of common pleas of Knox county against the Hoover-Rowlands Co., a corporation, in which he seeks to recover the sum of $639 on a contract. The plaintiff states that on October 1, 1909, he entered into a contract with the defendant to manage their store in the city of Zanesville, O. He states that by the terms of the contract he was to receive $20 per week until the general sales of the store equalled or exceeded $4,000 and then he was to receive $25 per week. The plaintiff states that he worked for the plaintiffs until January 8, 1910, when, without any reason, he was discharged by the defendant, although he had a contract with the firm for a year. He therefore claims there is due him the sum of $639 on the contract. L. C. Stillwell represents the plaintiff in this action.

MEXICANS HELPED BURN RODRIGUEZ

Consul Lomeli Visits Rock Springs, Tex.

Rock Springs, Tex., Nov. 14.—Antonio V. Lomeli, Mexican consul at Eagle Pass, Tex., who came here at the direction of the Mexican government to make an investigation of the burning alive of Antonio Rodriguez, the murderer of Mrs. Lem Henderson, has gathered all the available facts connected with the tragic affair, but so far as known he has not been made acquainted with the names of any of the men who composed the mob. He was surprised to learn upon arrival here that many Mexican residents of Rock Springs and this community participated in the lynching. The social relations between the Americans and Mexicans of Rock Springs are most cordial.

Was He American Citizen? Washington, Nov. 14.—The state department is making every effort to determine whether Antonio Rodriguez, over whose lynching in Texas the recent trouble with Mexico has been largely due, is a citizen of the United States or of Mexico. At first it was believed that Rodriguez was a Mexican, but it is now reported that he was a citizen of the United States. Since any grievance that Mexico has based on the death of Rodriguez, the state department will endeavor to determine his nationality at once. If Rodriguez is found to be an American, Mexico's cause for anger will be gone.

Agitators on the Job. Mexico City, Nov. 14.—The anti-American agitators in this city are doing their utmost to cause a spread of the hostile demonstrations against Americans in other cities and towns of the country. A printed circular, issued here and signed by students of the various colleges, makes a strong attack upon Americans and is being widely distributed over the country.

Shoots In Defense of Home. Guadalajara, Mexico, Nov. 14.—Carlos B. Carothers, a locally prominent real estate dealer, shot and killed Jesus Loza, a 4-year-old Mexican boy, and wounded Prudente Chavez, a gendarme, in defending his home against a riotous attack by Mexicans. Carothers surrendered to the authorities at the first opportunity and was lodged in the state penitentiary.

THE ETERNAL FEMINE

Mrs. Hetty Green, one of the richest women in America—and about the hardest-working woman in America, too—is as human as the poorest. A reporter caught her at her home in Bellows Falls, Vt., and found this human inside. She said, in part:

"I don't feel any different from anyone else. I've always worked hard and there is a living for everyone if he only will work for it. My father used to say that if you sat me on a log in the backyard I would find something to do, I'm so active."

"I have lived in Hoboken for five years in the same apartment house, and had the same janitor, and I never had a fight with him yet. I think that is a pretty good recommendation."

"I hate to see those lazy women sitting around the hotel, with their soft white hands and pink satin slippers on their feet which they can't put on the ground. And they die young, too. I believe in active life."

"I put the most of my money in mortgages and let other people worry about taxes. I saved seven widows in Chicago from being put out of their homes. Someone was going to foreclose the mortgages, and I bought them up."

"To look at me now you would scarcely believe that I was a handsome woman once. I had the most beautiful long eyelashes, and my hair was a golden brown and so long that I could sit on it. My nostrils were

APPLE TREE A NATURE PUZZLE.

(Los Angeles Herald) For the second time this year an apple tree belonging to S. W. Alexander is bearing a crop of fruit. This is noteworthy in itself, as no like case is known, but still more remarkable is the fact that the second crop appears to be of different variety than the first.

Just what variety the first yield was has not been determined. The apple produced was light in color and of medium size. It closely resembled the Maidenblush in outward appearance, but was hard and juicy, while the Maidenblush is soft and mealy.

The apples now on the trees are quite different in appearance, being of a dark reddish color and in no way resembling the earlier crop grown in July, August and September.

Another peculiarity of the second crop is that nearly all the fruit hangs on the tree in clusters of three and four.

The apples, which are only about a month old, and are of about the same dimensions as small English walnuts, because of the cluster effect, remind one of grapes.

TO TRY YEGGS FOR MURDER

Salem, Mass., Nov. 14—At the term of the superior court which opened here today the trial will take place of Andri Ipsen and Wasill Ivankowski, two of the alleged band of yeggmen whose murderous deeds in Lynn last June caused a big sensation. The two are to be tried for the murder of Thomas A. Landregan, a wealthy shoe manufacturer, and James H. Carroll, a policeman. Landregan and Carroll were killed in the broad day while carrying money from the bank to the shoe factory to pay off the employees. Three yeggmen were involved in the robbery and murders. One fatally shot himself just previous to being placed under arrest, following a losing battle with the police, in which both Ipsen and Ivankowski were seriously wounded.

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS AT DALLAS

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 14—Representatives of the wholesale drug trade throughout the United States are gathering here for the thirty-sixth annual convention of their national association, which will begin its sessions tomorrow. Many questions of great interest to the trade will be discussed during the week. From here many of the members will go to Waco on Saturday to visit the Cotton Palace there.
