PARADERS CLASH WITH THE POLICE

Two Officers Stabbed And Third Beaten Up With Own Club

Sunday Fray At Lawrence, Massachusetts, Followed Today By A Twenty-Four-Hour "Demonstration" Strike. The Mills Being Forced To Close For The Day—Carlo Tresca, Leader Of The Parade, Eludes The Police

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 30.—Today the vast majority of the Industrial Workers responded to the call for a 24-hour "demonstration" strike. All the mills are closed for the day.

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 30.—Marching members of the Industrial Workers of the World clashed with the Lawrence police, and during the melee two of the officers were stabbed slightly about noon Sunday and one was beaten almost unconscious with his own club; a revolver shot was fired at the police station and many of the paraders sustained cracked heads through encountering the policemen's billys.

The parade was for the purpose of marching to the cemetery where the Lopez woman is buried. With their red banners and the music of bands, the people marched, yelling themselves hoarse. When the head of the line had reached Amesbury street, a file of 22 policemen formed across Essex street. The police advanced toward the procession, which came to a halt, as did the cops. Sergeant Spranger informed Carlo Tresca that the procession must disband, as no permit had been issued for it. Tresca brought out a paper showing that the men were accorded the privilege to parade in the afternoon. When it was pointed out to Tresca that they were parading in the forenoon he tried to explain to his followers, but they would not listen and rushed upon the officers. A stiff fight followed the officers using their clubs freely, and several grabbed Tresca. Seeing their leader struggling with two officers, about 100 of the marchers went to the rescue. Officer Ludwig was stabbed twice in the hip and Officer McCarthy was slashed across each wrist with a knife. His club was cut loose and the mob beat him over the head. He was nearly knocked senseless, but managed to get to the police station with assistance. Tresca disappeared while the fracas was going on.

At the police station, the police backed up the steps, and as the mob became more threatening they drew revolvers and ordered the mob to disperse. The order was obeyed.

There were two arrests made during the mixup.

"I am married to Miss Abbott. I am not a public character and I decline to discuss the matter any further."

The Reason. Miss Story people, they say, are very guilty of immorality or other things. Well, you see, it's no difficult for them to keep to anything low—Boston Transcript.

GENERAL OROZCO'S DAUGHTER APPEALS TO PRESIDENT TAFT TO SAVE GRANDFATHER'S LIFE

ELENA AND DANIEL OROZCO

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 30.—Fearful lest the fortunes of war toss her father into the hands of the United States as it has her grandfather, Elena, the pretty seventeen-year-old daughter of General Pascual Orozco, who is living with her mother, brothers and sisters in temporary exile in Los Angeles, laboriously penned a pathetic letter to President Taft, in which she begged for her grandfather's life and told the chief executive of this nation that her father was a soldier fighting for his country and not a murderer. The letter was written on the front steps of her home at Twenty-seventh street and Grand avenue. Her brother Daniel sat beside her. Little Elena's letter was penned to the president in Spanish, for it is her native tongue that she can best express herself on paper, although she speaks the English language almost fluently. "Dear Mr. President Taft," she wrote, "my papa is not a murderer. He is a brave soldier fighting for his country. Please don't let the American soldiers give my grandpapa to Mr. Madero, for Mr. Madero would shoot him, and that would kill poor grandpa."

Magistrate Boyle concluded matters by fining the father $14 and costs and told the husband that if he did not send her to school until she was 15 years of age that he would be arrested and fined also.

MUST SEND HIS WIFE TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—John Polias must send his 14-year-old wife to school for another year, according to Magistrate Boyle, or he will have to go to jail. The girl was reported by the trustee officer and her father was arrested for the violation of the school attendance act.

The smiling little helpmeet waved a marriage certificate before the astonished magistrate and said: "I no go to school. I stay home and make beds and get husband's meals."

Magistrate Boyle concluded matters by fining the father $14 and costs and told the husband that if he did not send her to school until she was 15 years of age that he would be arrested and fined also.

WILSON'S STATEMENT

Believes New York Democrats Will Nominate a Man Who Is Free. Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 30.—Governor Wilson said that he believed the Democratic state convention at Syracuse, if left free from personal control of any sort, will nominate for governor a man who will be his own master and will adopt a platform to which men of progressive principles everywhere can subscribe. This definition of his attitude toward the convention is the reply of Governor Wilson to those who have been urging him to attack the leader of Tammany Hall. Governor Wilson's statement was read to Mr. Murphy and his opinion was asked concerning it. "Well," he replied, "I have nothing to say at the moment. Neither have I anything further to say to the oft-repeated questions put to me concerning Governor Dix."

IRON WORKERS MUST EXPLAIN

Letters In Government Hands, It Is Held, Do Not Look Well

To Heed Advice Of Attorneys—Indicted Men Counsel'd To Abandon Course Not To Introduce Any Evidence Save That Of Good Character—Statements In Letters Must Be Explained To Satisfaction Of Court And Jury

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—A majority of the 51 defendants in the dynamiting cases, which will be called for trial in the federal court tomorrow are here. Those here have been in conference with the attorneys for the defense.

The most important occurrence during the conferences was the backing down from the assertion that the government has no case and that the indicted iron workers will not introduce any evidence except as to good character. Frank M. Ryan, Herbert S. Hochin and others were made to see the danger in relying on that kind of testimony exclusively and were told in unmistakable language that statements in the letters which the government will offer in evidence of the conspiracy must be explained away to the satisfaction of the court and jury, or there would be certain, to be convictions, and, if any were found guilty, the probability is that all of those who are mentioned in the letters would come within the same verdict. It was alleged that the letters in the government's possession do not look well for the defense on their face, and it was incumbent upon them to show that the references to dynamiting, as interpreted by the government, were too ordinary and not necessarily illegal or criminal transactions.

BADGE SAVES MAN'S LIFE

Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—Detective D. C. Brockbridge of the Pennsylvania railroad, escaped serious injury or possible death when a bullet fired at him by a freight car burglar, was deflected by his badge and only scratched him slightly in the side. The badge, which was placed directly over his heart, was bent out of shape by the bullet.

FOUR DIE IN FLAMES; VICTIMS WERE MURDERED

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 30.—It is believed that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pfanschmidt, their daughter Blanche, 16, and Miss Emma Kaempfen, 21, a teacher, whose charred bodies were found in the ruins of Pfanschmidt's country home near Payson, 16 miles southeast of Quincy, were murdered. Circumstances indicate that the victims perished while asleep. Nothing remained of their bodies except the charred skeletons. Pfanschmidt was wealthy. Miss Kaempfen was a daughter of a Quincy contractor.

In some South American tribes the women draw the front teeth, esteeming it as an ornament the black gap thus made.
