

THE CLOSE OF THE SESSION.—To-morrow expires the sixty days allowed by the constitution for each session of the General Assembly. It is not possible to say, what has been done, until the notes of proceedings, are collated and arranged. Fortunately, all the propositions, brought forward, have not been carried through; for the very foundation of things would be cracked—the Union abolished, and the State's position on the map of creation, materially changed. It is rather paradoxical, but the more law we have; the less the order.—The curse of the State and nation, is to much legislation. The work of the present session will, we make no doubt, compare favorably with any other session gone before. A few sober conservative men have without noise controlled the body, frowning down on one hand, incendiary resolutions, and on the other, exercising a controlling influence on measures calculated to change the home condition of things.

THE CANNONERS.—On going to press last night, the Cannoners, of Donaldsonville were passing our door, escorted by the Creole Guards, on their way to quarters in the Barracks. They came by land, and will be on the ground to contend for the premium to-day.

NO MORE MUNDAY.—On Sunday last, a negro man, well known about town, by the name of "Munday," went to the river and told the people thereabouts that he intended to drown himself. No one paid attention to what he said, and presently there was a splash in the water and Munday landed in another and may-hap better world. Munday was the chief mortar-maker for the brick-makers, and they will miss him if others do not. Mortar is not wanted in the country which lies beyond, and perhaps it will not always be Munday with him there. Had we been called on to point out the happiest man in town, Munday would have been him; but we cannot tell from outward appearance, the lowly as well as the great in place have cares and troubles of which the great world knows little and cares less—no mote it be.

THE GHOST OF A CHANCE.—Our neighbor over in Main street, says "Hampden," a correspondent of the Mississippi, uses this term, to express the strong probability of Mr. Breckenridge, getting the nomination for the Presidency. This is a very fit expression, since his chances are considerably less than a shadow. If our neighbor would like to see the daguerreotype of the next President of these United States, let him come to our front office, and get (to him) a valuable truth for nothing.

COAL COMING DOWN.—The Pittsburg Free Press says:

Another rise has just occurred, and our enterprising coal dealers, always ready to move upon the flood, take out a second fleet.

Over two million bushels leave Pittsburg on this rise, for Cincinnati, Louisville and New Orleans.

THE CONTEST TO-DAY.—The military will be out to-day in full feather, to contend for the premium at the Fair for the best drilled Company.

STEREOSCOPIC VIEWS.—In one of the rooms at the Barracks, and on the Fair grounds, is a collection of views, from the "negatives" of the "London Stereoscopic Company."—Scenes in the old world, of remarkable and interesting places, are thus brought home, just as painted in the sun light of reality. Persons visiting the grounds, should take a look.

THE BEST PUMP OUT.—Attention is directed to the Patent Force Pump, of H. Lindsey, on the Fair Grounds. It speaks for itself and will convince any planter in five minutes that it is just the thing he wants.

It appears from official returns in the Almanac for 1860, which has just appeared at Rome, that the number of Roman Catholic Bishops in the world amounts to 850, exclusive of 90 apostolic vicarships and several prefectures.

How Much has been Given Away?

The figures have not yet been added up, but we venture to say when they are, they will show as large an amount of money given away out of the swamp funds this season, as at any former session of the Assembly. It may well be asked, "In how far does the present session differ from others?" This, whereat even more has been said about retrenchment and reform, than ever before.—What is the practical test to ascertain the sincerity of professions? Let us look with unbiased view. Men should be judged by their acts, not by their words. If a member of the Assembly make a speech at the opening thereof on retrenchment and reform, let us watch how his action tallies with it, and how he deports himself when the hour of temptation comes, and the grabbing commences. $20,000 only is wanted for Terrebonne.—$18,000 to continue the work commenced on Bayou Pierre. $11,000 to complete the locks on Bayou Teche. Point Minier would like to have $10,000. $60,000 is all that is wanted to drain Vermilion, and the modest sum of $5000 will answer to continue the culvert over the Crocodile. "What will become of the work already commenced, if an appropriation is not made?" "Will it not be washed away?" "Will it not be just so much money thrown into the river?" Every member is made to feel the force of the argument by having some of the same work "already commenced" near his own door. Gentlemen get up and make speeches in favor of stopping the sale of swamps, because speculators will invest their funds in them. They are immensely in favor of locking the doors of the Treasury, with something like a Hobbs lock; but they would each like to have the secret of the key that (should occasion require), they may know how to get in.

The best speech of the season is one we had the pleasure of listening to a few nights ago from Mr. Tucker, of the Senate. It was in answer to Mr. Smart, of Sabine, on the proposition of this gentleman, to clean out that remarkable stream dividing this country from the great State of Texas. Mr. Smart has consistently guarded the Treasury for many years past—in the lower as well as the upper branch of the Assembly. He has opposed with force and eloquence all appropriations to finish that interminable work "already commenced"—has advocated an economical administration of the swamp and other funds—opposed consistently the locks, docks, and dams—is not (or rather was not some time ago), in favor of shutting the mouth of Plaquemine, and is down on Charitable Institutions generally; but when we get as far West as the Sabine, then it is that Mr. Smart grows warm—"the importance of that stream in a commercial point, is not understood either by the gentleman from Orleans, or the denizens of the swamps, in the Mississippi bottom." Mr. Tucker was himself an advocate of the Sabine country and Sabine navigation; he dwelt on the subject until the Senate was ready to admit that the stream flowing at the foot of the Capitol is a mere tributary. As an act of justice the Sabine country should give Mr. Tucker a vote of thanks. Every other member of the Assembly occupies the same position maintained by Mr. Smart. They are all very willing to vote against further appropriations to levee Cat Island and to erect water works at Bayou Sara, but when it comes to the ditch in front of their own door, then it is that the Bull Story in Mr. Webster's most excellent spelling book, wears a different aspect. For personal considerations, which are quite as strong now as they were many years ago, they all come down to a compromise about the close of the session, and the result is, appropriations from the Swamp funds of several hundred thousand dollars. Just what we now see.

It is common to speak of those whom a flirt has jilted, as her victims. This is a grave error—her real victim is the man she accepts.

PERSONAL.
Industrial State Exhibitions &c.

In justice to myself, as one who has ever taken the deepest interest in all the agricultural and mechanical arts, and productions of our State and country. I intrude myself upon public notice, to say a word. My reputation has been assailed, especially in reference to a subject of all others the nearest to my feelings. I shall take occasion hereafter to submit a brief statement of my own history, in connection with the various Industrial Fairs, held, or hereafter to be held in our State. The attacks upon my own character, as dear as it is to me.—I do not feel more than I do the injury it has done to a cause, the success of which for the last 28 years I have used my utmost exertion to promote. Failures like warrens and indifference do not deter me; but a few months since, believing that a favorable time had arrived, I endeavored under the signature of "Pioneer" to awaken again the interest of my fellow-citizens. I applied to several good men, well known in this city for their zeal in doing all in their power ever to benefit the city and State, to aid in the cause. This, they at once promptly agreed to do by meeting together, and proposing to interest the people of the country by calling a Convention of all the parishes of the State, to be held in the city of New Orleans, as the following call from the Commercial Bulletin of the 30 of November will show:

INDUSTRIAL STATE FAIR.—By request of many interested citizens, I hasten to inform you that arrangements are on foot for an Industrial State Fair convention to take place in New Orleans, on or about the middle of January next. The object of an Industrial Convention is to enlist the whole State of Louisiana in the enterprise, by appointing two or more gentlemen as Delegates from each Parish in the State, and by suitable arrangements in the Convention for an Industrial State Fair, they will be at once placed in possession of such information as to enable them to act as to promote the good work in contemplation. In a few days more I hope to be able to state something more definite of this matter, and will prove that there is a fair prospect now to establish an Annual Industrial Fair in our City, which will not be outdone by Jackson, Mississippi, St. Louis, Missouri, Montgomery, Alabama, nor in fact by any other State in the Union. PIONEER.

We, the undersigned citizens of New Orleans, deeply interested to see the establishment of an Annual Industrial Fair in New Orleans, take great pleasure in recommending the plan of a General Convention from every parish in the State, as proposed by Pioneer.

Gerard Smith Mayor, Dan'l Edwards, W. Bogart, Wm. H. Avery, Ar. Miltenberger, Pritchard & Flower, Walker & Sulder, Davis and 50 others.

This seemed to be a proper course to awaken and concentrate public sentiments. I then formed the association which consisted of a few gentlemen, and the following are their names, viz: S. J. Seymour, D. Edwards, N. R. Jennings, C. A. Waterman, Geo. Rizer, J. Gallier, Jr., Cuthbert Rollit, W. Bagart and J. H. Ranney. I did not seek to be a member of this association, my only object was to benefit the cause.

It seemed that at this very time the mechanics society had been aroused by these movements and proposals, and finally had a similar object in view; and a conference was proposed by them. A committee composed of Messrs. Ranney, Jennings and Gallier was appointed by the association above mentioned to meet the Mechanics Society.

Finally the plan was adopted to have a joint stock company in pursuance of which large subscription were obtained. A meeting of the subscribers was called, the form of a charter was proposed and adopted, and before the same was acted upon by the Legislature, a Directory was elected. This was certainly extraordinary and contrary to a usage.

In the act passed by the Legislature of our State in 1853, incorporating the South-western Industrial Fair, the 8th section of the charter says that as soon as 500 shares shall have been subscribed, it shall be the duty of the commissioners after ten days notice of the time and place to call a meeting of the subscribers for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors who shall choose a President from among themselves. The great object should be in an undertaking of so much interest to our city and State, to commence the work properly, money alone in the way of premiums, &c., will not sufficiently attract the zeal and enthusiasm of the citizens of our State.—They must all have, as far as can be obtained, a voice in the great enterprise, and although I have been wholly ignored as being devoid of all judgement and discretion, although, as I said before my reputation and integrity have been assailed, still for the sake of that cause to which I have devoted the best energies of my life, to which yet I will strive to do service will I hope on, hope ever, and vindicate myself, I trust successfully in that community among whom I have so long lived from the aspersion thrown upon me.

IMPORTANT DECISION.—The case of the owners of the steamboat Humbolt vs. the Memphis and New Orleans Steam Packet Company has recently been decided in the U. S. Admiralty Court in Washington City in favor of the Steam Company.
It will be remembered that about three years since, the Humbolt, from New Orleans, with a valuable cargo of sugar and molasses, for Nashville, came in collision with the Belfast a short distance above Vicksburg, by which the former boat was sunk in some fifty feet water, and, with her cargo, proved a total loss. The owners of the Humbolt assessed their damages at $200,000, and entered suit against the Packet Company for that amount in the courts of Louisiana. The case was subsequently appealed by one of the parties to the Admiralty Court at Washington, before which tribunal, as above stated, the Packet Company have secured a verdict favorable to themselves.

The telegraph wire from St. Louis to San Francisco is now within two hundred and eighty miles of the latter place, and will soon be laid, when we shall hear from California every day.

A CARD

TO THE CITIZENS OF BATON ROUGE

We take this method of introducing ourselves to your notice, for the purpose of explaining certain facts not generally known. We have just opened, in the building just completed by Mr. John O'Connor, corner North Boulevard and Third streets, one of the largest and most varied assortments of FASHIONABLE JEWELRY AND WATCHES ever before offered for sale in this market, all of which we warrant to be the same as sold by every respectable dealer in the United States. Aware, as you may be, of the fact that "all is not gold that glitters," still, many of you have, perhaps, fallen victims to the many deceptions gotten up by travelling vendors for the purpose of entrapping the unwary. Such is not the case with us. Selling, as we are, under the license of Messrs. Favrot & LeBlanc, both natives of, and generally known throughout this city, is, we presume, a sufficient guarantee for the truth of what we assert. Moreover, we tell each purchaser, candidly and positively, the quality of the goods we offer him, and if, after undergoing the most rigid tests, they fall short of what we represent them, bring them back, and we will not only refund the money paid for the article, but double the amount.

We extend a general invitation to the citizens of this city, to call and examine our goods at any time from 6 A. M., until 10 P. M., and see, handle and scrutinize for themselves.
Hoping our invitation will be honored, we remain, respectfully,
