Cure Your Kidneys

Do Not Endanger Life When an El Paso Citizen Shows You the Cure. Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work. If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney disease, correct yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this El Paso testimony: J. C. Elliott, Court House block, San Antonio street, El Paso, Texas, says: 'I was troubled for some time by a dull ache in the small of my back, brought on I believe by heavy lifting. The kidney secretions contained a heavy sediment and were otherwise unnatural. The use of a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Kelly & Pollard's drug store, corrected these difficulties and I have had no occasion to take a kidney remedy since. At that time I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, and I can now say that I hold just as high an opinion of them.'

some of us think he is there is a way to end his usefulness. Now, Brutus, what does Count Marlaux say to this day two weeks? Will he be ready? On that day the prince and the court are to witness the unveiling of the Yvete memorial statue in the plaza. It is a full holiday in Graustark. No man will be employed at his usual task, and— Brutus interrupted him. 'That is the very day that the count has asked me to submit to the committee. He believes it to be the day of all days. Nothing should go amiss. We conquer with a single blow. By noon of that day, the 26th of July, the committee of ten will be in control of the state; the new regime will be at hand. A new world will be begun, with Edelweiss as the center, about which all the rest shall revolve. We, the committee of ten, will be its true founders. We shall be glorified forever. The death of the prince is the signal for the overthrow of the present government and the establishment of the new order of equal humanity.'

Up in the distant hills slept the Iron Count, dreaming of the day when he should rule over the new Graustark—for he would rule!—a smile on his grizzled face in reflection of recent walking thoughts concerning the punishment that should fall swiftly upon the assassins of the beloved Prince Robin. He would make short shrift of assassins! (To Be Continued.)

DEFECTS IN ARMOR ON BATTLESHIPS ARE DISCOVERED Washington, July 8.—Defects discovered in armor plate in the battleships North Dakota and Utah, two of the most powerful craft in the navy, led to a protracted conference at the navy department over the legal phases involved. There were present representatives of the New York Shipbuilding company, the Midvale Steel company and government experts. Spalls, a flaking condition that impaired the armor's resistance efficiency were found on the plates and new plates were substituted. It was said that possibly the annealing work in affixing the plate may have caused some of the defects.

S.S.S. CURES ECZEMA, ACNE, TETTER, POISON OAK, ETC. Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Poison Oak, Pimples, etc., show that some unhealthy humor or acid impurity is diseasing and corrupting the circulation, so that instead of supplying nourishment and strength to the skin, it is continually pouring out its acid and unhealthy accumulations. Salves, washes, lotions, and other external applications, may relieve some of the itching and other discomforts caused by skin diseases, but such treatment has no effect on the blood, where the seat of irritation lies, and therefore cannot cure. A thorough cleansing of the blood is the one and only cure for skin diseases; every particle of the cause must be driven from the circulation. S. S. S. is the best and quickest remedy, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation and removes every particle of humor, whether it be an infection of poisonous plants, or from other causes, and makes the blood stream pure, rich and healthy, and causes it to soothe, soften and nourish the skin instead of irritating and diseasing it with fiery humors. A Story Of Graustark Truxton King By George Barr McCutcheon Copyright, 1909, by George Barr McCutcheon Copyright, 1909, by Dodd, Mead & Company. SYNOPSIS OF FIRST CHAPTER. Truxton King, an American millionaire's son, tired of the humdrum life and sets out to have some adventures. He reaches the kingdom of Graustark. (Continued From Yesterday.) There were three men who her heart struck from the unwholly deed she had been selected to perform. But there was never a thought of receding from the bloody task set down for her. On a Saturday night, following the last visit of Truxton King to the armorer, the committee of ten met in the underground room to hear the latest word from one who could not be with them in person, but was always there in spirit, if they were to believe his most zealous utterances. The Iron Count Marlaux, professed hater of all that was rich and noble, was the power behind the committee of ten. The assassination of the little prince and the overthrow of the royal family awaited his pleasure. He was the man who would give the word. Alas for the committee of ten! The wildest fox in the history of the world was never so wily as the Iron Count. Some day they were to find out that he was using them to pull his choicest chestnuts from the fire. The committee was seated around the long table in the stifling, breathless room, the armorer at the head. Those who came by way of the sewer had performed ablutions in the queer toilet room that once had been a secret vault for the storing of feudal plunder. What air there was came from the narrow ventilator that burrowed its way up to the shop of William Spantz or through the chimney hole in the ceiling. Olga Platnova sat far down the side, a moody, inscrutable expression in her dark eyes. At Spantz's right lounged Peter Brutus, a lawyer, formerly secretary to the Iron Count and now his sole representative among these people. He was a dark faced, snaky eyed young man, with a mop of coarse black hair that hung ominously low over his high, receding forehead. Julius Spantz, the armorer's son, a placid young man of goodly physical proportions, sat next to Brutus, while down the table ranged others deep in the consideration of the world's gravest problems. One of the women was Mme. Drovansk, whose husband had been sent to Siberia for life, and the other Anna Cromer, a rabid red lecturer, who had been driven from the United States, together with her amiable husband, an assassin of some distinction and many aliases, at present foreman in charge of one of the bridge building crews on the new railroad. Every man in the party, and there were eight, for Olga was not a member of the "ten," wore over the lower part of his face a false black beard of huge dimensions—not that they were averse to recognition among themselves, but in the fear that by some hook or crook Dangloss or his agents might be able to look in upon them. Brutus was speaking. 'The man is a spy. He has been brought here from America to Tullis.' 'We shall continue to watch his every movement,' said William Spantz. 'Time will tell. When we are positive that he is a detective and that he is dangerous there is a way to stop his operations.' 'Dangloss suspects more than one of us,' ventured Brutus, his gaze traveling toward Olga. There was lewd admiration in that steady glance. 'But we'll fool the old fox. The time will soon be here for the blow that frees Graustark from the yoke.' It appeared in the course of his remarks that Marlaux had friends and supporters in all parts of Graustark. Hundreds of men in the hills, including honest shepherds and the dishonest brigands who thrived on them, coal miners and wood stellers, hunters and outlaws were ready to do his bidding when the time was ripe. Moreover, Marlaux had been successful in his design to fill the railway construction crews with the riffraff of all Europe, all of whom were under the control of leaders who could sway them in any movement provided it was against law and order. With a cunning that commands admiration, the Iron Count deliberately sanctioned the assassination of the little prince of the reds, knowing that the condemnation of the world would fall upon them instead of upon him and that his own actions following the regicide would at once stamp him as irreconcilably opposed to anarchy and all its practices! In the course of his remarks Peter Brutus touched hastily upon the subject of the little prince. 'He's not very big,' said he, with a laugh, 'and it won't require a very big bomb to blow him to smithereens. He will—' 'Stop!' cried Olga Platnova, springing to her feet. 'I cannot listen to you! You shall not speak of it in that way!' 'STOP!' CRIED OLGA PLATNOVA. 'YOU SHALL NOT SPEAK OF IT IN THAT WAY!' way! Peter Brutus, you are not to speak of—of what I am to do! Never—never again.' She shuddered violently as she stood there before them, her eyes closed as if to shut out the horrible picture her mind was painting. 'She will bungle it,' sneered Anna Cromer. Olga's lids were lifted. Her dark eyes looked straight into those of the older woman. 'No,' she said quietly, her body relaxing, 'I shall not bungle it.' The discussion went back to Truxton King. 'Isn't it possible that he is merely attracted by the beauty of our charming young friend here?' ventured Mme. Drovansk. 'It is part of his game,' said Julius Spantz. 'He knows Olga's past. He is waiting for a chance to catch her off her guard. He may even go so far as to make pretty love to you, cousin, in the hope that—No offense, my dear, no offense!' Her look had silenced him. 'Mr. King is not a spy,' she said steadily. 'Well,' said William Spantz, 'we are safe if we take no chances with him. He must be watched all the time. If we discover that he is what
