

J. E. HURLEY DESIGNS EUROPE

General Manager of Santa Fe Road, Loved by Employees, Passes Away.

ONE TIME LIVED AT SAN MARCIAL

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 16.—A cablegram from Austria announces the death of James E. Hurley, general manager of the Santa Fe. He was at Carlsbad for his health. Death was caused by heart trouble.

Left For Germany July 13. Hurley left Topeka July 13 for Carlsbad, where he intended to spend a few months to regain his strength and find relief from continued attacks of indigestion. A letter was received Monday from Hurley written at Carlsbad, in which he said he had been examined by physicians and was found to have no organic trouble.

His death, therefore, was entirely unexpected, and a great shock to his friends and co-workers. Men gathered in the corridors of the general offices of the system here and wept like children for no man in the Santa Fe employ was so generally loved. He was exceedingly democratic, and the humblest workman was treated as an equal.

Rose From the Rank. Hurley had risen from the ranks, and never forgot the men who labored with him on the lower rung of the ladder.

Hurley was born at Wapello, Iowa, in 1850, and entered the service of the Santa Fe as a brakeman in 1880. Hurley leaves a widow and two children.

Mrs. Hurley and daughter, Hillegarde, are in Las Vegas, N. M., and the son, Harlow, is in Denver participating in the national golf tournament.

East Las Vegas, N. M., Aug. 16.—Mrs. J. E. Hurley, who is visiting here, was prostrated when she received the news of her husband's death. She did not know he was seriously ill. Many messages of condolence have already been received, among them one from president E. P. Ripley, of the Santa Fe. The Hurleys formerly lived here, when Hurley was division superintendent.

HURLEY WELL KNOWN HERE. General manager James E. Hurley, of the Santa Fe, who died of apoplexy Tuesday morning in Germany, was at one time division superintendent of the San Marcial division of the Santa Fe, controlling the tracks into El Paso. He was also president of the El Paso Union Station company, succeeding H. U. Mudge when the latter went to the Rock Island. Mr. Hurley served as the head of the local Union Station company until last May when he was succeeded by Charles W. Kowens, general manager of the western lines of the Santa Fe. The deceased Santa Fe official was a product of the "team work" system used by the Santa Fe in advancing its employees when unusual merit is shown.

Began as Warehouseman. He began his railroad career as warehouseman at Newton, Kans. He was advanced to the position of telegrapher, dispatcher, trainmaster and was then made division superintendent of the San Marcial division. He was promoted to the office of general superintendent and finally made general manager of the entire system. Mr. Hurley was a close personal friend of superintendent W. B. Martin, of the El Paso union station, who knew him since he first came to El Paso as division superintendent of the San Marcial division. Mr. Martin was the superintendent of the El Paso division of the G. F.

OKLAHOMA'S CAPITAL FIGHT. Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 16.—When C. B. Stuart, of McAlester, and B. F. Burwell, of Oklahoma City, arrived today to argue the state capital removal case in court, they found but one member of the supreme court here. No early hearing of the appeal is considered likely.

Hewitt May Be Next Mayor

Alderman J. I. Hewitt will probably be El Paso's next mayor. Alderman Hewitt returned from California Tuesday on the limited train and went immediately into consultation with the other members of the city council, regarding the vacancy in the mayor's office. Alderman Hewitt, while he has not recovered completely from his recent illness, returned in much better health from his California trip and unless he offers serious objections to assuming the arduous duties of the city's chief executive, he will be elected mayor by the city council at a special session held either Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning.

STEAMER SINKS AND 32 MEET THEIR DEATH

Gibraltar, Aug. 16.—The Spanish steamer Martos foundered this morning off Tarifa, African coast, opposite here, after a collision with the German steamer Elsa.

Thirty-nine were drowned, of whom 32 were passengers. The survivors landed here.

A dense fog prevailed at the time of the collision. Nine of the victims on the Martos were first cabin passengers. The other 23 passengers who perished were in the steerage.

The bow of the Elsa was stove in by the collision and her forepeak filled quickly with water. The steamer, however, managed to keep afloat.

35 ARE INJURED IN WRECK

Nevada, Mo., Aug. 16.—One man was killed and 35 injured today when the tender of a Missouri Pacific passenger engine left the rails, causing the smoker, baggage and mail cars and one chair car to follow.

The Pullmans remained on the track.

EXTRA SESSION APPARENTLY ASSURED

Prohibitionists Postpone All Liquor Measures, Expecting Another Session.

SEVERAL BILLS FINALLY PASSED

Austin, Texas, Aug. 16.—The prohibitionists in the house this morning accepted the reports that governor Campbell will call another special session and voted to postpone indefinitely all remaining liquor bills, which dispose of that class of legislation for this session.

The resolution scoring the Galveston Democratic convention for recommending that the legislature dispose of the fire-rating board law, adjourn and go home, only failed to pass the house this morning because time for consideration of resolution had passed. A motion by Davis to table the resolution was lost, 68 to 39.

The house finally passed the senate measure ratifying the income tax amendment to the federal constitution. The bill of lading bill came up and on the statement of Moller that the bill against drinking on the premises where liquor is sold.

After the bill of lading bill was passed, Nickels moved to indefinitely postpone the quart bill and the bill against drinking on the premises where liquor is sold.

Hill moved to postpone indefinitely his bill against drinking in a public place.

Looney moved to postpone indefinitely his bill amending the election law.

All motions passed.

Have Pros. Surrendered? It is believed to be certain that the governor will call another special session of the legislature. The most important subject to be submitted probably will be the reform of penal institutions, but it is stated this afternoon that if the senate finally passes the anti-club drinking bill at the session, which will likely take place tonight, the governor may change his mind and not issue the call.

In the rush to complete all business and get away, both houses are likely to have sessions tonight.

The action of the pros in the house in postponing the liquor bills may mean a surrender to the other end of the capitol or that they have assurance that Campbell will call another special session.

Senate Liquor Bill. Indicating that the senate will finally pass the anti-club drinking bill, a vote of 15 to 13 was cast this morning to pass the measure to engrossment, after a motion for a suspension of the rules for its final passage had failed.

The insurance bill was taken up this morning and amendments were adopted providing that the governor shall name the insurance board.

Several other intricate amendments were adopted and the measure passed to engrossment and after Terrell, of Wise, attacked the bill in a speech, the rules were suspended and the bill passed 22 to 7.

Coffer tried to call up the night closing bill but lost 15 to 13, with one pair. Hokey endeavored to bring up the slush fund probe resolution but failed 19 to 10.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 16.—Charged with having married four times without having obtained a divorce from any one of his wives, and also charged with having stolen a diamond ring, a gold watch and other jewelry from Carrie Lee Warner, of Winchester, Ky., to whom he was engaged, C. L. Frazier was arrested here last night.

REPUBLICANS OF TENNESSEE VOTING

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 16.—The Republican state convention will meet here today to nominate a candidate for governor in opposition to Malcolm R. Patterson, the Democratic nominee, and name a candidate for railroad commissioner.

A notable feature of the convention is the scarcity of negro delegates.

CANNON SAYS HE IS NOT GOING ONTO SIDETRACK

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 16.—The Inter-Ocean prints an interview with Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, in which he denounces insurgents, says that he will be a candidate for the speakership of the next house and declares that representatives of a contemplated reorganization of the Republican party originated with insurgents and Democrats.

Referring to the dispatches from Beverly, Cannon said: "I don't believe Mr. Taft contemplates any such action. The president is not the kind of man to yield to every passing whim of a minority. The story that senators Aldrich and Hale and myself were to be thrown out of the party will be found, when traced to its source, to have originated with some of the insurgents—Democratic allies, whose wishes are father to the thought."

"I expect to be re-elected to congress by an overwhelming majority, and then I will be a candidate for speaker, but always subject to the will of the people. If I am beaten in the caucus, which I believe is remote, I will willingly take my place in the ranks."

ROOSEVELT IS 'DEFEATED' BY HIS PARTY

New York Republicans Refuse to Make Him Temporary Chairman.

WAS WILLING TO TAKE THE PLACE

New York, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Cool. Theodore Roosevelt's name was presented for the office of temporary chairman of the Republican state convention at the meeting of the Republican state committee today, but his selection for the honor was lost by a vote of 20 to 15.

Vice president Sherman was named as temporary chairman by a unanimous vote, following the movement to make Roosevelt temporary chairman.

The committee selected Saratoga as the place and September 27 as the time of the convention.

Lloyd C. Griscom, who presented the motion in favor of Roosevelt after a visit yesterday to Saratoga hill, commenting on the action of the committee, said: "I presented the name of former president Roosevelt after consulting with him. The place of temporary chairman is obviously his, not only by virtue of his having been president, but by the signal service rendered by him to the Republican party of the state of New York. Mr. Roosevelt was anxious to engage in the political campaign of this state and his name at the head of the convention would have extraordinary prestige to the meeting and would have been of incalculable value to the party."

"The action foreshadows a great many primary contests and those voting to deny him the office of temporary chairman will have to account to the entire Republican body of their respective districts for their action."

"There is no question of endorsing or not endorsing the administration. If an effort is made to show that the choice of vice president Sherman is an endorsement whereas the choice of Col. Roosevelt would not have been it must of necessity fail, as Mr. Roosevelt's views regarding the conduct of public affairs by his successor are well known."

PRIMARIES ON IN CALIFORNIA

Each Party Is Putting Out Candidates for Various State Offices.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 16.—The voters in California are devoting themselves today to selecting party candidates for state offices, who will oppose each other at the general election in November. It is the first direct primary held throughout the state, and the nominees for every state office, many county and municipal offices, and for California's eight seats in congress will be chosen.

Theodore Bell, the only Democratic candidate for governor, who was temporary chairman of the last Democratic national convention, unquestionably will lead his party. Of the five names that appear on the Republican ballots, it is virtually conceded that today's races between Chas. F. Curry, present secretary of state, and Hiram Johnson, leader of the "insurgent" element.

CLOSE PRIMARIES ON IN NEBRASKA

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 16.—A statewide primary election is being held throughout Nebraska today to nominate officials from United States senator down to the smallest county offices.

Omaha and Lincoln are the two principal centers of interest. Definite figures are hardly expected before Wednesday night.

Both parties divided on the question of county option and the insurgent strength showing itself in the Republican party, new conditions have arisen which prevent either side making a serious prediction of the final results.

FIREMAN HURT JUMPING FROM A LOCOMOTIVE

Weatherford, Texas, Aug. 16.—One man was slightly hurt when he jumped from a locomotive near here this morning just before a head-on collision in which a work train, westbound, and a freight eastbound, met on a curve on the Texas & Pacific railway. Two cars of cattle were smashed, a number were killed and others bruised, and a car of lumber was wrecked. Traffic will probably be delayed until tonight.

WHOLE CITY HONORS DEAD MAYOR

Mayor Gaynor After He Was Shot

This picture shows Mayor Gaynor of New York, less than a moment after he was shot by James J. Gallagher on board the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse recently. City commissioner Jacob Katz is shown on the left holding the mayor's arm to prevent him toppling over. On the right also supporting him, and facing in the direction of Gallagher, is Benjamin C. Marsh, secretary of the Society of Municipal Research. The mayor was strong on his feet but silent for nearly a minute. Then he slowly drooped and was carried into the cabin he was to have occupied on the voyage.

GORE HEARING DRAGGING NOW

Government Unable to Sell Land Fast Enough for Indians.

Sulphur, Okla., Aug. 15.—Attempts to show that the government was justified in delaying the sale of $30,000,000 worth of Indian lands in Oklahoma, occupied the congressional committee investigation of McMurray contracts today.

The testimony was given to show it was impossible for the government to sell out the land and distribute the money as speedily as McMurray's fee basis. Representative C. D. Carter, of Oklahoma, was recalled to the stand and testified that vice president Sherman always showed deep interest in the Indians and opposed the high fees of attorneys.

BIPLANE BEATS BIRDS IN 50-MILE FLIGHT

Amiens, France, Aug. 16.—The first aerial race between birds of nature and man's production took place in the course of the great aerial cross country competition and was easily won by man.

A flock of 47 carrier pigeons were released at Douai yesterday the same instant that Le Blanc, in his Farman biplane, started from the mark on his 50 mile flight to Amiens.

The biplane soon outdistanced the birds and when the biplane arrived at Amiens, the flock of pigeons was not yet in sight.

The first pigeon arrived six minutes and 20 seconds after Le Blanc.

ALL BUSINESS SUSPENDED TWO HOURS

Even Street Cars and Water Plant Shut Down as Tribute to Dead Executive.

MASONS CONDUCT FUNERAL SERVICE

Streets For Blocks Packed With Mourners When Funeral Cortege Moves.

Flags are draped at half mast on the business and public buildings, the stores and banks closed for two hours Tuesday morning, the street cars stopped running during the time the body of the mayor was being lowered into the grave and all El Paso mourned the loss of its chief executive—even the waterworks plant was shut down.

Business was suspended during the morning. The banks did not open at the usual hour but remained closed until noon. The city hall and police and fire stations were draped in mourning while half furled flags drooped against the mastsheads as if appreciative of the grief they were afflicting.

The big flag on the San Jacinto flag pole, which the deceased mayor had helped to hoist on July 4, hung limply against the metal mast and a rosette of crepe fluttered at the entrance to the city hall, the dead mayor's official home.

All El Paso mourns today. Mexicans and Americans alike are honoring the memory of the man who gave his life to save others. Being the mayor of all the people, as he had often declared in the council chamber, all are mourning his death. Hundreds called at the city hall Monday to pay their last respects to the mayor's memory.

In the long line of men, women and children, Mexicans and Americans, who stood in front of the city hall waiting for an opportunity to pass the body of the mayor, two aged Yucatec Indians, their faces wrinkled by the suns of many summers, stood halting until their turn came to view the features of their friend of the old days, the man who had befriended them at the little valley town where they make their home.

Police and firemen filed past with their caps and helmets over their hearts and glanced at their deceased commanding officer who had died in the line of duty.

It was a tribute as sincere as it was simple. To be honored by the city for whose interest he gave his best efforts is honor indeed.

W. F. Robinson, mayor of El Paso, read the simple inscription on the bier. To this inscription could fittingly be added the single word "hero."

The Last Tribute.

El Paso's citizenship paid its last tribute to the departed mayor Tuesday morning when with bare heads and sorrowful hearts they gathered at the residence of their late executive, 719 Myrtle avenue, from which the funeral services were held. In the four directions reaching from the residence, despite the rays of a summer sun, hundreds of people of every walk and station of life stood for an hour as the simple but impressive ceremonies which formed the final tribute of respect to the deceased, were carried out.

Before the beginning of the ceremonies at 10 o'clock, scores of friends passed into the parlor of the late mayor's home to take a last look at his features. Among these were many Mexicans, hundreds of whom had occasion to feel the kindness of the mayor. Promptly at 10 o'clock, the ceremonies marking the final rites began.

Masonic Service.

The services were conducted at the home by the Blue lodge of the Masons, assisted by the Knights Templar. The latter, in full uniform, stood at port arms in two lines facing each other, outside of the house. Between these lines marched the members of the Blue lodge, followed into the house by the Templars. After beautiful renditions of the touching hymns, "Abide With Me," and "Thy Will Be Done," the Templars resumed their formation and the casket was borne to the waiting hearse. Following were the pallbearers.

The Silver Horde Another Rex Beach Story

This is enough to insure Herald readers that the new serial in The Herald is going to be one of the best they have ever had. Rex Beach is a writer whose imaginative and descriptive powers are unequalled. "The Spoilers," his great story of Alaska, which The Herald printed a few months ago, was one of the strongest that newspaper readers had ever been treated to.

His "Silver Horde," another Alaskan story, treats of the salmon fishing business and is as full of sensational and startling climaxes as any of his other works, besides containing a strong vein of comedy. Rex Beach writes of real men, hardy, strong, manly men, and he never treated his subject better than in "The Silver Horde." Opening chapters will appear tomorrow. Don't miss them.
