ROOSEVELT TO STOP OVER IN PASS CITY

This City Included in Western Itinerary of the Colonel.

T. R. will be in El Paso between March 15 and May 15. He will be here on his way from east Texas to attend the formal dedication of the Roosevelt dam at Phoenix, which was named in honor of the former president.

J. P. Orme, president of the Salt River Valley Water Users' association at Phoenix, has received a letter from Col. Roosevelt stating that it will be necessary for him to work out a schedule for his trip to the southwest before the definite date for his arrival in Phoenix can be announced. However, the president of the Phoenix Water Users' association has fixed the tentative dates between March 15 and May 15 and as the colonel will pass through El Paso en route to Phoenix, this city will be included on his itinerary. Col. Roosevelt will spend some time in central Texas at Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio and other cities of the central part of the state.

OROGRADE PERSONALS.

Orogrande, N. M., Sept. 24.—Miss Beatrice Leach left this week for Mobile, Ala., where she will live with Mrs. Anna B. Hall, sister of Miss Leach's mother, and attend the Mobile high school.

George E. Moffett, who was recently elected as a delegate to the New Mexico constitutional convention left for Santa Fe.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Hartley and little daughter, Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Miller and Holmes Hitchner spent an evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Howard Leach, near the reservoir. The game of 500 was indulged in during the evening.

Miss Rocina G. Collins, of Austin, Tex., has been engaged to teach the Brice school and has already entered upon her work. Miss Collins is a graduate of the University of Texas.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES MUST WORK ON SATURDAYS

"Thirty days hath September." And because it has only 30 days the employees of the customs house will be short one half holiday. During the months of July, August and September, the customs house has been closing on Saturdays at 1 o'clock, giving the employees a half holiday. It happens that Friday next will be the last day in the month and Saturday following will be Oct. 1. Today is the last of the half holiday series.

The city ticket offices, which have been closing today, on Saturday afternoons are contemplating revising the calendar, giving September 31 days and scheduling another half holiday from stingy old winter.

STENOGRAPHERS EXAMINED.

An examination for eligibles for appointment to the position of stenographer in the government service is being held at the federal building Saturday, under H. A. Lush, secretary of the tenth civil service district. Mr. Lush has headquarters at New Orleans, La.

I," and other candidates. The assembly candidates are avowed enemies of the so-called "Oregon system" of pledging legislative voters to vote for popular choice of United States senators regardless of the candidates' party affiliations. The fight on legislative candidates will be very brisk.

ROOSEVELT IS PLEDGED SUPPORT; TAFT COMMENDED

New York, Sept. 24.—Resolutions pledging support to Theodore Roosevelt in every campaign he may take in his effort to popularize party government and to effect equal opportunity in business "through the divorcement of business and politics," were adopted at a meeting of the executive committee of the Republican league of clubs of the state of New York, held here Friday.

A telegram was also sent to president Taft expressing approval of the stand he took in his letter to Lloyd C. Griscom defining his attitude toward the contest between Col. Roosevelt and the old guard.

BROWNE GETS REBUKE AT ILLINOIS DEMOCRATIC MEETING

East St. Louis, Ill., Sept. 24.—Lee O'Neill Brown, recently acquitted of bribery in connection with the election of United States senator Lorimer was refused recognition twice on the floor of the Illinois Democratic state convention here yesterday. As a member of the resolutions committee he was told by Roger C. Sullivan, national committeeman of the Democratic party in Illinois, not to assert himself.

The platform adopted was different in many planks from the draft which the committee took into its room. Loud words were heard from the room. These were from Browne, who called some members of the party who recently met at Peoria "blackmalers."

ROOSEVELT'S LIEUTENANTS CARRY FIGHT TO SARATOGA

Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 24.—With the departure of Col. Roosevelt's lieutenants for Saratoga today, the thick of the fight between the "old guard" and the "progressives" is moved to Saratoga. Col. Roosevelt himself will not leave for the convention until Monday.

POLICE COURT PRISONER ASSESSES HIS OWN FINE

Judge Lea Revives Practice Instituted by Him—Other Grist of Police Court.

John Sanders, arrested on a charge of drunkenness, was allowed by judge Lea to assess his own fine, which he placed at $3, when he was arraigned in police court Saturday morning. Sanders is the Swede who came to El Paso several days ago from Casas Grandes, Mex., and who, when arraigned in police court Thursday on a charge of drunkenness, said he came to El Paso with $100 and all he had left to show for it was a headache. Sanders, however, had enough money to pay his fine Saturday morning.

W. J. Dowie, a cowman from down the valley, who was also arrested Friday night on a charge of drunkenness, was released on his promise to abstain.

The hearing of Marie Coronado, charged with assault, and Mamel Badillo, charged with disturbing the peace, was continued until the Saturday afternoon session. The woman is employed at the Hidalgo theater on South El Paso street, and objective to Badillo's attentions, is alleged to have hit him over the head with a hammer. Badillo was certainly hit with something, as his head was wrapped in bandages when he appeared in court.

Pleas of guilty to vagrancy have been entered in police court by Margaret Griffith and Pearl Cain, two of the women arrested on the Wednesday night raid. Fines of $5 have been paid in each case.

SOCIAL CLUB ARRANGES FOR ITS WINTER DANCES

At a meeting of the members of the Social club Friday afternoon, C. H. Leavell was elected president; Dr. L. G. Witherspoon, treasurer, and J. B. Kilpatrick secretary. The social club will hold its dancing parties during the winter on the entertainment floor of the new Toltec club. The first dance will be given in November.

HOPPER FALLS FROM TOP OF NEW MILLS BUILDING

Weighted with concrete to be poured on the west side of the Mills buildings, a hopper dropped down the chute Saturday morning at 10:20, tearing away some of the woodwork. No one was injured. The rope used for hoisting broke, and caused the weighted hopper to fall.

CHINAMAN ORDERED DEPORTED.

Yee Sue Goon, a Chinaman arrested by immigration inspectors on the charge of being illegally in the United States, was arraigned before United States commissioner George B. Oliver Saturday morning and after trial was ordered deported to China.

ELKS DEDICATE TABLET.

At 3:30 p. m. Sunday, El Paso's lodge of Elks will dedicate a beautiful tablet to its "absent brothers." Capt. T. J. Beall will deliver the eulogy and a special choir will furnish the music.

Synopsis of Previous Chapters. Boyd Emerson and "Fingerless" Fraser enter Kalvik, Alaska, and meet a young white woman, Cherry Malotte, who shelters them.

Cherry describes the salmon fisheries and Marah, the unscrupulous head of the Kalvik cannery.

Emerson kisses Cherry goodbye. Balt, Fraser and Emerson nearly lose their lives in Katmal pass and miss the steamer at Katmal on their way out to get capital.

After dreadful privations they catch the boat at Kadiak and are soon en route to Chicago. Emerson seeks Miss Mildred Wayland.

She and Emerson are engaged. Her father, Wayne Wayland, is a millionaire. Alton Clyde offers $10,000 toward the cannery.

Balt and Emerson meet Marah in Chicago. Marah is a suitor for Mildred's hand. Marah tells Mildred about Cherry Malotte. He and Wayne Wayland plan a car-trail to the coast.

Mildred learns that Emerson and Cherry are partners. Banker Hillard, Seattle, refuses to lend Emerson $100,000. Cherry, who has arrived in Seattle, accepts a dinner invitation from Hillard.

Cherry discovers that Emerson is to marry Mildred. Marah causes annoying delays for Emerson's party. To come refuses Emerson a loan. Clyde suggests that Cherry can get the loan from Hillard.

Emerson enrages Cherry by criticising her friendly relations with Hillard. Cherry sees Hillard, who unexpectedly furnishes the money. Marah causes a strike, delaying the loading of Emerson's machinery.

Balt's fishermen fight the strikers. Fraser shoots a striker and impersonates Emerson, for whom a warrant is issued.

Emerson escapes to Kalvik. Marah follows. Fraser is released and rejoins Emerson. Emerson's machinery is tampered with. Marah builds a trap to prevent salmon from reaching Emerson's cannery site. He is mysteriously stabbed. Emerson's early life.

Salmon begin their run, but Marah hires Emerson's fishermen. Clyde threatens to sell his stock. Fraser is noncommittal to Emerson concerning Cherry's early life.

Balt threatens to kill Marah. Cherry gets a crew of Indians to help Emerson pack his salmon catch. Emerson suspects Constantine, Cherry's Indian servant, of attempting to kill Marah. Cherry tells Emerson Mildred doesn't love him if she will not help him.

Emerson's fishing crews fight Marah's. Wayland and Mildred arrive at Kalvik. Emerson tells Mildred his cannery may be a failure. She takes little interest in his work.

(Continued from Yesterday) "Brave talk!" said the older man. "But you owe $100,000, and your stockholders will learn of your mismanagement."

"Your persecution, you mean?" cried the other. "I can explain. They will wait another year. I will raise more money, and they will stand by me."

"Perhaps I know more about that than you do." Emerson strode toward the desk menacingly, crying in a quivering voice: "I warn you to keep your hands off them. Don't try any of your financial trickery with me, or I'll—"

Wayne Wayland leaped from his chair, his face purple and his eyes flashing savagely. "Leave this yacht!" he thundered. "I won't allow you to insult me. I won't stand your threats. I've got you where I want you, and when the time comes you'll know it. Now, get out!" He stretched forth a great square hand and closed it so fiercely that the fingers cracked. "I'll crush you—like that!" Boyd turned and strode from the cabin. Half blinded with anger, he stumbled down the ladder to his launch. "Back to the plant!" he ordered, then gazed with lowering brows and defiant eyes at the Grande Dame as she rested swanlike and serene at her moor-

We need fish butchers and allmers and handlers. There never was a trap site in the north till this one. I told Willis Marsh that years ago." He flung out a long, hairy arm, bared half to the shoulder, and waved it exultantly. "We built this plant to cook 40,000 salmon a day, but I'll bring you 3,000 every hour, and you've got to cook 'em. Do you hear?"

"And they couldn't cork us after all!" Emerson leaned unsteadily against a pile, for his head was whirling.

"No! We'll show that gang what a cannery can do. Marsh's traps will rot where they stand. Big George shook his tight clinched fist again. "We've won, my boy! We've won!"

"Then don't let us stand here talking!" cried Emerson sharply. "Hurry! Hurry!" He turned and sped up the dock.

He had come into his own at last, and he vowed with tight shut teeth that no wheel should stop, no belt should slacken, no man should leave his duty, till the run had passed. At the entrance to the throbbing, clanging building he paused an instant and with a smile looked toward the yacht floating lazily in the distance. Then, with knees sagging beneath him from weariness, he entered.
