

"El Paso Day at the Fair" To Have a Rival Here Tomorrow

See The Windows

Now that El Paso Day has come to a close, and been a big success, we propose to make tomorrow an unusually attractive day here. While we have selected only a limited number of items to advertise, you can come and find dozens of others just as attractive as these quoted.

The Coat Question Settled for $10.00

Our $10.00 Coat Sale last Saturday proved such a good trade-bringer and gave customers so much satisfaction, we have selected for tomorrow 50 more coats, the same number as on sale last Saturday. In many cases, these coats are even better values than those on special sale Saturday.

These are full length coats, mixtures principally, the heavy mannish weaves that are the favorites this season. Many coats are in belted effect. Trimmings are principally big buttons, stitched straps, and so forth. If you want a coat to wear every day, one that will keep its shape, and look almost as well at the end of the winter as it did at the beginning—come tomorrow, early, and select one of these fifty. They should sell for considerably more than $10.00; but tomorrow, while they last, we give you choice at $10.00.

Remember, after these fifty are sold, we can sell no more at this price. Come early tomorrow morning, secure a stylish, serviceable winter coat for a ten dollar bill.

Extra! --Maribout Scarfs

This is one of the most unusual values of this, or any other, season. These scarfs are 5-strand, and 2 yards long. The color range is limited to black, gray and brown; $7.50 and $8.00 has been paid many a time for scarfs not as handsome as these. We make them a Thursday bargain at $4.95.

Two Garments You Can't Possibly Get Along Without

Silk Kimonos

Silk Kimonos are a special feature for tomorrow. These are full length kimonos, cut extra wide and unusually well made. Come in a full range of Oriental and conventional designs and colorings, and are regular $5.00 values. We make them a Thursday Bargain at $2.95

Flannelette Gowns

Warm flannelette gowns in white and colors; there is a complete range of sizes to select from. Cold winter nights require cozy flannelette gowns. Better lay in a supply tomorrow. These are regular $1.25 gowns; we make them a Thursday Bargain at 95c

Thursday Skirt Offer

Values to $10.00 For $6.75

This offer also comprises just 50 garments. Every style of the season is represented—the plain gown, the many pleated models and the "hobble" effects. Materials are panamas, tweeds, hard finished worsteds, serges, and some few voiles. Solid colors are offered, as well as the mixtures. The majority of these skirts are self-trimmed—with self bands, self straps, etc. Also many skirts are button-trimmed. Skirts in values to $10.00—just 50 of them—priced tomorrow, while they last, choice—

The injured are: Fireman J. Munn, of Teague, scalded and internally injured, and baggageman L. S. Brewer, of Dallas, skull crushed, leg and arm fractured. A number of passengers were slightly hurt and are being conveyed to this city by a relief train.

Physicians were hurried to the scene in autos. The freight train was running on passenger train time.

LETTERS INTRODUCED IN STREIGHT MURDER TRIAL

Waco, Tex., Nov. 2.—When the trial of Minnie Straight, charged with murdering her husband, was resumed this morning the state offered in evidence three letters alleged to have been written by the defendant to men acquaintances. Experts on hand writing declare the letters were written by the same hand after examining the writing.

One of the letters was addressed to Robert Wood and began "Darling Robert," and abounded in endearing terms. Another letter was to the husband she is charged with killing and spoke of him lovingly.

POLICE PRESENT STAR TO CHIEF

Chief of police B. F. Jenkins is today wearing a new gold badge, the gift of the policemen on the force. It is a five pointed star of gold with an emerald setting. The presentation of the badge was made Tuesday evening by J. R. Harper and mayor Kelly. The speech was made by Mr. Harper and the badge was presented by mayor Kelly in behalf of the policemen.

ALAMOGORDO HAS A FIRE; LOSS $3500.

Alamogordo, N. M., Nov. 2.—Fire destroyed W. E. Carmack's grocery and provision warehouse at 9 o'clock last night. The loss is $3500. The origin of the fire is unknown.

FRIENDS SEEK NEVILLE.

A letter asking for information as to the whereabouts of Jas. H. Neville has been received by the police department from Mrs. William Reynolds of 2246 West Seventh street, Cleveland, Ohio. The letter states that Neville's mother is very ill.

Dr. L. D. Ricketts, of the Cananea Consolidated Mining company, is in the city, accompanied by D. A. Packard, who holds the distinction of being the "cattle king of Arizona."

Mrs. Cecil P. Hostetter and young son have returned from Omaha, Neb., where Mrs. Hostetter visited her aunts.

WHO WILL BE THE QUEEN OF FAIR CARNIVAL?

additional interest for the fair crowds. Motorcyle Races.

The list of events for the first annual motorcyle meet to be held in connection with the fair by the El Paso Motorcyle club has been announced. The list includes six events, two five mile races, two 10 mile races, a 10 mile handicap and a 10 mile novelty race. The fair association offers a purse of $150 and merchant and motorcyle dealers have offered prizes. The races will start at 2:30 Saturday afternoon and will continue during the entire afternoon, with a double header baseball game going on at the same time.

Queen of the Carnival.

The contest for the selection of the queen of the international fete and masked carnival Saturday evening on the Overland Trail is increasing in interest. In addition to being crowned queen of the carnival, the winner will also receive a diamond ring. The result of the voting to date is as follows: Mrs. M. Tobias, 1200; Miss Esther Berg, 730; Miss Annie Arant, 1134; Mrs. T. G. Woodman, 620; Miss Vera O'Hara, 320.

DOG SHOW A FINE ANIMAL EXHIBITION

Nearly 200 dogs are being shown in the kennels at the fair grounds. Wednesday morning the barking and the growling of the pets could be heard all over the grounds. There are some beautiful canines in the pens and while the bulldog is still the favorite in El Paso, there are many other varieties.

H. H. Brokenbrow has two fine Scotch collies, one of them 14 months old, named Lassie. She is white with the nose in brown and is the shepherd type, while Belle, which is but nine months old, and is brown and black, occupies the next kennel.

One white bull is seen with her pups in a pen and Alvin Dixon has a pair of fine Boston bull terriers as are to be found, while J. Buckner exhibits a pair of English spotted coach dogs.

In one kennel is Doty, a Boston bull owned by James White and in the next kennel is her grandmother, Buzz, owned by Burt Orndorff, while Doty's father, Trip, also owned by Burt Orndorff, occupies a kennel at the other end of the building.

Dr. French S. Cary exhibits Madamoiselle FI, a black and white Chihuahua that weighs but 2 1/4 pounds and for which he has prepared a special basket, she is so small. There are several other Chihuahuas but they are all much larger.

Several fine fox terriers are exhibited from the Sabine kennels at Orange, Tex. There are French poodles, little white fluffy dogs with hair as soft as lamb's wool, coach dogs, collies, sky terriers, King Charles spaniels, bull dogs of every known kind, Italian greyhounds without a bit of hair and many other varieties.

FINE EXHIBITS OF EL PASO SCHOOLS

Displays of Manual Training Work Are Particularly Clever.

The exhibit in the true booths which the El Paso public schools occupy at the fair grounds in the main exhibit building is very attractive, although hardly as good as last year.

Several patterns in brass work and cut and burned leather are shown in the manual training department, together with woodwork done by the pupils. Included are two windmills, one of which stands nearly four feet high and the other about a foot smaller. There are two childrens play wagons made by pupils, and several blue prints drawn by the pupils, indicating remarkable, thoughtful and care.

In the domestic art department many a man stops and sighs as he looks at the hats and wishes his wife could make one like some of those on exhibition. There are also hand embroidered napkins, lacework and drawwork.

That there are cooks among the young students is shown by the display of cakes, buns, bread, and preserves. There is also an exhibition of laundry work that would make the most experienced laundress feel envious.

The boys have learned their lessons well in the carpentry department, for there is one booth in which they have fitted up themselves from handwork of their own. In this booth is a round center table, a sofa with heavy cushions, a small bookcase for ready reference volume and another with glass front for those less frequently read; a writing table, four chairs and a cushioned settee. All are finished in mission, and, to carry out the desired effect, a mission electric light hangs over the center table. The workmanship is first class.

In the art department are shown several paintings by the children, notable among which is the reproduction of an old adobe room of a farmhouse with the walls battered in and the adobe fence in front gone to ruin. Then there are two ears of corn which look natural enough to eat.

Some penmanship is shown in the high school commercial department. Miss Alma Anderson has two pieces of work that merit special attention, owing to their oddity and the care shown in their preparation. Both are exhibitions of the new muscular movement in penmanship and both of the same design, though one is heavy and the other light. In the center of each is a five pointed star made by circles.

L. R. Schuster has a chart in which he caricatures all of his classmates, and which is cleverly done.

"Texas Under Six Flags," is the title of a book prepared by the students. The flags of Spain, Mexico, Texas, the Confederacy and the United States show beautiful colors and are the work of high school artists, while the inscriptions on the cover and inside were made by Miss Josie Tipton.

Anna Kelly and Alice Watson each have a salt map of Texas, well done. Away back at the end of the long exhibition hall is a little booth of much interest. El Paso was the first city in the state to establish a kindergarten, and the work done at present indicates that it still is in point of efficiency as well as in its establishment.

Little dolls cut from paper, and animals cut from clay, some of them nothing more than grotesque shapes, yet indicative of the desire of the little ones to learn, are in the exhibit. The Douglas school for the negro pupils has a booth to itself and some of the work there compares most favorably with that done by the white children. There are drawings and paintings and much handwork, but little of the manual training is shown, owing to the small size of the booth.

CURRAN'S 108 MESA AVENUE

ARTISTS TO MEET AT THE FAIR ON FRIDAY

The Art club met yesterday and made final arrangements for the life class to begin work the second Thursday in November.

The members have a good showing at the fair. Mrs. T. Waller's tapestry is most excellent, showing a hunting scene in soft browns. Mrs. Waller has also a fine exhibit of decorated china, particularly the collection in violets especially good, and the fish set would do credit to a larger city than El Paso.

Friday morning at 9 o'clock the Art club will be before the Art exhibit at the fair to listen to criticisms by Mrs. Jacquard and Mrs. Elwell.

All who are interested will be welcome.

FAIR NOTES.

"The Shadow of the Cross," a painting, is on exhibition in the merchants' and manufacturers' building on the main aisle.

Photographs were taken by the different booths of the school exhibit Tuesday for the permanent display of the schools. Miss Alice Fitzpatrick and Miss Mary Stanton were in charge of the school exhibit during the day Tuesday, each of the principals being assigned to the exhibit one day during the fair.

Ice water barrels are placed at convenient locations in different parts of the ground and are kept filled with ice water by the superintendent of the grounds.

Willie Reed is in charge of the secretary's outside office and W. C. Jones is at the employees' gate desk.

The grounds are being kept as clean as the model kitchen in the merchants' and manufacturers' building. Supt. S. C. Patton has a force of laborers at work cleaning the buildings and grounds and the park never looked prettier than it has this week.

The Berino-Anthony district is being well advertised by the Berino-Anthony Farmers' association of Anthony, N. M. Folders boosting the lower Mesilla valley are being distributed in all of the buildings and a number of the valley folks are at the fair to tell of the wonders of the fertile valley of the Rio Grande.

Van Patton's Metchosne Indians from Las Cruces will appear in the Os-Aple parade Thursday night in all of the bright colors they wear in giving their ceremonial dance. The Indians are giving dances each day and evening on the Trail in the pavilion formerly occupied by the merrygoround.

The balloon ascension, which was given Tuesday for the second time, seemed a tame affair compared to the daring flights made by Charles K. Hamilton at the same grounds last spring in his aeroplane. Hamilton did stunts with his aeroplane that make a balloon look as awkward as a cow trying to do a trot.

"Pip" Carson, who rode Sunline in the first race, made 109 pounds scale weight, but his wrist had lost some of its cunning and the best he could do was an also ran position in the first running race.

The blue badges of the National Mohair Growers association are seen in all parts of the grounds. The goat men are bringing into everything at the fair, cottonwood drive from the main drive of the park to the livestock pavilion is one of the prettiest in the park and it leads past where all of the blooded harness horses are stabled.

A blacksmith shop is in full operation on the harness horse row for repairing an shoeing the racing horses.

Miss A. L. Dietrich, of St. Mark's hospital, is in charge of the day nursery, R. I. for bucks one year or over.

She is assisted by Miss E. D. Greeno, another graduate nurse. Dick McMahon has none of the string of horses that he brought here for the first race meeting three years ago. Cit-tion is no longer on the track and So-mono Girl went lame at Dallas and has to be left there. Mr. McMahon has Col. Forrest, a five-year-old, who was bred in old Kentucky at the famous Lexington stock farm.

Jay Buckner is the mounted marshal for the races. Judge C. E. Hunter is the presiding judge and starter at the races in both harness and running events. E. J. Peterson, Dennis Hadley and W. J. Jolley are the associate judges.

Owing to the condition of Gov. Francis W. O'Foster's horse, the match race Wednesday afternoon between Gov. Francis and Dick McMahon's Fair Maiden has been changed to a match between Fair Maiden and Wild Girl, owned by J. C. Wallace.

In machinery table the Texas Fiber company has a machine that is turning out fiber from the ordinary spiny bear grass that grows in the desert sections of the southwest and throughout Mexico.

The entire garrison of the 53d infantry will attend the Os-Aple parade at the fair grounds Thursday night. The men will be in full dress uniform and will march at the head of the procession. This is a feature arranged for Tuesday through the kindness of Col. A. C. Sharpe, and will add much to the pageant.

Among the exhibitors in the dog show is F. J. Dearborn of Orange, Texas, whose fox terrier, Sabine R. won the blue ribbon at the Crystal palace in London, Eng., being the only American dog to take away a prize there.

An El Paso made portiere of unique design and workmanship is exhibited at the fair by T. A. Wise of 1204 Nevada street, El Paso. It required the use of 2300 Eucalyptus buds and 7000 glass beads. It hangs near the entrance to the women's department, and is of rare manufacture.

NATIONAL MOHAIR GROWERS CONVENE

The National Mohair Growers' association is in session at the chamber of commerce. The morning and early afternoon were given over to forming the first constitution of the association, which was organized last year.

In person or by proxy, 145 members are represented. An election of officers will be held before the conclusion of the convention.
