

SUNDAY GAMES ARE FAKE PITCHER'S BATTLES

Pedregon and Dukas Are at Their Best and Give Good Exhibitions of Pitching Skill.

The fans that journeyed to Washington Park Sunday afternoon were treated to the best exhibitions of pitcher's battles that have been seen on the Park diamond his season.

In the second game Harbin had the Miller completely at his mercy, striking out 15 men in the entire game, allowing only two hits and yielding up one base on balls.

The first game. Three errors in the second inning yielded the Internationals their only score of the day in the first game. Dukas was never in danger at any time and if he had received the proper support at that stage the game would have lasted over the prescribed seven innings.

Fort Bliss, Dukas and Granth; Internationals Pedregon and E. Mees.

The second game. After pitching three full innings the White Sox fell on to Armstrong in the fourth and fifth innings of the second game Sunday and knocked him out of the box, setting seven hits and scoring five runs.

VANDERBILT'S HORSE WINS. GOLDEN HORSE RACE SECOND. Paris, France, July 31.—W. S. Vanderbilt's chestnut colt, Montrose II, won the Omnium de Deux Ans at the Maison-Lafitte track Sunday.

The stake was worth $15,000 and was at five and a half furlongs. The same owner's Gibraltar won the Prix d'Argy a selling event at five furlongs, F. J. Gould's Conti La Belle finished second in the Prix Champagne, a handicap at one mile, four and a half furlongs.

There isn't a bit of doubt in my mind as to which of the tens of thousands of plays I witnessed was the greatest. It was a play made by Bill Lange when he was playing centerfield for the Chicago club many years ago.

The game had been close and exciting all the way. I happened to be sitting with Earl Wagner, then owner of the Washington club, Uncle Nick Young and some others, and years afterward every man who was in our party agreed the play to be the greatest he ever witnessed.

Chicago had scored one run in the first of the tenth inning and seemed to have the game well in hand, when came to bat. I believe Clark Griffith was pitching for us. At any rate Selbach hit a fast high ball and hit so far and so hard that it looked as if it would go entirely over the centerfield fence. I believe everyone in the stands who saw the ball start thought it ended the game and gave Washington the victory.

Some of the Chicago players watched the ball, then turned and started off the field, thinking it was useless to remain.

It happened that Anson had fined Lang $100 that morning for some alleged fraction of the rules. Lange was in center field. When he saw the ball hit he turned until his back was directly toward the field and started straight out, sprinting as hard as he could. He was an immense man and ran like a deer. I think I never saw him run as fast as he did then.

He did not look to see where the ball was going, but tore on and on. Actually he seemed to be running after the ball and catching up with it. Just as the ball was passing over his head and falling out of reach Lange turned his face upward, saw the ball, threw up his hands and leaped after it. The ball struck his hands. Lange turned a complete somersault and while upside down his body crashed against the center field fence. The entire fence shook as his 225 pound smashed against it. The boards of one panel cracked and broke and an instant later Lange crawled out of the wreckage of the fence panel and held up the ball.

That crowd was stunned. For a whole minute, it seemed, not a person yelled—and then everyone yelled at once. I remember Wagner and Nick Young and I yelled together and beat each other on the backs, unable to speak for sheer amazement at the wonderful feat. The crowd, disappointed as it was over the defeat of Washington, stood and cheered Lange for five minutes while he limped back to the bench.

It was a marvelous catch, and it saved Lange the $100, as Anson remarked the fine as soon as he could speak to the big center fielder.

with two out in the last half of the inning two of the Washington players reached the bases, and Al Selbach, who at that time was a great hitter,

LIVELY BOXING AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Cleverness Is Displayed by Young Pugilists of El Paso.

Some of the best boxing ever seen in El Paso was held Saturday night in the Y. M. C. A. "Frym" and as a result, champions in the various classes were named.

The first bout was in the 125 pound class between Mullen and Reed. Mullen easily had the best of his opponent throughout the three rounds, and during that time, he knocked Reed to the ropes five times.

The second bout was in the 155 pound class between Jack Roman and "Hefty" Stevenson. Roman won on clean hits and aggressiveness. Stevenson landed a few good ones, and made a number of wild rushes and swings, one of which floored Roman.

The third bout was in the 115 pound class between Molitane and Cushman. Molitane was a regular perpetual motion machine, but Cushman floored him twice during the second round.

The fourth bout was a preliminary in the 158 pound class, between John Burch and LeRoy Pickens. Both men were evenly matched, and Pickens exhibited fine foot work, but Burch was the aggressor, and won out after a clean fight after sparring for wind during the latter part of the third round.

Pickens was knocked to the floor in the second round. The final bout was between "Red" Stevenson and Lamar Thomas, in the 135 pound class. Thomas, although a new man in the ring, had it all over "Red" in the first two rounds, but during the third round, "Red" began to slug and after a series of nasty wild punches "Red" hooked Thomas on the jaw which laid him on the floor.

The fight was immediately called by referee Harris, and Thomas was assisted out of the ring. Stevenson suffered a mashed nose as a result of one of Thomas' punches, but he drew no blood on Thomas.

A. N. Harris refereed the bouts, and W. H. Glasgow and Frank Corryell were the judges.

AWARDS ARE MADE BY THE RIFLE CLUB

In Sunday's shoot at the El Paso Rifle club, Haines was the winner of the hunting knife, having won it five times. Pringle having the three highest scores for the month, won the medal for July. Haines also won the trophy cup for the day.

The following were the scores made in the different events:

Table with columns: Medal Knife, Cup. Rows: Haines, Pringle, Miller, Penaford, Penabaker, Bradshaw, Marsden, DeShazo, Bulwer, Peinado.

There were a number of visitors present, and these, together with the riflemen, were given a treat by master Sam Forsgard, the champion shot gun and rifle shot of the world for his age, being only 12 years old. His shooting both with shotgun and rifle was marvelous and the exhibition was enjoyed by all present.

The Greatest Play As Told To Hugh S. Fullerton

By JAMES A. HART. That I Ever Saw

Former President and Owner Chicago Club and for Years One of the Leading Geniuses in Baseball.

Gossip of Games Here and On Other Fields of Sport

(By Ted Mooring.)

Pedregon, Caro and Chaparoo pulled out in a fast double in the third inning Sunday. With a man on second and first, a pop fly was hit to pitcher Pedregon. The runner on second was only off the base six feet, but before he could get back Pedregon threw to Caro at the sack catching the runner Car at two feet. Executing a half turn Caro shot the ball to first, catching Herd before he could get back to the bag. Neither of the base runners were over ten feet from their respective sacks and quick playing was required to get them.

The feature of the Saturday game was a one-handed stop by Chenoweth of Jones' grounder in the seventh and a fast peg to first. The ball looked good for a hit, but Chenny scooped it up on the run and before fully getting his balance pegged Jones out at first.

Nagle adopted Ty Cobb's style of base running in the Saturday game. On Chenoweth's short hit to right field, Nagle scored from second base, getting safe by using the fall-a-way slide.

Dawson made a one-handed running catch in the Saturday game of a fly to left center that looked good for a hit. He endeavored to peg home without getting his balance and threw wild, the man scoring.

Too much familiarity with an electric fan cost pitcher Cyrus Morgan, of the Philadelphia Athletics, the tip of his pitching finger. Morgan was playing with the fan at the time of the accident.

Rain stopped the second game for a short period Sunday. The first inning was played in a hard rain, but the players suspended operations for about ten minutes to let the shower pass.

Harry Steinfield is another of the big league players to collapse under the strain of the 1911 season. He is ill at his home in Cincinnati with nervous prostration.

It is thought that Fred Beebe will not be able to pitch again this season. He endeavored to stop a line drive with his bare hand and had it badly crushed as a result.

Catcher Charley Moran secured his release from the Dallas team at his own request. He said his teammates played too much individual ball. Moran went to Montgomery, Ala., after obtaining his release.

Magner, one of the new recruits of manager Chase, is the smallest player in the major leagues. He only weighs 120 pounds.

In the fourth inning in the first game Sunday, both sides were retired with four pitched balls.

Dred Cavender will act as a scout for Dallas.

PRESIDENTE STILL CONFINED IN JAIL

Efforts of Friends to Get Colonia Juarez Official Out Prove Failures.

Colonia Juarez, Mexico, July 31.—The Colonia Juarez presidente is still in jail at Casas Grandes. His friends are trying to bond him out.

The Chuchupia people are making cheese. Mr. Yader is milking 137 cows and William Williams is milking 70.

Lee Webb had his mule taken from him Wednesday while passing through Casas Grandes. He took the first train north and has gone to Chihuahua to procure papers to regain possession of his mule.

Doctor Gay, of Nueva Casas Grandes, is very busy. He has quite a number of patients in String Town, Casas Grandes, and in Colonia Juarez.

The main difficulty seems to be with the children, their stomachs are affected. Doctor West, of Pearson venerated to do the work for them for the cost of the materials.

Smallpox exists in Pearson, Casas Grandes and in San de Sirdio or String Town.

James Hush with several members of his family have gone to Colonia Morelos for a visit with his brother.

A general convention of all the auxiliary organizations will be held August 12 and 13, then will follow the school convention for the State teachers in Colonia Juarez. It is expected that school will open the latter part of August.

The damage done by the storm in Pearson was very heavy. Nearly all of the houses are covered to the roof of tar roof and when that beating rain and severe hail storm struck them, holes were pounded through. Most of the houses will have to have new roofs, costing thousands of dollars.

A bridge over the Arroyo Seco was washed out causing a delay in the outgoing passenger train and it was washed out again Thursday causing a delay in the freight train to another bridge.

The rain was so heavy and severe at the camps on the railroad that a great deal of their provisions were washed away. Emerald Stout says they would have to store their provisions in the tops of the trees if they were put out of the way of the flood waters.

Erastus Beck, of California, has been visiting in Colonia Juarez, his old home. He is talking of returning to Mexico and may rebuild his home here.

Joseph Spencer has come in from Galeana. He took his threshing machine over there, but he could not draw it from one setting to another because of the excessive rain fall.

A great deal of lucern hay has been spoiled both here and in Colonia Juarez, but they are hauling it for cow feed.

The finest kind of peaches are selling in Dublin for six cents Mex. per kilo, or two pounds and one fifth. Elmer Thayne has a large herd of fine hogs on the Tapscott hunting their own food and doing well.

SEVEN HUNDRED OUT IN RUBBER STRIKE Soap Workers at Gomez Palacio Return to Work at Old Wages.

Torrone, Mex., July 31.—There had been no change in the strike situation at the plant of the Continental-Mexican rubber company, where 700 men have been out since Sunday morning, July 22.

The strike at La Esperanza soap works in Gomez Palacio was practically broken when the boilers in the soap making department were lighted and a number of employees asked to be reinstated. The balance of the 609 who were out followed this lead with the result that the plant is now in operation with the same force as before the strike without an increase in wages. Complete order prevailed throughout the strike.

Passengers on the north bound Central train report the arrest of 178 second class passengers at Augustacalientes. These were people all of whom had tickets to points north of Torreón. The passengers stated that the rumor was current that they were suspected Magonistas. They were taken to jail.

You can easily tell it. Call Bell 115, Auto 1115, tell the girl what it is and The Herald will sell it. No bother, no formality.

BIG TELEGRAPH RECEIPTS. Austin, Tex., July 31.—The gross receipts of the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone company in Texas for the past three months aggregated $1,951,125.48, according to the quarterly report filed in the controller's department. The company paid into the treasury department a tax of 1 1/2 percent on the gross receipts, which amounted to $15,913.90.

VERIFY IT. The Proof is in El Paso Almost of Your Door. The public statement of an El Paso citizen is in itself strong proof for El Paso people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence. Here is an El Paso citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved sick kidneys and now states the cure was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ailments ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home. Mrs. H. F. Stacey, 2131 E. Missouri St., El Paso, Tex., says: "Over two years have elapsed since I publicly testified in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills, but I have had no reason to change my high opinion of this remedy. Doan's Kidney Pills entirely relieved me of backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble from which I suffered a great deal. I again advise other kidney sufferers to procure a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Kelly & Pollard's Drug Store and give them a trial." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents.
