 communities would consider themselves warranted in taking forcible possession if neeesary of the private lands，destroying fencese and buildings，and runing off and stealing livestock if the government dia not sooner make some sort of general distribution of property． Agitators，especially in the districts remote from large cities，have persus classe circulated false promises of a general division of the land，and it is from the classes so appealed to that serious trouble might be expected in the near future when such extravagant promises failed to materialize．While Mr．Madero＇s announce－ that it will make for peace，oror it is probabie that it will not be reeceived with popular acclaim by those Mexicans who have had their appetites whetted by the extravagant promises of demagogs who claimed authority as revolutionary leaders Mose a land tax，which will force the ewneds of fastion of tratt land molthen to dopoly is to the im of to turn them loose，inasmuch as the burden of taxation would become too heavy If there were no adequate use made of the land to produce wealth from its cul－ ivation and colonization．Such govermment lands as still remain will bo openect United States． Madero＇s address before the convention at Mexico city was characterized by saneness and conservatism．If he can ennorce bis views of fair play in the exercise of the popular suffrage and in the treatment of foreign and home capital，he will be entitled to recognition as a statesman of much ability．His chief danger in that so much more has been promised by his associates and subordinate leaderis than can possibly be made good in a reasonable length of time，that he will be continully forced to expluinary program．Whether he or another be elected president of the re public，ample time ought to be allowed for working out the great economic an political changes for which the revolution was feught．It took 15 years，to reator months have elapped since arms were grounded in Mexico．

|  | A GREAT ocean liner when it is going into its dock shuts off its own power and allows a lot of small tugs to pull it in．This is not because the great ship could not go＇in under its own power，but because of the danger that it may damage either itself or the dock in trying it．The vessel is powerful enough to do the work alone，but the consequences might be dire if it tried．  The great ocean liner might be compared to somegnen or institutions．They are great enough to accomplish that which they set out to do，but shutting off steam and learing some of the work to lesser lights，often results in a great sav－ ing．The great man may be able to do the small things，too，but he may lose enough while he is working over them，to more than offset his original saving． | mapped，and protected with soldiers when the United States acquired control of this southwestern region from Mexico；and＂Old Military road＂would not be a bad name for it now． The upper valley rond is part of the extention of the ancient＂Santa $\mathrm{Fe}_{\mathrm{e}}$ Trail＂； the SSanta Fe Trail proper extended from Westport，near the present Kansas City， to Santa Fe，but at that point it joined the much oider highway of traffic extend－ ing from Chihuhua to Santa Fe，and this part of the road from E1 Paso to Santa Fe may propery he called part of the Old Santa Fe Trail Fe may property be called part of the Old Santa Fe Trail If the name＂Hanta Fe road＂were adopted it might be confused with the trilway，but the name＂Santa Fe Trail＂never could be confused with anything． railway，but the name＂Santa Fe Trail＂never could be confused with anything． It is by all odds the most appropriate title for the up valley roed，perpetuating a bistorical zame and fact of the highest significance． ＂Seing conservative in real estate does not always pay＂is as true of Paso as it is of Los Andeles or aty 1 yneme
