JEALOUSIES SPLIT THE SONORA FEDERAL FORCE

Douglas, Ariz., June 18.—What looks like the disintegration of the federal army of Sonora, which has been mobilizing at Agua Prieta for a week, took place this morning as a result of bitter bickering between the would-be commanders in chief, vice governor Eusebio H. Gayou, of Sonora, originally replaced Giuseppe Garibaldi, who was reduced to recruiting officer to raise and command a force of 500 volunteers. The quarrel continued.

FEDERALS SAID TO BE NEAR TO JUAREZ

Investigation Fails to Locate Force Reported Opposite Ysleta. Federals to the number of 100, each mounted and wearing a band of red, white and green ribbon across his chest, were reported to have been seen opposite Ysleta by a soldier of the river patrol Tuesday evening. The federals were said to have a machine gun. The soldier told it to the corporal and the corporal told it to a civilian, who repeated it to someone else. The report finally reached the office of Col. Steever Tuesday night, but an investigation failed to reveal any federals that could be notified by the officers of the guard stationed at Ysleta. Col. Steever says that he gave no credence to the report. Col. Pascual Orozco is said to have heard the report and sent his family to El Paso to spend the night Tuesday.

GOVERNOR TO BE QUICKLY ADVISED

The Sheriff to Let Colquitt Know When Danger of Bullets Threatens. In pursuance to a telegram received by Sheriff Peyton J. Edwards from adjutant general Henry Hutchins, governor Colquitt will be immediately informed if there is any probability of firing on Texas soil in the vicinity of El Paso or elsewhere, by belligerents from the other side, so that prompt action may be taken. What that action would be was not stated. The message addressed to the sheriff comes as an aftermath of the communication sent by Col. Orozco to Col. E. Z. Steever bearing on the latter's action in detaining rebel arms and ammunition, and that he could not be responsible for the acts of the rebel soldiers if the United States permits Madero to send men and ammunition to Juarez.

CHIEF POSTOFFICE INSPECTOR OF MEXICO PASSES THROUGH

Senor P. E. Enriquez, chief of the postoffice inspection department of the Mexican government, is here on his way to Washington, where he will have a conference with postmaster general Frank Hitchcock regarding the banding of mails between the United States and Mexico. The chief postoffice inspector says that he will not take up the handling of the Chihuahua mail with the postoffice department, as the present arrangement will continue until the federals are again in control of the state.

FEDERALS REPORT DEFEAT OF BUNCH OF REBELS

Manatlan, Mexico, June 18.—In a brief engagement at Santa Maria del Oro near Tepic—according to federal reports—a federal force of 150 defeated 400 Confederates on the night of June 18. Thirty-two rebels and one federal were killed. The federals captured many prisoners, arms and horses.

FEDERALS CALL SUNDAY'S FIGHTING FEDERAL VICTORY

Torreon, Mexico, June 18.—The vanguard of Gen. Huerta's army routed a band of rebels, 15 miles south of Ba-chimba, last Sunday in a battle lasting from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until 11 o'clock at night, according to news received at federal headquarters here yesterday. DYNAMITING CREW AGAIN IN THE FIELD

American Bridge Destroyers Cross to Mexico to Cut Communication. Capt. Oscar Creighton's dynamiting crew has been reorganized in El Paso and is now in the field below Juarez. The purpose of the dynamiting crew, which is operating under orders from the Mexican federal government, it is said, is to dynamite the big eight-mile bridge along the line between Juarez and Samalayuca so that no more troops or supply trains may be run between Juarez and Chihuahua. The dynamiting crew, which was organized in El Paso, it is said, crossed above the smelter on the New Mexico side of the river, and took with it a quantity of dynamite, caps and fuse for exploding it. The men in charge of the dangerous work are Americans and according to tips, are under command of Charpentier, the federal artilleryman, who was with Willis at Babel. It is said to have three other Americans, all crack shots, with him and they have been instructed to put the dynamite out of business so that no more trains may be operated over it by the rebels from the Juarez garrison. This same dynamiting crew took the field several days ago for the purpose of destroying the bridges along the Central, but while the men were asleep the dynamite which they carried was washed away by the heavy rains and they were forced to return to the border to procure more explosives for the destruction of the bridges. Before returning, the men had a brush with a rebel company near Samalayuca. The dynamiters appeared at a ranch house after being told that there were no rebels in the immediate vicinity. When the men appeared at the ranch house door, a rebel sentry challenged the Americans, who immediately opened fire upon the sentry, according to the report brought back by them. The four then escaped on horseback and succeeded in reaching the international line, where they crossed and came to El Paso for more supplies of explosives.

AMERICAN KILLED BY YAQUI TROOPS

Tried to Fight His Way Out When Yaquis Attacked Tuti's Band. Douglas, Arizona, June 18.—Mike McClellan, formerly a candy maker in Cananea and a well known character of the big camp across the border, was shot and killed by the command of captain Chavez, while attempting to fight his way out of the ring of federal soldiers who had exterminated the outlaw Tuti and his band. McClellan left Cananea several months prior to the time that he was killed, going to the Yaqui river country and engaging in farming. In this pursuit he was not successful and when Tuti and his band came along, he is said to have been easily persuaded to join them. When Chavez and his Yaqui soldiers surrounded Tuti and his brigades, they knew that the Irish-American was with outlaws. The captain had given orders that he was to be taken a prisoner. McClellan, however, was not aware of this, attempted to fight his way out. It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts at each application. Try it and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. Sold by all dealers.

ARMIES NOT YET READY TO FIGHT

Federals and Rebels Drawing Closer, However, Below Chihuahua. (By Associated Press.) Chihuahua, Mex., June 18.—With the long wooden bridge at Ortiz, 15 miles south of Bachimba, burned out by the rebels and the federal forces still in the neighborhood of Santa Rosalia, 50 miles away, there appears no likelihood of an immediate encounter of consequence, though skirmishing is anticipated daily. Sixty-five miles separates the federal base at Santa Rosalia from the main rebel army at Ortiz 55 miles south of this city along the Mexican Central railroad. The rebels who were engaged in vanguard fighting in and about La Cruz have fallen back to Concho, 25 miles south of Ortiz, and the federal army is at liberty again to move up to Concho, where they have crossed the river with their artillery. The net result of the fighting thus far has been nothing more than a tryst in which the rebels appeared to have a slight advantage, as they repulsed an effort of the federals to flank the main rebel army. Rebels Reach Madero. Col. Miguel Gamboa, who is in command of the rebel forces operating along the Mexican North Western railroad between Pecos and Juarez, arrived at Madero today with 60 men. He reports the Galeana district entirely under rebel control, and that he was en route to Casas Grandes, for which place the big federal columns advancing from Sonora are believed to be heading. A scouting party of 50 was sent west from here today to guard against possible surprises. Luis Chavez, formerly a government leader at Aguila on the Mexican North Western, has offered his services to the revolution with a small band of men. Chavez declared his only reason for supporting the government had been his impression that the rebels were supported by the Cientificos element in Mexico, of which he had been disillusioned.

PELEA PEOPLE HEAR MANY SHOTS NEARBY

Custom inspectors stationed at Pelela N. heard more than 200 shots from the direction of the Bauche mountains late Tuesday night. It is thought that the fighting between the crews and the rebel outposts of the Juarez garrison had clashed. AMERICAN DOCTOR GIVEN LIBERTY BY THE FEDERALS Mexico City, Mexico, June 18.—Dr. D. C. Crossman, an American, who was arrested by the federal authorities in Tepic on a charge of having aided revolutionists in that territory, has been released from custody here. Dr. Crossman protested that he had been forced by threats to go into the field and care for wounded rebels. On this plea the war department dismissed the charge. Metcalf Gorney and a negro, both of whom claimed American citizenship, also were released. They were arrested on charges of aiding rebels. GERMAN CONSUL AT CHIHUAHUA IS HERE. Otto Kueck, German consul at Chihuahua, Mex., is visiting friends among the German colony in Juarez and El Paso. New suitcases for sale at Bryan Bros.

ASKS CHIHUAHUANS TO ABANDON REVOLT

Blanco Issues Manifesto; Yaqui Chief Fights for Madero. Douglas, Ariz., June 18.—Prior to starting for Chihuahua, Gen. Jose de la Luz Blanco, commander of the Sonora federal army of invasion, has issued a manifesto in which he advances arguments as to why the rebel cause should be abandoned. In his manifesto Gen. Blanco tells his people: "I am not returning to my dear state to destroy my brothers, no. I am coming to you with open arms, full of enthusiasm and faith, to convince you that you have fallen into error, in taking arms anew, in order to war again, against the blood of your own sons, on this blood of the Chihuahuans. According to Gen. Blanco, a squad of 25 men left Agua Prieta yesterday afternoon to meet a force of 250 soldiers who are due to arrive across the line sometime tomorrow. This battalion has been recruited near the Sonora-Chihuahua line and will join with the Sonora army now formed in Agua Prieta. News of an attempt to assassinate a Yaqui chief, said to be named Moctezuma, has been received in the city. The attempt was unsuccessful but will result in the injured man being a force of "friendly" Indians with whom to take the field against the 200 rebel Indians, it is stated. Moctezuma, who is a chief among his people and a captain in the Mexican army under the agreement which resulted in the arming of the tribesmen, was in Bavisaca when he heard that the Yaquis had surrounded his home and killed his wife and three children. He immediately started for Hermosillo, determined to offer his services to the government to raise a force of friendly Yaquis with whom he would take the field for Madero. He has returned this month, from a box canyon 25 miles north of Hermosillo, attacked by the Indians. Through bad marksmanship of the ambushed enemies he escaped without wounds, although there were several bullet holes in his clothing. CHINESE RAIDERS IMITATE MEXICANS To those acquainted with conditions in Mexico following the Madero revolution of a year ago, the similarity between conditions that existed there and merged themselves finally into the present revolution, and the conditions now existing in China, will readily present themselves. The Army and Navy Journal, speaking of China and Chinese conditions, says: "A very unfortunate state of affairs seems to have developed in China that is likely to prejudice the people greatly against a military system. Following the establishment of the republic, many of the soldiers refused to be disbanded. The found they were paid regularly in the army, and they didn't relish going back into civil life, where pay was uncertain. They have formed bands of pirates and highwaymen and have plundered many sections of the country. Having possession of the most modern firearms as a result of service in the revolutionary army they are equipped in formidable fashion. Leaving the revolutionary army with weapons, the former soldiers find themselves stronger than the civilian population, and in many cases these men, who are soldiers only in name, did not in drill and discipline find the easiest way to live is by plundering the natives, just as the tribal chieftains and head men in the Philippines lived for years off the people until the United States authority compelled them to give up their privileges. One of the tasks of the new republican government in China will be the con-

AGUILAR'S BODY REACHES MONTEREY Federal Officer Executed by Rebels Buried With Military Honors. Monterey, Mexico, June 18.—The remains of captain Lorenzo Aguilar, of the Nuevo Leon volunteers, who was shot after the battle of Ballana by order of Gen. Orozco, arrived in Monterey over the I. M. from Torreon and were laid to rest in the Carmen cemetery. He was given a military funeral and hundreds of friends joined his parents and other relatives in the funeral procession from the union station to the cemetery. Gen. Geronimo Trevino was the recipient of numerous felicitations and serenades in honor of the anniversary of his victory at the battle of Santa Gertrudis. During the day the several military bands now located here played at his residence, on Puerta street, and the old soldier who saw many a hard fought battle in his early days.
