

WEATHER FORECAST.
Fair tonight and Tuesday.
Colder tonight.

PASO CITY

SEEKERS OF SILVER SELECTED $450,000

Turks Explode Mine and Ex-terminate an Entire Command of Invaders.

TURKS BOMBARD BULGARIAN FORT

London, England, Oct. 21.—The seventh regiment of Serbian infantry is reported to have been virtually exterminated by the explosion of Turkish land mines after crossing the frontier into the district of Novipazar, according to a news agency dispatch from Belgrade.

Turks Bombard Bulgarian Fort. Turkish warships today bombarded the Bulgarian fort of Karaman. The customs house was destroyed and several shops and dwellings were damaged.

Kavarna is a Bulgarian town on the Black Sea, 25 miles northeast of Varna.

Big Battles Expected. Three and perhaps four big battles probably will be begun within a few days, it is reported by the Turkish press.

Two Forts Reported Taken. It was rumored today that two of the outlying forts which had fallen into the Bulgarian hands and that the town of Kirik-Kiliseh had been captured.

Geeks are Reported. A column of Greek troops was reported today when it attacked the Romanians.

Many False Reports. From both Constantinople and Sofia constant streams of false reports are being received by the respective governments.

Official Statement from Sofia. An official statement from Sofia today declared that the Bulgarian government denied the capture of Turkish troops by Montenegrins at Tushi.

Threatening Summary Punishment. This campaign of misrepresentation has become so serious that the committee of Sofia have issued a decree threatening summary punishment by martial law those who circulate such inventions.

Strategic Position. The Serbian advance in the direction of Ustip encounters little resistance.

Heavy Rains Impeding Operations. Large numbers of Serbian correspondents and many military attaches started for the front today. They will work under the greatest difficulties because of the severe restrictions imposed.

General Staff. The Serbian advance in the direction of Ustip encounters little resistance.

Strategic Position. The Serbian advance in the direction of Ustip encounters little resistance.

Heavy Rains Impeding Operations. Large numbers of Serbian correspondents and many military attaches started for the front today.

General Staff. The Serbian advance in the direction of Ustip encounters little resistance.

Strategic Position. The Serbian advance in the direction of Ustip encounters little resistance.

Heavy Rains Impeding Operations. Large numbers of Serbian correspondents and many military attaches started for the front today.

General Staff. The Serbian advance in the direction of Ustip encounters little resistance.

Strategic Position. The Serbian advance in the direction of Ustip encounters little resistance.

Heavy Rains Impeding Operations. Large numbers of Serbian correspondents and many military attaches started for the front today.

General Staff. The Serbian advance in the direction of Ustip encounters little resistance.

Strategic Position. The Serbian advance in the direction of Ustip encounters little resistance.

SEEKERS OF SILVER SELECTED $450,000

Gave Most When Parker Campaign Was About to Collapse.

PERKINS SAYS HE IS RETIRED WORKINGMAN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—Thomas Fortune Ryan told the Clapp committee today that he had contributed $450,000 to the Alton B. Parker campaign fund, most of it at a time when the Parker campaign was about to collapse.

George W. Perkins, who characterized himself as a "retired workingman," told the committee he had hoped senator Penrose would be present to retract the statement he made in the senate.

Mr. Perkins declared the statement that he had underwritten the Roosevelt prevention campaign an "unmitigated falsehood."

Thomas Fortune Ryan was the first witness today before the senate campaign committee.

Mr. Ryan said he had contributed $150,000 and $300,000 to Gov. Harmon's campaign and more than $300,000 to Republican candidates.

When I came back from Europe, in 1911, I made up my mind that the prospect for Democratic success was very bright.

Perkins, "Retired Workingman." George W. Perkins was the next witness before the senate campaign committee.

Mr. Perkins said that he had contributed $150,000 and $300,000 to Gov. Harmon's campaign and more than $300,000 to Republican candidates.

When I came back from Europe, in 1911, I made up my mind that the prospect for Democratic success was very bright.

Perkins, "Retired Workingman." George W. Perkins was the next witness before the senate campaign committee.

Mr. Perkins said that he had contributed $150,000 and $300,000 to Gov. Harmon's campaign and more than $300,000 to Republican candidates.

When I came back from Europe, in 1911, I made up my mind that the prospect for Democratic success was very bright.

Perkins, "Retired Workingman." George W. Perkins was the next witness before the senate campaign committee.

Mr. Perkins said that he had contributed $150,000 and $300,000 to Gov. Harmon's campaign and more than $300,000 to Republican candidates.

When I came back from Europe, in 1911, I made up my mind that the prospect for Democratic success was very bright.

Perkins, "Retired Workingman." George W. Perkins was the next witness before the senate campaign committee.

Mr. Perkins said that he had contributed $150,000 and $300,000 to Gov. Harmon's campaign and more than $300,000 to Republican candidates.

When I came back from Europe, in 1911, I made up my mind that the prospect for Democratic success was very bright.

Perkins, "Retired Workingman." George W. Perkins was the next witness before the senate campaign committee.

Mr. Perkins said that he had contributed $150,000 and $300,000 to Gov. Harmon's campaign and more than $300,000 to Republican candidates.

When I came back from Europe, in 1911, I made up my mind that the prospect for Democratic success was very bright.

Perkins, "Retired Workingman." George W. Perkins was the next witness before the senate campaign committee.

TIRED BUT HAPPY, BOOSTERS PARADE ON ARRIVING EL PASO

Journey of El Paso Keynote Trade Excursionists Has Been One Continuous Triumph in Making New Friends for the Pass City—Albuquerque, Belen, Socorro, San Antonio and San Marcial Enthusiastically Greet Pilgrims—They Enjoy a Moonlight Ride Among the Pines at Prescott and Are Awed by the Wonderful Grandeur of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

WELCOMED AT Socorro

Horad staff, joined the party at Albuquerque. A big crowd of people met the train at Belen and mingled with the El Pasoans while the band played. A number of the people distributed yellow ribbon badges, printed in black. The beautiful irrigated fields and orchards attracted much favorable comment from the El Pasoans.

At Socorro the people met the train at the station in automobiles. The band played a concert at the depot and the El Pasoans then marched up town. Eugene Harris marched again in his rube costume.

The El Pasoans marched on town to the plaza where the school children and the populace greeted them. Mayor H. G. Bursum extended a warm welcome to the excursionists and Eugene Harris, of El Paso, responded and presented a key to El Paso.

The excursionists will parade in El Paso tonight on arrival. If the train does not get in too late. It has also been decided to enter the Okapi parade this week. The El Pasoans marching behind the 22d infantry band and wearing their caps and carrying their canes just as they have paraded in the Arizona and New Mexico towns. Eugene Harris will wear his Simple Simon makeup.

This morning, after a refreshing sleep across the "cold belt" of northern Arizona, the excursionists awakened in Albuquerque, the metropolis of the new state of New Mexico. After a short visit with the people of this splendid little city, the train was headed south, straight for El Paso, and though everybody has had a good time all the time, there are few who are not glad to get back.

It's the greatest ever," declared chairman V. R. Stiles this afternoon, and his declaration was reflected by the others of the party. Everybody is more than satisfied. They have all had their eyes opened to the real possibilities, the real progress, the real wonders of the great southwest and have learned so many astounding things that they wonder how they managed to stay in ignorance so long.

The El Pasoans were met at Albuquerque by Col. Joshua Reynolds of El Paso, who arrived this morning on a business trip, and by H. B. Holt and Francis E. Lester, of Las Cruces and Mesilla Park, who went up today to attend a Masonic convention at Albuquerque. When the train left Albuquerque, John Grant, of the El Paso Herald-Examiner, distributed complimentary cigars to the excursionists with the compliments of Mrs. Geo. Kelly company, of Albuquerque. Mrs. G. H. Clements, of the El Paso hotel, where they met the business men.

Eugene Harris presented the key to El Paso to Mayor H. G. Bursum, who, in accepting it on behalf of Albuquerque, said he believed Albuquerque and El Paso should be more closely associated, and this would come, he declared, when the Camino Real is completed through New Mexico and automobile travel is made easier.

The El Pasoans were met at Albuquerque by Col. Joshua Reynolds of El Paso, who arrived this morning on a business trip, and by H. B. Holt and Francis E. Lester, of Las Cruces and Mesilla Park, who went up today to attend a Masonic convention at Albuquerque.

When the train left Albuquerque, John Grant, of the El Paso Herald-Examiner, distributed complimentary cigars to the excursionists with the compliments of Mrs. Geo. Kelly company, of Albuquerque.

Mrs. G. H. Clements, of the El Paso hotel, where they met the business men.

Eugene Harris presented the key to El Paso to Mayor H. G. Bursum, who, in accepting it on behalf of Albuquerque, said he believed Albuquerque and El Paso should be more closely associated, and this would come, he declared, when the Camino Real is completed through New Mexico and automobile travel is made easier.

The El Pasoans were met at Albuquerque by Col. Joshua Reynolds of El Paso, who arrived this morning on a business trip, and by H. B. Holt and Francis E. Lester, of Las Cruces and Mesilla Park, who went up today to attend a Masonic convention at Albuquerque.

When the train left Albuquerque, John Grant, of the El Paso Herald-Examiner, distributed complimentary cigars to the excursionists with the compliments of Mrs. Geo. Kelly company, of Albuquerque.

Mrs. G. H. Clements, of the El Paso hotel, where they met the business men.

Eugene Harris presented the key to El Paso to Mayor H. G. Bursum, who, in accepting it on behalf of Albuquerque, said he believed Albuquerque and El Paso should be more closely associated, and this would come, he declared, when the Camino Real is completed through New Mexico and automobile travel is made easier.

The El Pasoans were met at Albuquerque by Col. Joshua Reynolds of El Paso, who arrived this morning on a business trip, and by H. B. Holt and Francis E. Lester, of Las Cruces and Mesilla Park, who went up today to attend a Masonic convention at Albuquerque.

When the train left Albuquerque, John Grant, of the El Paso Herald-Examiner, distributed complimentary cigars to the excursionists with the compliments of Mrs. Geo. Kelly company, of Albuquerque.

Mrs. G. H. Clements, of the El Paso hotel, where they met the business men.

Eugene Harris presented the key to El Paso to Mayor H. G. Bursum, who, in accepting it on behalf of Albuquerque, said he believed Albuquerque and El Paso should be more closely associated, and this would come, he declared, when the Camino Real is completed through New Mexico and automobile travel is made easier.

The El Pasoans were met at Albuquerque by Col. Joshua Reynolds of El Paso, who arrived this morning on a business trip, and by H. B. Holt and Francis E. Lester, of Las Cruces and Mesilla Park, who went up today to attend a Masonic convention at Albuquerque.

When the train left Albuquerque, John Grant, of the El Paso Herald-Examiner, distributed complimentary cigars to the excursionists with the compliments of Mrs. Geo. Kelly company, of Albuquerque.

Mrs. G. H. Clements, of the El Paso hotel, where they met the business men.

REBELS SALAZAR'S ADVANCE GUARD, FROM BAUCHE, APPEARS NEAR EL PASO SMELTER.

Salazar's Advance Guard, From Bauche, Appears Near El Paso Smelter.

FEDERAL FORCE IN JUAREZ NUMBERS 1000

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso. Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

Rebel troops recruited and armed on American soil have begun to cross into Mexico. A group of 50 men entered late Sunday at Pecos, N. M., a few miles west of El Paso.

Gen. Z. Salazar, who has been reported to be in command of the advance guard, is expected to appear near El Paso in a few days.

REBELS SALAZAR'S ADVANCE GUARD, FROM BAUCHE, APPEARS NEAR EL PASO SMELTER.

Salazar's Advance Guard, From Bauche, Appears Near El Paso Smelter.

FEDERALS REFUSE TO FIGHT REBELS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—Fresh provisions in the beleaguered city of Veracruz have become exhausted, said a dispatch to the navy department today giving a review of the situation caused by the Diaz rebellion in Mexico.

The state department is advised by consul Canada at Veracruz that Gen. Felix Diaz has guaranteed life and property so long as he remains in control of the city.

It appears from today's advices that federal troops are avoiding an encounter with Diaz's troops at Veracruz twice to meet the government forces, who both times have refused to give battle.

It is reported that three Mexican vessels in Veracruz harbor remain loyal to the Madero government.

The Mexican minister in Washington is reported at Puerto Mexico with Diaz troops aboard.

The navy department today was advised that the Tacoma was expected to arrive at Tampico today to see that ample protection is accorded American citizens.

Considerations Against Mexico. Ambassador Wilson, of Mexico City, has now been in Washington for a few days for consideration with secretary Knox the claim of this government against Mexico.

As ranking member of the cabinet, the secretary is "holding president" in Washington. He finds many problems pressing for consideration, principally the situation in Mexico.

Representations by the United States, it is understood, include intimations of a possible intervention by the interior to Veracruz and Tampico, the principal ports on the Atlantic side, must be kept open for the exit of Americans.

While some students of the question believe the United States might take measures on its own account to keep open an avenue of escape for Americans, as it did in China and Nicaragua, officials here regard such a development as likely.

TROOPS DESERT TO JOIN REBELS

Diaz Followers Hold All Strategic Points at Veracruz—Soldiers of the 21st battalion garrisoning Fort Uluoa, located on an island in the bay, are reported to have joined the revolutionary forces of Felix Diaz.

The garrisons at Boca and Moroles owned fire on the rebels, killing several and wounding others. The soldiers of Fort Uluoa garrison refused to return to the city.

The situation is serious as Fort Uluoa is used as a penitentiary. Until the fire was opened by the rebels and the garrison at Fort Uluoa, it was difficult to understand the attitude of the rebels.

Gen. Diaz continues optimistic regarding his chances for a successful revolutionary movement. He says that the officers and crews of the gunboats here are with him and that commander Gen. Azueta, commanding the warships still loyal to the government, kept his guns and searchlights trained on the city.

Gen. Diaz has sought official recognition from the United States government. He said he has represented his cause to the authorities at Washington through the American consul at Veracruz, claiming that his possession of two important seaports and army of approximately 3000 men entitles him to recognition.

The revolutionists now hold all the strategic points within the city with the exception of the barracks, which are held by the Diaz forces, and several hundred volunteers. The federal troops occupy a position 10 miles beyond the outskirts of the city, there by cutting off communication with the interior.

The United States cruiser Des Moines is now in the harbor. A German warship has arrived. The French, Portuguese, Spanish, Italian and British consuls are in the city.

The situation, have urgently called their governments to send gunboats. Afrado, a minor port about 30 miles from Veracruz, was captured by Maj. Zerape, a revolutionary officer.

Veracruz, 145 miles northwest of Tampico, has declared in favor of the revolution. The authorities there, together with 500 veterans and 3000 armed volunteers, taking part in the movement.

The rebel generals, Aguilar and Delahave, are reported to be moving from the north to attack Gen. Beltran's rear. Beltran has 3500 men around Veracruz while the revolutionists have more than 1000 within the city and 3000 with generals Aguilar and Delahave.

REBEL BANDS ARE NEAR TO MAZATLAN

Protect Ordered to Muster a Force and Go After the Former Rebels in City. Mazatlan, Mexico, Oct. 21.—Two small rebel bands are operating with impunity in this city, having managed to remain within a few miles of the city in the last few days. The prefect at Mazatlan has been ordered to muster a force to send out after the rebels.

One More Sleep and Os-Aple Will Make Peace With Paleface

It Is Written in the Birchbark Scroll That Chief of the Saxe Will Be Greeted by Princess Wanda on the Morrow.

It came to pass in the land of Saxe, during the season called Indian summer, that Os-Aple, chief of chiefs, designed to visit the scenes of his young manhood in the valley of the Saxe, which means the valley of heart's desire in the tongue of the paleface.

Referring a tribal chief, Chief Os-Aple selected only the bravest of the bucks from his bronze tribe to escort him to the scene of his conquests. Some but those who could endure the test of fire were permitted to become a member of his retinue.

For was not princess Wanda with her loyal retainers to welcome him to the maple camp which bore his name with honor? Had not a courier come in the iron drell wagons of the white man to give him greetings in the name of the white father who ruled there? Nothing less than the best would do for this, the greatest event of the old chief's life. He, Os-Aple, chief of the Saxe, had in his dream seen the chief of the tribe to be of El Paso. From the needs by the mountain brookside had these same squaws woven a basket of many colors which was to bear the polished bows glistened in the warm sun. Slung over the chief's shoulder was the bead-bedecked bag of woolen goods, and the peace pipe was in his hand.

Down from the mountains would come the feathered tribesmen, the aged chief in the lead. His war bonnet of eagle feathers trembled in the breeze. His breastplate of polished bone glistened in the warm sun. Slung over the chief's shoulder was the bead-bedecked bag of woolen goods, and the peace pipe was in his hand.

Each would rule in his domain as Os-Aple had reigned before the coming of the white man.

Nearing Journey's End. As they rode, the chief and his followers were saluted and dressed by the squaws of the tribe. This was to be the present from the chief of the tribe to the chief of El Paso. From the needs by the mountain brookside had these same squaws woven a basket of many colors which was to bear the polished bows glistened in the warm sun.

Slung over the chief's shoulder was the bead-bedecked bag of woolen goods, and the peace pipe was in his hand.

Each would rule in his domain as Os-Aple had reigned before the coming of the white man.

Nearing Journey's End. As they rode, the chief and his followers were saluted and dressed by the squaws of the tribe. This was to be the present from the chief of the tribe to the chief of El Paso.

From the needs by the mountain brookside had these same squaws woven a basket of many colors which was to bear the polished bows glistened in the warm sun.

Slung over the chief's shoulder was the bead-bedecked bag of woolen goods, and the peace pipe was in his hand.

FEDERALS REFUSE TO FIGHT REBELS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—Fresh provisions in the beleaguered city of Veracruz have become exhausted, said a dispatch to the navy department today giving a review of the situation caused by the Diaz rebellion in Mexico.

The state department is advised by consul Canada at Veracruz that Gen. Felix Diaz has guaranteed life and property so long as he remains in control of the city.

It appears from today's advices that federal troops are avoiding an encounter with Diaz's troops at Veracruz twice to meet the government forces, who both times have refused to give battle.

It is reported that three Mexican vessels in Veracruz harbor remain loyal to the Madero government.

The Mexican minister in Washington is reported at Puerto Mexico with Diaz troops aboard.

The navy department today was advised that the Tacoma was expected to arrive at Tampico today to see that ample protection is accorded American citizens.

Considerations Against Mexico. Ambassador Wilson, of Mexico City, has now been in Washington for a few days for consideration with secretary Knox the claim of this government against Mexico.

As ranking member of the cabinet, the secretary is "holding president" in Washington. He finds many problems pressing for consideration, principally the situation in Mexico.

Representations by the United States, it is understood, include intimations of a possible intervention by the interior to Veracruz and Tampico, the principal ports on the Atlantic side, must be kept open for the exit of Americans.

While some students of the question believe the United States might take measures on its own account to keep open an avenue of escape for Americans, as it did in China and Nicaragua, officials here regard such a development as likely.

TROOPS DESERT TO JOIN REBELS

Diaz Followers Hold All Strategic Points at Veracruz—Soldiers of the 21st battalion garrisoning Fort Uluoa, located on an island in the bay, are reported to have joined the revolutionary forces of Felix Diaz.

The garrisons at Boca and Moroles owned fire on the rebels, killing several and wounding others. The soldiers of Fort Uluoa garrison refused to return to the city.

The situation is serious as Fort Uluoa is used as a penitentiary. Until the fire was opened by the rebels and the garrison at Fort Uluoa, it was difficult to understand the attitude of the rebels.

Gen. Diaz continues optimistic regarding his chances for a successful revolutionary movement. He says that the officers and crews of the gunboats here are with him and that commander Gen. Azueta, commanding the warships still loyal to the government, kept his guns and searchlights trained on the city.

Gen. Diaz has sought official recognition from the United States government. He said he has represented his cause to the authorities at Washington through the American consul at Veracruz, claiming that his possession of two important seaports and army of approximately 3000 men entitles him to recognition.

The revolutionists now hold all the strategic points within the city with the exception of the barracks, which are held by the Diaz forces, and several hundred volunteers. The federal troops occupy a position 10 miles beyond the outskirts of the city, there by cutting off communication with the interior.

The United States cruiser Des Moines is now in the harbor. A German warship has arrived. The French, Portuguese, Spanish, Italian and British consuls are in the city.

The situation, have urgently called their governments to send gunboats. Afrado, a minor port about 30 miles from Veracruz, was captured by Maj. Zerape, a revolutionary officer.

Veracruz, 145 miles northwest of Tampico, has declared in favor of the revolution. The authorities there, together with 500 veterans and 3000 armed volunteers, taking part in the movement.

The rebel generals, Aguilar and Delahave, are reported to be moving from the north to attack Gen. Beltran's rear. Beltran has 3500 men around Veracruz while the revolutionists have more than 1000 within the city and 3000 with generals Aguilar and Delahave.

REBEL BANDS ARE NEAR TO MAZATLAN

Protect Ordered to Muster a Force and Go After the Former Rebels in City. Mazatlan, Mexico, Oct. 21.—Two small rebel bands are operating with impunity in this city, having managed to remain within a few miles of the city in the last few days. The prefect at Mazatlan has been ordered to muster a force to send out after the rebels.

(Continued on page 2.)

(Continued on page 2.)

(Continued on page 2.)

(Continued on page 2.)