Australian Fans Will Not Stand For 10 Round Bouts. Sydney Promoter Is Not Pleased With Matches Witnessed in New York—Wolgast Signs in Hurry to Meet Mandot.

THE efforts of some of the American boxing promoters to limit ten round bouts to matches upon the public as legitimate championship contests do not meet the approval of the Australian promoters, nor the followers of the game in that country, according to W. C. Kelly, who is the guest of Mr. Kelly, who was the guest of the writer for the past week, likes the limited round bouts, as conducted in New York state, and some other places, he cannot stand for such bouts being advertised as title matches.

Want Longer Bouts. "You must hand it to the Yankee," said Mr. Kelly, "for having a bout with the most action in a limited space of time of any in the world, that is in New York city, but as far as being championship matches, why that is not the question. I watched the four round contests in San Francisco, while there, but was not impressed with them at all. The boys did not seem to be so snuff at all and the boxing fans did not seem to be any too anxious to support them. They have had several bouts in that city and demand them again. There are several good boys but under different conditions. Jimmy Coffroth seems to be popular as the promoter of big events, but they want longer bouts. I did not stop at Los Angeles and cannot give any opinion regarding it, but from what I heard Tom McCarty is giving the fans there a great deal of the right kind.

This man Joh, who retires in New York, is my ideal of a referee. He knows his business thoroughly and handles the men to perfection. He knows when to stop a bout and his judgment is excellent. He keeps the men going and the referee's duties permit them to remain in a clinch and hug one another in order to rest up. He keeps the manager and the subject in the clinch, but in New York is another thorough boxing man and is a credit to the game. Such men will make a success of the game in New York or any other city.

Twenty Round Bouts the Limit. "As to holding championship bouts I wish to say that in Australia the following scale of rounds is being followed: short of 20 rounds for a title match. They don't want finish fights, but they like the limit of 20 rounds. At the same time they figure that two well trained men can go that distance without the slightest trouble or danger to themselves and that there is better satisfaction all around with that class of contests.

Asked for an opinion regarding the formation of an international federation to protect the boxing game from fakery, and to establish an international scale of rounds, Mr. Kelly said: "This matter came up while I was in New York. Charlie Harvey, the secretary of the boxing commission, considered the subject very carefully. Harvey is one of the best posted men I have met on the role, and he has done much for the sport in New York from what I can see and learn. I told Mr. Harvey that the Australian people favor such an organization and that they stand ready at any time to join hands with the United States, Great Britain and France, to bring about a uniform scale of rounds and weight classes. McIntosh is ready any time to join such a movement and do all in his power to protect and uplift the game.

Of course, the Australians favor the English scale of weights and have always followed them, except in the middleweight class which is 125 pounds in our country, weighing in at 126, while here it is 125 at ringside. In England it is 126 pounds. We do not believe in ringside weighing and Mr. McIntosh has barred it at the stadium and in fact all cities over there where he has connections. I believe that boxing, who take or do not live up to legitimate agreements, etc., should be disciplined and the boxing authorities in all the leading countries should stick together and protect one another, the same as theatrical promoters or baseball managers protect each other against contract jumpers."

Gibbons Is Disappointed. Continuing Mr. Kelly shifted to some of the present day stars here. "After reading so much about Mike Gibbons and Knockout Brown," said Kelly, "I was anxious to see them in action. When I saw Gibbons box Tommy Maroney, I was disappointed. He was appointed and want to say right here that if he ever boxes that way when he faces Jimmy Clabby, he will beat him to a certainty. If Mr. Gibbons is inclined to disagree with my opinion all he has to do is to take a trip to Australia where he will receive the benefit of a 20,000 crowd, but would also, if successful, take away all the betting money in Sydney. As for Knockout Brown, he would be well advised to leave the Australian champion, Hughie McEwan, severely alone, on the night of his fight with Johnny Lore. The latter would be the easiest kind of easy money for McEwan. I was not at all surprised at the defeat of Dave Smith by Eddie McGorty for Jimmy Clabby, although he conceded 22 pounds to Smith, beat him on two occasions, although officially they were called draws. Smith is a fairly showy boxer, but cannot stand the punch, as Parke proved in his two contests with him."

Mr. Kelly will sail for England about October 23, and hence to his home in Australia, he expected, he will endeavor to sign a few of the best British lightweights and middleweights and also a couple of French boxers, Carpenter it is possible to make the trip with him.

Tom Jones, manager of Ad Wolgast, the world's champion lightweight, has evidently changed his tactics in making matches for the title holder, for he certainly did business at New Orleans in a hurry when he signed up to meet Joe Mandot, the southern champion. D. J. Tortorich, manager of the West Side club at New Orleans, had expected a lot of dickering with the Jones party before getting the match arranged, but to his surprise he found himself back before for the match with Sir Thomas in just 15 minutes. That is surely a record for Tom and if he follows that plan in the future he will not doubt make lots of matches. Instead of a 20 round battle the managers have agreed to a ten round affair, which will be inside the city limits, and at the baseball park. Mr. Tortorich says there will be a tremendous crowd present and that he is confident the gate will run to $20,000, which will be almost a record for a short bout between little men. McIntosh, who is a big man, is back between the late Stanley Ketchel and Billy Paet.

Should Mandot and Wolgast go the ten rounds at a fast clip and please the people there is a strong probability that they may be matched over for the marathon distance before the same club, at the arena across the river from New Orleans, where they can seat over 6000 people. It would draw from all parts of the south and near by.

Mandot showed his form when he defeated his former sparring partner, Joe Sherman, at Memphis, Tenn., in eight rounds. Mandot, he himself back, preferring to take no chances at hurting his hands, but he won by plenty of margin at that. Wolgast has been working steadily for three weeks and will be in good shape for the test to come. If Mandot starts to put up a rushing fight there is a strong probability that he will knock out Wolgast before the end of the ten rounds, otherwise look for a ten round contest with honor and respect. Wolgast doing the aggressive work. It should be a pleasing bout for the fans, as Mandot likes the other man to set pace and that suits Ad to perfection.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS FROM THE AGGIES

Wins Ragged Game of Football—Officials Badly Needed.

The El Paso high school football team defeated the second team of the New Mexico agricultural college at Washington park Saturday afternoon by a score of 20 to 6.

The game was ragged throughout, but the breaking sun was not conducive to good football. It would have been an ideal day for baseball.

On fast water, the home strongly to both players and spectators, and that was there is great need for officials who know the rules of the game as revised for the present season.

During Saturday's game there were several penalties imposed on both sides for offensive plays, but there was constant pulling and pushing of players through the line, which is in violation of the rules. This escaped the attention of the officials.

Big Game Thanksgiving. The next big game will be played between the El Paso high school and the El Paso military college at Washington park on Thanksgiving day. The rivalry between these teams will undoubtedly tend to increase interest in the sport and bring out a good crowd even though the attendance on Saturday was not small.

In Saturday's game the El Paso team won because it was the better team and played a better game. The El Paso boys thought and acted faster and were quicker to take advantage of opportunities than their opponents.

The first score was made in the first quarter of the game, when Shea, of the high school, carried the ball across the line and then kicked a goal, making the score 7 to 0. This allowed shortly after for the Aggies, but Mitchell failed to put the ball over the horizontal, when he kicked, and the decision of both the referee and the umpire, though many of the spectators thought the ball had gone over the horizontal, was in favor of the high school.

Questioned Touchdown. In the third quarter Darnell kicked toward the opposing goal line, an A. and M. man touched the ball and Walker, of the high school, catching the ball on a bounce, carried it across the line. The college boys contended that none of their men had touched the ball, which Walker got on the 15 yard line. Many of the spectators also held to this opinion, but the referee said that the touchdown was properly made. Walker missed the kick for goal and the score stood 7 to 6 in favor of the high school.

The Last Scoring. In the fourth quarter, on pretty forward play, the high school team steadily down the field. Shea caught the ball on the 20 yard line, carried it across and Walker kicked a pretty good one, making the score 13 to 6 in favor of the high school.

Again the El Paso boys advanced the ball right to their opponent's goal line, but there were penalized 15 yards and the game ended with the ball in the center of the field.
