man was a little doubtful regarding its constitutionality.

C. B. Wood moved to lay Cunniff's motion for re-reference on the table. After much further discussion, the motion was put and lost.

And then Hughes, fire flying from his eyes and his glasses bobbing in a most alarming manner, declared that the motion to re-refer his bill to the lands committee was merely a move toward killing it. He didn't want that bill re-referred.

Senator Sims stated dryly from the chair that Hughes' remarks would not appear on the record.

The Cunnif motion to re-refer was put and lost, nine to nine.
Roberts then moved that the bill be sent to the judiciary committee, with instructions to prepare another measure along similar lines, within 48 hours. His motion was lost by exactly the same vote as Cunniff's.

In Committee of the Whole.
A suggestion of C. B. Wood that the measure be considered in committee of the whole today was finally adopted though Cunniff took occasion several times to repeat his statement that the legislature is costing the state $2 a minute.

Hughes's memorial to congress, advocating the independence of the Philippines, was postponed indefinitely, after some more oratory had been spilled. The same fate met Worsley's bill, for the repeal of the state butchers' license law. It was an unlucky day for the senators from Pima.

The House.

Once or twice there were signs of storm in the house Monday afternoon. It was a busy session, even if it wasn't as long or as exciting as the one in the senate.

Much of the time of the boue was spent in committee of the whole. When the committee arose it recommended the passage of house bill No. I, providing for the creation of Hunt county.

When a motion to report the bill favorably was put there were only three noes. Laser, however, there was some opposition to sending the bill to the enrolling and engrossing committee and placing it on the calendar for third reading. The vote on this proposition stood 20 to 12.

Minimum Wage Law.

The most important bill introduced in the house yesterday was by Lewis, and provides that the occupation of mining, if conducted underground or where machinery or powder are used, shall be chassed as hazardous. No one engaged in that occupation shall receive less than $\foat{1}$ a day. Anyone contracting to pay less is liable to a fine of $1000 or imprisonment for six months, or both. In plain words, Lewis's bill is a minimum wage law for miners.

No. 26, by Kerr, is just as unusual and will provoke almost as nuch comment. It prohibits the circulation of misleading advertisements by any method. To circulate such an advertisement shall constitute a misdemeanor and be punishable by a fine of from $50 to $500 or by imprisonment for 30 days to six months.

Bradner introduced No. 27, which is to provide for the submission of a constitutional amendment changing the date for the regular blennial meeting of the legislature from the first Tuesday in January, after the election of the legislators, to the first Tuesday in Pebruary.

The judiciary committee recommended that Kane's bill to prohibit the throwing of glass on roads, Irvine's amendment to the game law and the bill providing that judges of superior courts shall say who pays for transcripts in appealed cases, he referred to the committee on code revision.

A favorable report was brought by a majority of the county affairs com-mittee on the Hunt county bill. Curry and Murphy signed a minority report.

Bills Postponed.

Upon recommendation of the county affairs committee, No. 20 and No. 8 were indefinitely postponed. No. 6 is frying's bill to amend the present law regulating the sale of lighter.

6 is frvine's bill to amend the present law regulating the sale of liquor. In making its report, the committee efpiained that the law was regarded as insufficient and that the amendment would not be sufficient. This probably means that an entire new liquor law will be introduced before long. Irvine said he had lost his minority report.

Dropping Clerks.

Just before adjournment, Johnson created quite a little stir by asking what the committee on apportionment of patronage had been doing. Johnson said there were more attaches than were needed, but the senate was laying undue blame on the house. The senate had only one assistant in the postoffice while the house, with only twice as many members, had four. Johnson couldn't see any necessity for a night watchman in the house chamber, nor of half a dozen door-keepers.

conservative and radical Democrats is bitter, and a determined effort is on foot to oust the conservatives from positions of vantage on leading committees and from their hold on the party management in the senate. There is the same cleavage in the senate, too, on tariff, currency and Panama tolis.

On top of all their other troubles, the Democrats are deeply worried over patronage. Hints and rumors from Trenton as to the disposition of the incoming president to divide the spoils have been far from reassuring, while at the same time the pressure from home has been constantly increasing.

Expenses Rum High.

With few days left for real business, this congress is facing a situation which will probably take tremendous endeavor and diplomatic shrewdness to overcome. Important legislation, which has been simmering for the last two years must be crowded into the work of the next two weeks, and the house leaders all are on their toos ready to fight one another to get their own blis athrough, so great is the need for time.

Representative Fitzgerald sounded a warning recently when he decried bitwarning recently when he decried bit-terly the "special rule" business which had already lost two days' time in a week from the important appropria-tion bills. The economy conference was a spir-lted affair. Congressman Cline, of in-diana, is reported to have left the room in a huff, and congressman Beall, of Texas, assailed the Sherwood pension bill as having precipitated present Democratic woes. "Your pension bill is the cause of all

Congressman Cline said the bill had helped to elect the party and Mr. Beali retorted, "yes, but it was spending the people's money to help out in Indiana and other states." Whereupon, it is reported, Mr. Cline grew wrathy.
