Too Much Prosperity Hampers the Red Sox
Absence of Jake Stahl Is Another Handicap for the American League Champions—Players Are Confident They Will Again Win Pennant.
By CLARENCE F. LLOYD

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 21.—Too much prosperity is blamed for the failure of the Red Sox of Boston, to be operating in the first division of the American League scramble. After winning the blue ribbon honors of the diamond by defeating the New York Giants in the world's title, last October, it was generally predicted that Wood Speaker & Co. would again figure as contenders this season.

The Red Sox looked anything but a second division team in two titles with the Browns. But the truth is that up to their call in St. Louis they did not make a noise like a pennant winner. Among those there is a feeling that they'll be in the thick of the fight before long. But the huge chunks of money passed to the players, and the spoils of the contests with the Giants were shared are said to have had an effect on the playing of the men.

The principal handicap, of course, has been the absence of manager Jake Stahl from the base and from the team. He cracked a small bone in his foot, and has been on the shelf. He not only is not available on the team for duty at the initial rush, but next to Speaker and Lewis, is the team's best pinch hitter.

Batters Eyes Clear Up.
And speaking of hitting, most of the men's batting eyes have cleared up to the 1913 season in St. Louis. Even the mighty Speaker hasn't been going at his best since he was hit by a ball in the chest. And when a team isn't hitting it doesn't make an impression as a real part ball club.

This is sure to come around, and when he does the percentage of Red Sox victories will be greater. It is the opinion of owner Jim McAleer, who American League champs and kings of the baseball.

NEW ENTRIES FOR RACES EXPECTED
List Is Held Open For Out of Town Cars—Racers Practicing Daily.

Promoter Lew Gasser has decided to reopen the racing entries at Juarez, in order to enable some out of town cars to enter at the last minute. Several cars are expected from out of the city, including one from Silver City, Texas. Mr. Gasser believes, should not be barred from entry because of late arrival, so he has decided that entries may be made until the last minute. The programs are being printed today, containing the names and numbers of the cars as published in yesterday's Herald. Up to date, the list published yesterday contains all that are entered and is official. This may be saved for use Sunday, but Mr. Gasser intends having programs distributed free of charge at the grounds Sunday.

Racing cars are seen at all hours of the day on the Juarez track, practicing and tuning up for the big event Sunday. It will be the biggest event in the history of El Paso in a sporting way and 6,000 people are expected to attend.

The cars will begin running to the track at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and manager Foster promises that they will follow each other just as fast as they can be loaded and sent out. He says by having the cars on the track when the races are started to bring 5,000 people away from the track at one time.

All automobile parties for next Sunday have been abandoned and the El Paso automobile world will center at Juarez. No country trips are planned, everybody is planning to attend the races. There has been a good demand for luncheon and refreshments at the track throughout the afternoon—anything from a sandwich in the most delicate thing the restaurants afford.

Near Champs to Fight at Indianapolis
Battle Between Jack Dillon and Frank Klaus Promises to Be Lively—Gus Christie Is Strong Contender in the Middleweight Division.
By THOS. S. ANDREWS

WHAT will be a near-championship battle will be staged at Indianapolis the night of May 29 when Jack Dillon, the hoosier champion middleweight, meets Frank Klaus, the Pittsburg contender, in the ten round bout. The weight being 160 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Let us see who will win this match. If there is one, most either Jimmy Clabby or Eddie McGearty over the marathon distance and you will have a real contest for the American middleweight title, for Clabby and McGearty have as much right to be classed as real contenders as any two pugilists in the country, if not more so. It might be better if McGearty and Clabby met again where they should, in a middleweight and then let the winner meet the winner of the Klaus-Dillon match.

The one drawback to the Indianapolis affair is the weight, the men having agreed to fight at 160 pounds at 3 o'clock, instead of the recognized American limit of 155 rindside. Klaus insisted upon the 160 pound weight, which is the European scale, and in doing so he cannot be called an American champion if he should defeat Dillon. From the fact that Klaus demanded the 160 pound weight, it is evident that he cannot make the American weight of 155 rindside.

On the other hand, the Indianapolis fighter has demonstrated that he is in line for the title. His defeat of Bob Young placed him among the top notch fighters in the world. He has defeated a number of good middleweights the past six months and his record is brighter than any other in the division. At the weight, for he was under 155 pounds when he was in Milwaukee for the Moha fight. This is a big magnet to get the fight fans from the middle weight to the light middleweight.

It seems that many of the present day middleweights like the 160 pound scale, excepting Jimmy Clabby and Mike Gibbons, and it would really be a good thing for the game if they could agree on an international poundage. The poundage in the world are four countries now which hold to the 160 pound scale, weighing at 3 o'clock, while the United States alone holds to 155 pounds rindside. That only demonstrates again the need of a ruling body in this country to take the lead in such matters.

For a boxer, Gus Christie, a middleweight, is without doubt, the best all around fighter in the world. He is in Milwaukee. Gus has gradually advanced from the bottom to the second rung of the middleweight ladder, and just now he is knocking in door to door to the select circle of stars in that division.

Not only is Christie a good fighter and boxer, but he is also one of the best swimmers, a splendid handball player, a good tennis player, can play baseball in good shape, and knows the physical culture game well enough to take a large class of classes in the gymnasium.

It was Christie's great love of swimming that had much to do with building him up into a good middleweight, for he was merely a raw bantamweight when he started out.

Christie started out as an amateur at the Milwaukee Athletic club, several years ago, weighing at that time 125 pounds. He was a good swimmer, and met boys much heavier, longer but few amateur bouts. Gradually he gained in weight and ended the light weight class two years ago, then jumped into the welter and later the 150 pound division. He met Mike Gibbons twice but the late Paul whom outpointed him on cleverness alone. Since then Gus has taken on more weight and is now in the middleweight class. He has defeated several men, having recently fought such men as Jack Dillon, Eddie McGearty, Ernie Anderson, and others. He has a knockout record, of Chicago, a severe defeat two years ago and at present is but trying to get back to the top of the mountain.

For the championship of the Milwaukee, Gus is only nearing the 22 year mark and should be nearing his best form.

Packey McFarland Has Clean Record
Chicago Battler, Who Is Now a Doubtful Lightweight, Has Never Been Defeated.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 22.—Every lightweight now in the ring and considered as eligible for championship honors has been beaten, with the sole exception of Packey McFarland. This goes for the champion of the division, too. Willie Ritchie lost a 30-round decision to Freddie Welsh, and although this was before the California title was won by McFarland, it goes as a black mark against his record.

Welsh has two defeats against him. He lost to Packey at New York and he had a wallowing from Matt Wells. Since then he has beaten Wells, but this is the only one of his victories. He has straight victories until he met McFarland and took a licking from him. Then he went back home to Chicago and was defeated by Walsh and Hughie Mehegan.

With the Englishman disposed of, the American all-time champion is somewhere. The title contenders are near champions are Wolcott, Ilvers, Cross, Harlow, Tommy Murphy and Jack Britton. Ad was, of course, beaten by Ritchie and has subsequently been cleaned by Murphy.

Rivers has three defeats against him. His first came at Kibano's hands, before he became a lightweight, and it was a knockout. He was outpointed by Mandot and subsequently by the late Harry Cross. The decision of the fight with Ad Wolcott, Leach Cross has taken a lot of clean-cut, but he has been out of the ring for a long time. He was beaten by Hyland, Tommy Murphy, Jim Driscoll, Matt Wells, Young Jack O'Brien and Rivers and has a record of 100 over the worker in teeth and fistulins.

Harlow Tommy has a record that is exceedingly checkered. Two of his best fights were with Harry Cross. He was first beaten by Britton, then by Kary Brown and Terry McGovern both putting him to sleep. Britton has lost three fights—one in 10 rounds to Terry Murphy, one in four to Willie Ritchie, and one, which is the only recent one, to McFarland, in New York. This leaves him all out in the cold as far as being a contender. Lightweight goes, all except Packey McFarland. And the Chicagoan is rather a doubtful lightweight.

Gossip About Sport Stars

THE unofficial batting average of the American league for the first month shows that Ty Cobb is back in form. The Detroit slugger is leading the league with a percentage of .485 for the month. He has taken part. No National league player is slugging at such a rate, but Coghers, of the St. Louis Cardinals, is pretty near the 100 mark, with .391, and is leading the league.

"Patsy" O'Rourke has been sold to Ed Hogan, manager of the Venice club, of the Coast league. By the club, Haulinan, who is a fast infielder, will be used as an utility man in the position made vacant by the sale of O'Rourke.

Jack Coombs, who practically won the world's championship for the Philadelphia Americans in 1912, may not be able to get into the game again this season. He became seriously ill about a month ago. Coombs never fully recovered from his injury in the world's series with the New York Giants in 1911.

Eddie Graney, a San Francisco promoter, has started for Los Angeles, to confer with Joe Rivers in reference to a match between Rivers and Ritchie. Graney's trump card in a telegram from Billy Nolan announcing that he has accepted the offer of Graney for a 4th of July date at San Francisco between Rivers and Ritchie. Graney is sure that he can land the match.

It isn't his playing alone that makes Hans Wagner the star of National league fans. Here is a little story of the wonderful star that helps account for his popularity.

Four years ago Hans Wagner, rich in this world's goods, and, even then, weary of the game, announced his retirement. No holdout, no demand for money or privilege—just determined to quit and take things easy, that was all. Frank Prevattell in Pittsburg—and Harry Pulliam, now dead, went to see the German. He found Wagner obstinate, stubborn, and immovable. He went through that all, growled Hans: "I've got money—and more muscles. I need no more money—I can't stand much more ball playing. I'm done."

"Hans," said Pulliam, "this old smoky town is full of hard working, honest toilers, men of the mills. Little pleasure is theirs in life's mighty little. A Saturday afternoon—a few hours under the blue sky—and the chance to see Hans Wagner play—he stretches his legs out there to that field by thousands, just to see you. That's a joy and a real delight in their lives—and you don't want to take that pleasure away from them?"

"Give me that pen," growled Wagner—"I'll sign the contract. I'll stay as long as they want me!"

Charles Faust, once Giant mascot, is willing to appear as a witness if convicted of stealing from the Boston Red Sox. Faust would sign this season for nothing, but McGraw would not let him.

Clyde Milan is leading the league in base stealing. This is a great credit to him, and should be of great benefit to the Washington team. However, as Clyde announced his intention to beat his own record of 85 bases made last season, and pitcher, for, sooner or later, the attempt to fatten his record will undoubtedly be at the expense of the team. In the effort to stretch his base stealing Milan is likely to cost his clubmates a victory or two.

Wagner's play has been a bonus, and the man playing to the grand stand—are costly person to team work and to a team's efficiency.

HERRICK TO FIGHT NEGRO HEAVYWEIGHT

Rufus Cameron, of Kansas City, is Matched to Battle With Jack Herrick in Juarez, on June 8.

Rufus Cameron, the Kansas City negro heavyweight, has been matched with Jack Herrick, of El Paso, for the weight championship of the southwest. The battle will be staged in Juarez on June 8. Cameron is credited with a four round draw with Frank Moran, a Pittsburg scrapper; also a battle with Denver Jack Geever, who is matched to fight with Herrick. Cameron's partner, Jim Flynn, has also been defeated by Cameron.

The fighting weight of Cameron is 174 pounds. When Herrick is stripped on the scales with very little training he will weigh 160 and will be in prime condition. He is recorded as one of the biggest middleweights in the boxing game, and has considerable powers to reduce weight to his small waist and powerful shoulders.

Both of the Herrick boys will start light workouts Monday afternoon at a special training camp fixed up by the local promoters. No training quarters have yet been arranged for Cameron.

FILIPINO BALL PLAYERS WILL TOUR THE UNITED STATES

Washington, D. C., May 22.—A small band of Filipinos is coming to the United States, the bureau of insular affairs has been directed to "knock the dirt" as its members are reported to have declared, out of this country.

The all-Filipino baseball team is expected to arrive in San Francisco about June 11.

One of the four pitchers, Jaramilla, a former star pitcher of the old Lolo high school, is reported to be a "southpaw" of no mean ability. The team expects to tour the east as well as to play a series of games in west coast states.

ST. JOSEPH AND DENVER MAKE CHANGES IN THEIR LINEUP

St. Joseph, Mo., May 22.—Permanent changes in the lineups of the Denver and St. Joseph baseball clubs have been announced by their respective managers. Jack Holland, of the local team, has decided to retain outfielder Zwilling at first base and E. Watson in center field, these two players having filled these positions satisfactorily during the illness of first baseman Brewer.

Manager Hendrick of the Denver team, will play outfielder Butcher at shortstop in place of Matthews until Jack Coffey, the regular man, reports May 28.

HURLEY WINS GAME FROM SILVER CITY TEAM

Silver City, N. M., May 22.—Hurley won their initial game of the season here from the local team by the score of 6 to 2. Johnson worked for the Canters and held the locals to only three every day hits, while Barnett, the local pitcher, was nipped for eight runs which produced runs. Four errors were made by the players of both clubs. Eddie Ward of the local team taking advantage of a pass, stole home in the sixth inning.
