TO TAKE TESTIMONY IN BOUNDARY DISPUTE

W. W. Turney Confers With Attorney General's Department Relative to Texas-New Mexico Suit.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 8.—Former senator W. W. Turney, of El Paso, was here and had a conference with the attorney general's department relative to the boundary suit instituted in the United States Supreme court by the state of New Mexico against the state of Texas.

This suit which is an original action, involves about 15,000 acres of fertile land situated a short distance from the city of El Paso, which land is now being claimed by New Mexico.

This land in question was sold many years ago by the state of Texas and is now in the possession of the purchasers and patents have been issued.

Attorney general Looney has appointed C. C. Robey, of Greenville, to take the testimony.

When the testimony has been taken it will be presented in the record to the supreme court for action.

WOULD FIGHT THE CANTEN IN ARMY

El Paso Woman, Mrs. Klester, Is Selected to Help Lead the Fight in D. A. R. If She Will.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 8.—Mrs. George W. Klester, 156 Tobin Place, El Paso, has been asked to lead a battle in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution against the army post canteen.

In a letter addressed to Mrs. Klester by William H. Anderson, of the Methodist denomination, Baltimore, Md., it is alleged that a resolution endorsing the army post canteen was "snaked" through the last congress of the D. A. R. and Mr. Anderson proposes to take up the matter at the coming convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America at Columbus, November 10, when 20,000 delegates representing the world will be in attendance.

The letter sent to Mrs. Klester by Mr. Anderson asks her to attend the next congress of the D. A. R. and to there lead in a battle for the reconsideration of the resolution which attracted little or no attention until the official report of the congress appeared, when it was discovered that what seemed to be an endorsement of the administration of Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A., was in fact and intent an open endorsement of the army post canteen.

EVERYBODY WILL WORK FOR GOOD ROADS AT ALBUQUERQUE ON SEPT. 11

Merchants, Clerks, Bankers and All Will Don Overalls and Help to Shovel and Haul Dirt to Improve the Roads In and Around the Duke City of New Mexico.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 8.—A proclamation of mayor D. K. B. Sellers recites that whereas numerous citizens of the state of New Mexico have taken up the idea of Good Roads day, among the many citizens and residents of the city of Albuquerque, and that Good Roads day is an event looking toward the upbuilding of the highways of the state in general, and particularly those near the city of Albuquerque, and it being the duty of every able bodied citizen to aid in this movement, Thursday, September 11, 1913, Good Roads day is declared a holiday, and he calls upon all citizens to do their utmost on that day to help in the making and repair of roads in the vicinity of Albuquerque.

The proclamation signifies, with other things, that Good Roads day has "caught on" and is now in progress toward a successful and satisfactory career.

Two committees took the field early yesterday afternoon, under the chairmanship of T. J. Bryant, of the Retail Merchants' association, and E. J. Strong, of the executive committee in charge of the affair. Each committee was armed with the yellow stars bearing red ink statements that the store where they were exhibited would close for Good Roads day. They wore lots of these signs all told and before the afternoon was over the supply had been exhausted and more were requisitioned.

Every store in town except one boot and shoe store and one grocery store, will close next Thursday for the greater good of good roads. That is, the proprietor or manager of each assured the committee he would close.

This step is expected to make it far easier for the recruiting committees to secure volunteers for the work. These committees took the field early this morning and he will be a most persuasive talker who escapes from their circle without donning one of the little tags that read "Volunteer Worker for Good Roads Day."

The principal labor required will be the loading of the wagons drawn by the ninety-two teams that have been secured for the day. The heaviest labor required will be the loading of the wagons with earth or gravel. The other labor will be the spreading of this material over the roads.

P. T. Lonergan, of the Indian service, yesterday announced that he would ask the Indians of the public lands to assist in the road work of Good Roads day.

YSLETA PEOPLE FIND CAR LINE CONVENIENT

Many Take Advantage of the Hourly Schedule to Come to El Paso to Shop or Visit.

Ysleta, Texas, Sept. 8.—A large number of valley people are taking advantage of the interurban car line in going to and from El Paso. An hourly schedule makes it convenient both for shoppers and business men who live in the valley and have their business in El Paso. A much more beautiful view of the valley is obtained from the car line than from the macadam road.

The interurban runs along the dense growth of trees, bushes and grass in the bosque near the river and then takes a route straight across the valley and runs near the mesa.

RECALL IS INVOKED AGAINST STRAW HAT

To the Top Shelf or the Garbage Can Must Go the Friend of Warmen Days, Says Editor.

"It was tattered, it was worn, "To be sure it had been worn— "Not to the little old red straw hat, the little, old, yellow straw hat is this dirge dedicated. The recall has been invoked against this friend of the passing summer, and it is due for the garbage can and the goat pasture. Sept. 15 is the official date for the permanent retirement of the summer straw hat south of Messrs. Mason and Dixon's well known line.

But the combination of a southern sun and local rains has had its full effect upon the hard boiled summer headgear, and it is outlawed by the state of limitations in El Paso parts after Sept. 1.

A few holdovers are still to be seen on the streets and will be seen until the first frost comes, but the ratio of fells to straws is now about 80-20. It is a daily bit of tragedy to see a summer grass widower blow into a hat shop, jump his old straw full in the face and then sneak back to the soft hat department and exchange it for a green felt Kelly with the ribbon bow pattern.

There is much of the pathos of the autumnal season in this transformation from straw to felt. It marks the close of the open season of linen suits and leed drinks. Like the leaves from the trees, the straw lids are softly falling.

TWO COUNTIES ARE PUZZLED OVER BONDS

Graham and Greenlee Ask Attorney General's Office to Straighten Out the Matter for Them.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 8.—A complicated tangle that has arisen over the bonded indebtedness of Graham and Greenlee counties has been passed up to the attorney general's office by the state tax commission.

When Greenlee county was detached from Graham, some five or six years ago, one of the considerations was that it should assume all of Graham's bonded indebtedness, amounting to $147,000. The bonds bore interest at 5 percent. Greenlee county simply issued 5 percent bonds of her own for that amount and delivered them to Graham. Since then Graham has been using the interest paid by Greenlee to pay the interest on the old bonds.

But the state came along and, in 1912, refunded certain county bonds, including those issued by Graham, at 4 1/2 percent. Under the direction of the tax commission, the supervisors of Graham this year made a levy to pay the interest on her share of the refunded bonds at a 1-1/2 percent and provide a sinking fund of 3 percent. Now the supervisors have protested that that levy should not have been made. They want Graham eliminated from the question altogether. More than enough must be paid Graham by Greenlee to take care of the interest and when the bonds are due, there are Greenlee's bonds to take care of the debt. The supervisors cannot see the necessity of taxing the property owners to provide interest, and a sinking fund, though the law seemingly says that they must do so.
