

El Pasoans Criticise Mexican Policy

Mass Meeting of Protest Crowds Theater to the Doors. Killing of Benton Causes Strong Expressions of Indignation.

In Defence of Gen. Villa; a Letter By Dr. Raschbaum

He Declares That Villa Is a Patriot and Assails Statement That Americans Are Killed Because They Are Americans.

PUBLIC sentiment against the treatment of foreigners in Mexico crystallized itself in the form of a mass meeting to protest against the killing of William S. Benton at the El Paso theater Friday evening.

As to the life and acts of Gen. Villa, branding him as a outlaw and branding him as an outlaw and branding him as a brute for committing an assault on one of his men, and because that individual was a protegee of the aristocratic privileged class, or so-called Cientificos.

It is not true; of the many thousand citizens of the United States killed during the revolutionary period, but they were principally personal enemies.

Resolutions severely criticizing the American state department for its inactivity in the protection of foreigners in Mexico were presented to the meeting and passed with a shout of approval and with only one dissenting vote.

When Madero was assassinated, Villa and a handful of men took arms against the usurper Huerta. Villa is a great friend of the poor and if his heart does not sway his mind in dealing with the traitors of our country, he should not be censured for that.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

The meeting was orderly, only one man in the second gallery making any show of opposition to the proceedings, except when Dr. Louis Raschbaum voted "no" on the resolutions.

Now consider the many plots that were rampant at this particular time and the many Cientificos plotting in and near El Paso. Mr. Benton had expressed himself freely before he came over to Juarez; he had declared that he would "have it with Villa"; tell him what he thought of him.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

The meeting had a serious atmosphere when it was opened. It was the result of a series of informal indignation meetings which had been held in the local hotel lobbies during the day.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

W. H. McDaniels, a railroad man who worked in Mexico and who is now in El Paso, was the first to speak.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

W. H. McDaniels, a railroad man who worked in Mexico and who is now in El Paso, was the first to speak.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

W. H. McDaniels, a railroad man who worked in Mexico and who is now in El Paso, was the first to speak.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

W. H. McDaniels, a railroad man who worked in Mexico and who is now in El Paso, was the first to speak.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

Mexico that it would hold the Mexican leader personally responsible for the outrages committed against American citizens.

Government's Vacillation. "We submit these facts as evidence that our government is through its vacillating policy, encouraging these lawless leaders to commit all kinds of outrages against our citizens."

Ask Congress to Demand Facts. "Resolved, that this message be sent to the president of the United States, the British ambassador at Washington, the United States senators and those of New Mexico, with the request that he read into the Congressional Record, and we appeal to them and to all our representatives in Congress to demand facts."

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

continued Mr. McDaniels when the laughter subsided. "I have been running from it for four years. Those resolutions suit me all right with one exception, I would include in there that Willy Bryan and Wilson have a session from the union for 30 days."

"I am sorry for that dead man, Mr. Benton, but I am glad that they killed him. It is nothing to kill an American in Mexico. Mr. Hay my neighbor, was shot because he had nothing and shot by Salazar's hand the leader of which is now a guest of the United States. He is a guest of this country while my wife and myself are left rustling here to get something to eat the best way we can."

Why He Left Mexico. "If you stand on San Francisco street from 6 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night, I will show you every mail wagon that goes by with the 'U. S.' on the side driven by a Mexican (here some one in one of the upper galleries made an undignified remark.) I am not afraid to die here. I live at 79 1/2 Texas street. I am not afraid to live in Mexico, but I don't want to die there. That is why I came out."

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

ated man. I have seen millions of dollars worth of property destroyed just because the owners were American. Bridges, 50 feet high, have been burned and the trains run off into the canyon just because the owners were Americans. Not all Mexicans are like that. There are some of the finest people among the Mexicans one ever met. But all I can say is that they are in mighty bad company. Let the El Pasoans speak. If anyone has anything to say against me, let him say it. I don't care."

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

overturn to Huerta. "There is no one who loves the Stars and Stripes any more. I don't care. I would fight for them again. What did Grape Juice Willy do when he was first appointed to office? He went down to California and told them what kind of laws they ought to have. Said if they did not adopt those laws we might have war with Japan. Rather war with Japan than disunion with Japan. I have a 6-8 toward and that is what Grape Juice Willy is."

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

It is reasonable to believe that the few orators—conspicuous by the absence of El Paso speakers—are better informed than the government of the United States of America.

Buchoz-Schuster Co. SOLE AGENTS First Floor, Hotel Sheldon El Paso, Texas

SEE THE NEW THINGS THAT JUST ARRIVED AT THIS Sale U. S. Army Goods AT 115 S. OREGON ST. All wool Red Blankets $1.50, $2.00 All wool Gray Blankets $4.00 Something entirely new—the Clothes and Hat Tree, See it $3.50 Bayonet Fern Stand $5.00 Smoking Tables $2.00 And thousands of other novelties no other stores have. Our own ideas. W. S. KIRK.

"You furnish the girl We'll furnish the Home" COMFORT AND SATISFACTION Combined in our house furnishings. Comfortable beds to sleep in and comfortable chairs to sit in should make a happy home.

Dick's Cafe 105 SAN FRANCISCO, Building, Herald Building, Now Open, All White Help. Best up-to-date Service. Moderate Prices. Specials From Our Hardware Dep't. More Pleasure Is there anything that will afford more pleasure than an hour digging and hoeing or raking about the yard or garden, especially when the warm weather is forcing new spears of green plants to peep through the ground each day. Our supply of Garden Tools is complete and priced as follows: RAKES A 12 tooth all malleable iron rake with good strong handle. 25c A 14 tooth cut wrought steel rake with straight grain oak handle. 50c An all steel heavy reinforced rake, has 14 teeth cut from one piece of solid steel. Best quality white ash handle. 75c 25 ft. 1-2 in. Cotton Covered Hose, guaranteed. $2.50 50 ft. 1-2 in. Cotton Covered Hose, guaranteed. $4.50 25 ft. 3-4 in. Cotton Covered Hose, guaranteed. $2.70 50 ft. 3-4 in. Cotton Covered Hose, guaranteed. $4.95 25 ft. 3-4 in. Best Red Rubber Hose. $3.40 50 ft. 3-4 in. Best Red Rubber Hose. $6.30 25 ft. 3-4 in. Wire Wound Rubber Hose. $3.40 50 ft. 3-4 in. Wire Wound Rubber Hose. $6.30 GARDEN HOSE We are this year as every year headquarters for Garden Hose. Just received a large stock direct from factory to insure new fresh goods. We can furnish any lengths desired in either cotton covered or solid rubber. Below we quote prices of made up lengths. Garden Spades—You will need one soon. Best quality, heavy and durable. Price. 75c Shovels—How can you fill the wheelbarrow or move that pile of dirt without a shovel? Purchase a good one here for. 75c Full Upholstered Rocker Similar to illustration, upholstered in Spanish Marqueline leather, very large and comfortable. Special on sale. $17.00 $1.00 down and $1.00 each week. KITCHEN CABINET as shown here. Extra large table top, roomy bins, large drawers and pastry board. Not to be compared with the cheap cabinets generally offered. Special on sale. $7.85 $1.00 down and 50c each week. DRESSERS We have a large assortment of dressers in all finishes, maple, mahogany, golden oak and fumed oak, at prices to suit all. From $50.00 down $10.00 to. Easy payments to all. ROGERS FURNITURE CO. 110 N. Stanton We Make Shades to Order—Any size, color or price. A phone call will bring our man to your home or office.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS "Pape's Diapiesin" ends Indigestion, Gas, Dyspepsia and Stomach Misery in five minutes. If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, retarding to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food or have a feeling of distress, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can see clear away this nuisance. Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent boxes of Pape's Diapiesin. Then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapiesin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will direct and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat. Besides, it makes you go to the table with a clear mind, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation. This will have many "Pape's Diapiesin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparatory, too. If you ever take it for indigestion, gas, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery. Get some clear and fresh, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes—Advertisement.