Colquitt Wires Strong Protest to Washington Against Their Elimination.

Austin, Texas, Aug. 18.—Gov. Colquitt and commissioner of insurance and banking Collier today took action in the nature of a protest against the action of the secretary of the treasury...

These officials today wired the Texas delegation, secretary of the treasury McAdoo, Carter Glass, chairman of the currency association, senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, and congressman Oscar Underwood on the subject. This is the text of the message.

"We are advised that secretary of treasury has ruled that state banks and trust companies cannot at this time join the national currency association organized under the Aldridge-Vreeland act. This is great injustice to our state banks and we urgently request that immediate steps be taken by legislative enactment if necessary, in order that state banks may be rendered eligible for membership in such association; also think and urgently request an amendment to the original bill authorizing and permitting that at least 25 per cent of emergency currency issued be based on commercial paper, instead of 20 per cent as at present.
