German, Pretending to Be On Mission of Mercy, Carries His Revolver.

With this photograph, just received from Ostend, there comes a dramatic story. The picture is of a wounded German being taken from a trench in which he has been brought from the outskirts. He is about to be carried aboard a hospital ship for treatment. On August 25, the day the above photo was taken, three groups of German soldiers, riding in armored automobiles, made a daring attempt to enter Ostend. The chauffeur of two of the cars, were killed by well directed shots and the cars they were driving overturned. The third driver attempted to turn his car around and flee, but it crashed into a tree. The men who occupied the car took to their heels, but most of them were brought down by the Belgian fire. Among them was the man shown in the photograph. He received a wound in the right shoulder. When hit he was seen to try to tear from his arm a Red Cross emblem he was wearing. When brought into Ostend he could give no satisfactory explanation of his wearing the Red Cross emblem while he carried a revolver at his side, two chambers of which had been discharged. Fifteen minutes after the above picture was taken the wounded man met his doom.

An appropriation of $1000 for the army tournament, which is to be held here October 2, 3 and 4, was also made by the chamber of commerce directors and later approved by the budget fund trustees. Approximately $1100 of this amount will be used for prizes while the remainder will go for incidental expenses. It was pointed out that the tournament will take the place of a full scale war, but avoid the destruction and that it will draw large crowds. Special rates will be given by the railroads and the tournament will be made the big event of the fall season in American eyes.

There are indications, however, that the Germans are arriving in force and are marching in an easterly direction while the Russian advance is retreating. The Alle river flows north and east southeast from Koenigsberg in Germany.

GERMANS RECAPTURE MUEHLENHAUSEN

From the extreme right of the French line comes a report that battle scarred Muehlenhausen has fallen to the possession of France. A careful scrutiny of the news from France and Germany leads English observers to the conclusion that both sides are still operating to the east of Paris on a huge scale, but without that impetuosity which characterized the first months of the campaign. Damage already has been inflicted to give the antagonists a wholesome respect for the hitting power of each other.

Vienna reports that the Austrians have resumed the offensive. This marks the second stage of a nine day battle in which 450,000 infantry, 4000 cavalry, 1500 machine guns and 2000 field guns were engaged on the Russian side. "On Sunday the Austrians annihilated the entire Serbian Timok division near Nitrovitz. The military attaches of the neutral powers with the German troops officially state that the enemies of Germany are using dum-dum bullets.
