Letters To The Herald

[All communications must bear the signature of the writer, but the name will be withheld if requested.] THE MUSICAL UNION. One of the best things I have seen on this municipal band controversy that is so seriously agitating our body politic, is the line in red at the bottom of Friday night's Herald that reads, "Before planning for Independence day, let the union hand's consent." The fact should certainly be evident to all concerned by this time, that the union musicians know their legal rights and that they can neither be bullied nor ridiculed into giving them up. At the same time, they have, in every way possible, made it plain that they are a public spirited class of citizens and that they will be very glad, if given the opportunity, to render every assistance within their power to "Help El Paso grow," so long as their own legal rights and existence are not ruthlessly trampled upon. Considering these facts, and with the recent musical fiasco in connection with the opening ceremonies of the "Great White Way," on San Francisco street, fresh in our minds, the suggestion is certainly timely that we give these boys the consideration that is their legal due in making our plans for the proper celebration of our "national birthday."

REPLIES TO HOENES.

Editor El Paso Herald: Replying to the article in The Herald of June 11, 1915, by Gustave C. Hoenes, would like to say that perhaps were I engaged in battle I too, would lose my manhood and become a savage and gladly slay women and children if opportunity presented, and I am certain I would never boast of it. Of course a civilian would never be made afflicted with "that war weakness," a temporary return to the primitive and savage of their own, but should they become afflicted with this in no doubt but a judicious application of the bayonet would bring relief. He states that the Lusitania carried arms and ammunition and that this alone justified the attack made upon it. I can't say that there was no such contraband carried because I was not there. Even, grant the line had a cargo of contraband, I fail to see where love of country would have caused me to sink those non-combatants without warning. I tremble to think of facing my mother with the blood of those passengers on my hands. What they suffering with "mental aberration" Speaking of civil war history, have you read of the woman that flouted the Stars and Stripes in Stonewall Jackson's face? Was his sacred hurt because he ordered his troops to march on the States? Or was it because he held that against him? Of course there is some difference in waving a flag at troops and firing upon them, but the principle is the same. I have studied human nature some and have found that brave as well as dangerous men are as a rule quiet and the last to boast. I have found that the man who is always ready to tell of his prowess is puffed up with a brag of his own. Of course there are exceptions to all rules. Should war be declared, the medical board would I hope, accept Mr. Hoenes on past performances if nothing else, overlooking such things as a hard heart, an abnormal bump on the head, a slightly enlarged cranium. One never can tell. Chase Wilmar.

FINE FRUIT GROWN ON MESA WITHOUT IRRIGATION WATER

J. F. Reeves, of Newman, N. M., the pioneer "dry farmer" of the southwest, this year has some of the finest fruit on half an acre of land at his home near Newman, that can be found anywhere in the valley. He has irrigated the fruit some, but not much, as he has only a windmill and he needs most of the water for his cattle, so has little to spare for irrigation purposes. G. M. Knox returned today from a visit to Mr. Reeves and brought some sample limbs from peach and plum trees. One plum tree limb has 50 plums on it, all of them very large—bigger than the yellow of a hen's egg. Several plums from peach trees were equally well loaded. The peaches are all large, too, and of fine appearance. They are beginning to ripen.

Helps Dublin Save the Babies

LADY WINBORNE.

Dublin, Ireland.—Lady Winborne, the wife of the new Irish viceroy, has granted her patronage to the work of the Women's National Health association, founded by lady Aberdeen. This lady has just presented an address of welcome to lady Winborne and in doing so begged her aid in their work, especially in an endeavor to reduce the very high death rate of infants. In this respect it appears Dublin has the unenviable record of having the highest percentage of infant deaths as compared with other capital cities of the kingdom. Last year it was 145 per 1000 and for the first months of the present year it will be higher still. London and Edinburgh rarely exceed 100. Lady Winborne readily promised her support towards reducing this appalling death rate.

TO DETERMINE RAILROAD VALUATIONS ON JUNE 20

Austin, Tex., June 14.—A. P. Bagby, jr., state tax commissioner, has announced that the final valuations of intangible assets of the railroads of the state will be decided upon June 20. The board held a hearing a few days ago, when the bulk of the railroads were heard, and most of these lines protested against the valuations as fixed by the board in its preliminary estimates. On account of the rate hearing now before the railroad commission, representatives of the Sunset-Central lines, the Katy and several other of the large companies, asked for a postponement of the hearing before the board until June 20, which was granted.

900 MAROONED PASSENGERS REACH AMARILLO ON TRAIN

Amarillo, Texas, June 14.—More than 900 marooned passengers on Denver trains reached Amarillo on the first train to get through after the flood tides. At Clarendon, Pullman conductor Bagby, who had been running through Amarillo for 15 years, was taken from the train and died shortly afterward. Potomac poisoning was given as the cause of death. All bridges washed out by the recent floods have been repaired and damaged portions of road beds restored. Regular passenger service over the Fort Worth & Denver road has been restored and is expected to be normal within a day or two, as is water at Wichita Falls, which has receded almost to normal.

HINDU REVOLT PLANNED IN U. S.

Trial of 81 Under Indictment Is Being Conducted In India As Result.

Calcutta, India, June 14.—Trial of 81 persons under indictment on a charge of inciting Hindus to mutiny is under way at Lahore. It is claimed the plot was formed in the United States at a meeting of 5000 Hindus at Sacramento in August of last year. "It was thought," declared one witness who was present at the meeting, "that as a great war had broken out in Europe, and troops from India were serving in the East, it was a good chance for Hindus to demand their rights and, if necessary, to use force." The witness was called as a part of the evidence in the trial of the 81 persons in San Francisco on August 20 for Hong Kong, enroute for India. The Sacramento meeting was one of a number held at various places in America after the failure of the attempt to secure a right to obtain the entry of 400 laborers into Vancouver, contrary to law, and their return to the east. Started Seditious Campaign. On the arrival at Hong Kong of the party of Hindus which sailed from Sacramento last August, 1000 persons went to various parts of the Far East with a view to starting seditious propaganda. They were active among the Hindus stationed at Hong Kong and they instigated the nearly successful mutiny at Singapore on February 13. The mutiny had considerable success in its features being an attack on the Lahore cantonment arsenal. Conspiracy Frustrated. Emisaries were sent in all directions a week in advance, but on February 19 suspicion fell on one Kirpal Singh, who had arranged to go and excite the troops at Main Mir. A party of the conspirators was surrounded at a house in Lahore and the conspiracy was frustrated.

RUSSIANS SHAM DEATH AND THEN ATTACK

London, Eng., June 14.—How Russian troops on one occasion shammed death in order to effect a surprise attack upon the charging Germans is described in a dispatch to the Times from Warsaw. The dispatch states that a rising in the Punjab, the united provinces and the northwest frontier provinces was ordered on February 21, one of its features being an attack on the Lahore cantonment arsenal. The attack was successful. The Russian reserve forces with rage carried the attack forward, using bayonets and clubbed guns. In the meantime a change of wind carried the gas into the German trenches, where many German soldiers fell in agony from the effects of the poison. When the Germans reached the entrenchments the Russian opened fire on the sweeping area of the first ranks. Not a single Russian soldier budged from his position, but all remained firing until they were ordered to discontinue. The operators of the machine guns worked their pieces with the aid of soldiers holding wet blankets around their faces until they died together. The Russian reserve forces with rage carried the attack forward, using bayonets and clubbed guns. In the meantime a change of wind carried the gas into the German trenches, where many German soldiers fell in agony from the effects of the poison.

WOMEN WILL REPLACE 170,000 BRITISH FARMERS

London, Eng., June 14.—There is a war shortage of 170,000 male agricultural laborers on the farms of Scotland and Wales, according to a report from the board of agriculture. During the next two months the board hopes to fill virtually all these vacancies with women. Already women have come to the assistance of farmers in the counties of Essex, Norfolk and Lincolnshire. Several hundred are being trained and employed in place of men laborers on dairy farms in Cheshire, Dorsetshire and Berkshire. It is suggested that all girls from the high schools and colleges be sent out in July to help farmers get in their hay.

She was 340 feet long, 45 feet beam and 22 feet deep. The Arndale was carrying a cargo of wheat to Archangel, the only important Russian port bordering on the Arctic ocean.

PLEA AGAINST FRANK'S WIFE

Georgia Solicitor Presents Evidence Tending to Show Frank's Guilt.

Atlanta, Ga., June 14.—The hearing on the plea for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment was resumed before Gov. Slaton today and was expected to be completed by night. Solicitor Dorsey presented his brief against Frank's application and made an oral argument. Mr. Dorsey discussed the case on three points raised by Frank's attorneys: First, that Frank was not accorded a fair trial; second, that the evidence did not show the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt; third, that Judge L. S. Ross, the trial judge, was not convinced of the prisoner's guilt. Regarding the first point, Mr. Dorsey said counsel never asked a charge of venue to be taken from the jurisdictional sentiment toward Frank prior to the trial. "There were no statements in the trial," he said, "which might have been calculated to incense the people because of the harrowing details of the crime. The state supreme court, however, ruled upon this point that there had been no showing by the defense that there had been any demonstration of prejudice in the courtroom which could have been held to have deprived the prisoner of a fair trial. Judge Ross himself, declared the solicitor, had had a fair trial. The state and federal courts also held, he said, that the allegation of mob violence was not sustained. Atlanta Ministers Ask Commutation. Dorsey was interrupted to allow the Rev. C. B. Wilmer, a local Episcopalian minister, to present a petition from Atlanta ministers urging commutation. Dr. Wilmer urged the governor to take the case to the state supreme court and to Atlanta before and during the trial, by the manner in which the evidence against Frank was obtained and the reasonable doubt of Frank's guilt, which he said still existed. Reopening, Dorsey replied briefly to Dr. Wilmer's statement, but he felt that there was a clear case against Frank without using the testimony of the doctor, James H. Lee, Jr. Taking up the allegation that the evidence did not show Frank's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, the solicitor declared 10 witnesses gave evidence derogatory to Frank's moral character prior to the trial, and that the defense did not ask any of these witnesses a single question.

Owing to the enormous crowds in attendance at the opening of the "Popular's" great advertising campaign, far in excess to what they had anticipated, it may be possible that some few customers failed to receive "Popular's" great advertising campaign, and that the defense did not ask any of these witnesses a single question.
