

JITNE ORDINANCE IS EFFECTIVE; THE CARS DISAPPEAR OVER NIGHT

Straphangers' Union Has Re union Friday Morning When Jitnes Fail to Appear; Only Six Car Owners Make Bond; Injunction Suit Is Being Heard in the District Court.

FRIDAY was jitne day in El Paso. The new ordinance regulating jitne buses went into effect Friday morning, almost all of the jitne cars stopped running over night and the application for an injunction against the new ordinance was argued in the first district court.

The injunction restraining the city from enforcing the ordinance, as he held that it was discriminatory and unjust. The hearing was transferred from the 45th district court to the 41st district court Friday morning and the case was continued until the afternoon session. Judge P. R. Price is expected to render his decision late this afternoon.

Ware Represents City. W. B. Ware, city attorney, argued the case for the city and declared that the ordinance was only a reasonable regulation of the jitne traffic and one made necessary by the number of the cars. H. E. Stafford, for the Nickel Drivers' association, argued in favor of Grand Chancellor of Texas K. of P. Lodges Says State Will Be Divided.

"Texas will be divided into two or more separate states and El Paso will be the capital of the state formed west of the Pecos," declared grand chancellor H. E. Haggard, the Knights of Pythias lodges in Texas, Thursday night at the meeting which was given in his honor in the castle hall of El Paso lodge No. 82 in the Calista building.

"Because of its isolation from the remainder of the Texas domain, El Paso, some day, will be the capital of a new state and the headquarters of the new Pythian domain. The grand lodge officials have long desired to confer on El Paso for its annual meeting but, because of the distance, this has been impossible. Some day El Paso will be the center of her own domain and grand lodge meetings will then be held here."

After the regular meeting refreshments were served and many of speeches made by the members of the El Paso lodge. Judge Peyton F. Edwards, 14th infantry, Joseph L. Dyer, E. W. Jordan, Charles H. Russell and others made short talks. Mr. Dyer interpreted the portions of the initiatory ceremony and Mr. Jordan gave readings. U. S. Goss responded to the grand chancellor's address and made a short talk on the purposes of the order.

The grand lodge rank was conferred upon past chancellor Edward S. Himmelsel, who was officially appointed by the grand chancellor as deputy grand chancellor for the El Paso district for 1915-16. W. L. Robinson and Rodolph Schuler.

has been the custom for months. More street cars than usual came and went and every one seemed to be carrying more passengers than usual.

Many forgot. Many workers in the downtown stores and offices had not remembered Thursday night that the "jitne famine" would be on Friday and were surprised when they missed the "jitners" from their regular runs. There was an immediate increase in street car fares. Time clocks in the stores showed many employees tardy and most of them accounted for it by the unexpected absence of the five cent passes. The few jitne owners who complied with the ordinance and paid the $1000 bond did a rushing business and could not begin to take care of all the passengers wanting rides.

"We Have Made Bond." One machine carried a big sign which notified prospective passengers that "we have made bond." The jitne company which operates about 29 machines had arranged bond for all the cars.

A conductor on the Washington park line said he had collected as many fares up to 3 o'clock as he had done during his whole nine hour shift on any previous day for many weeks. The Boulevard, Fort Bliss, Manhattan Heights and Government Hill lines all reported a big increase of business and extra cars were put into service on many different lines.

Besides the Jitne company, six independent owners of passenger carrying machines complied with the ordinance and continue to operate today. They were A. O. Gonzalez, J. M. R. Wright, E. C. Hernandez, Juan F. Trevina and H. L. English.

GERMANY WILL LIKELY MEET AMERICAN DEMANDS

Berlin, Germany, June 25.—It is declared in official circles that there is increasing likelihood that the forthcoming German note will go far toward meeting the American demands as contained in the last Washington note regarding the Lusitania and other incidents.

While it is stated that submarine action against liner merchantmen will not and can not be abandoned entirely, it is increasingly probable that the German note will embody some proposals to exempt ships employed in commerce principally in passenger traffic from submarine attacks.

Such ships, it is said, would, of course, be subject to stoppage and examination by submarines in accordance with the practice in vogue prior to the present war, and the German note, it is contended, will be in line with the regular rules of the prize law, particularly regarding the safety of passengers and crews, would be observed.

Montoya Fixes Age of Girl. Montoya Is Alleged to Have Assaulted.

"Father Vandermaassen, parish priest of the Las Cruces, N. M., Catholic church, was called as a witness Thursday afternoon in the trial of Domingo Montoya, county constable, charged with assault upon Josefa Hernandez, in the 74th district court. He had with him the baptismal records of the church. He testified that he was the legal custodian of the records; the records showed that Josefa Hernandez was baptized on March 11, 1896, which would make the prosecutrix over 15 years of age. The state strenuously objected to the introduction of the record because of the fact there was an apparent change in the record, it appearing that an entry was made in lead pencil, while the entire other portion of the record, from 1890 to 1895, appeared in hot red ink. The court permitted the introduction of this particular baptismal record.

Records Tampered With. Father and under examination, that he did not know who had written in the pencil portion in the entry of Josefa Hernandez, but he testified that he knew that some of his records and papers had been tampered with in the past few months. Josefina Marquez was recalled Thursday night for cross examination, and was on the stand over an hour under cross examination by counsel for the defendant. Her eyes were moist and her voice trembled as she moved and set were gone into in detail in an effort to reflect upon the character of the little girl.

Friday morning the first witness for defendant was Gilberto Montoya, who testified that he was the godfather of Josefa Hernandez, and that the child was 15 years, 2 months and 2 days old.

Companion Tells Story. Petra Morales was a state's witness examined during the afternoon session Thursday. She testified that her trip made down the valley by Domingo Montoya, Josefa Hernandez, Jose Nieto and herself. She told of stopping at the White Horse inn where they each drank three glasses of beer.

"We then started back towards El Paso and the witness continued, 'and when we reached the point about half way to the city, the machine was stopped and the lights were turned on. Domingo Montoya took Josefa by the hand and told her to get out Josefa then pulled her out of the car.'"

Dr. G. S. Calnan testified to having examined Josefa Hernandez and to having seen evidence of recent lacerations.
