

"NO BOOZE OR FILTH IN ROTARY" ROTARIANS RESPECT WOMANHOOD

President Albert Scores Smutty Tellers and Half Drunken Jesters; Says Rotary is Composed of the Successes, Not Failures; Good Government Begins With Individual, "Parade des Toilettes."

THIRTEEN Mrs. 22,000 of you and none of you are failures," declared Allen D. Albert, international president of the Rotary Clubs of the world, at the weekly luncheon Thursday at Hotel Paso del Norte.

Rotary ideal is something different from that of the lodge with its secret passwords and pledges, continued Mr. Albert. "Our ideal is relaxation. We meet to exchange ideas and courtesies. Two things distinguish our Rotary from other such gatherings. In the first place, we have discovered that we don't have to be half drunk to have a good time. The Rotary board has no place for a drop of cheating intoxication. In the second place, we have learned the interesting lesson that fun can be clean—without being dragged into the mud of nastiness. As Thackeray has said, we have discovered the wit that combines love and wit. We have too much respect in Rotary for methodized and womanhood to drag their name into our seats. Without booze and filth, we meet to try to make men better. Men must begin by being a success himself—by paying his bills, establishing his credit, being square with himself. Good government among the various units of citizenship will always bring good government to a municipality; government worthy of the people. Teaches Service. "Rotary teaches a man to serve largest within his sphere of influence. It is developing men who have been indifferent in church, in the home, in business life, and in making them better fathers, better husbands and better citizens. A man who becomes a failure, loses his business classification and accordingly loses his membership in Rotary. Therefore, we have none but the live ones. Your Rotary club can never become a chamber of commerce; its membership is too limited for that; but it must be a factor in your community. It does not propose to replace any other organization, but to make better men of those who are its members."

Mayor and Congressman Present. The banquet hall of Hotel Paso del Norte was decorated in palms and flowers for the occasion and an orchestra furnished music for the luncheon, which was not only attended by all Rotarians, but by many members of the Lions, the A. C. Club and the chamber of commerce. President R. B. Orndorff, of the chamber of commerce, had a place at the table of honor and with Mayor Lea, president A. E. Rowlands, of the Rotary club, who presided; congressman Smith and others, extended welcome to the distinguished guest of the day.

"Parade des Toilettes."

The tables were arranged in three long rows, two on each side of the room, one in the center. After Mr. Albert had spoken, the meeting was turned over to the White House, which featured "parade des toilettes" with living models, who walked between the tables upon rich carpeting that had been laid for the occasion.

Mrs. M. Coblentz, president of the White House, accepted the gavel from president Rowlands, and after a few moments on ready to wear garments, introduced M. P. Carlock, who had charge during the rest of the meeting and the display of the living models.

The young women who exhibited the toilettes were Mrs. V. Vaughan, Mrs. T. Murray and Miss Anne Carson. Each made three appearances and exhibited some wonderful creations, including evening dresses, walking dresses, and wraps. In one of her promenades, Miss Carson distributed carnations from a dainty basket. One of the models carried a bird cage with one of her costumes.

Mr. Carlock and Mr. Coblentz were assisted by Messrs. H. F. Huff, Sidney Mayer and Charles Hirsch.

The models were received with acclamation and bravos, and additional spontaneity was offered in the zest of the promenades when Mr. Albert, mayor Tom Lea and Col. E. Smith, of the Sixth infantry, proffered their arms as escorts in several of the demonstrations.

Beautiful Decorations. In decorating the dining hall, palms and the fronds of small Japanese ferns were used. At the already plush draped windows and seats covered the guests in order to give the "pink color" that is essential in showing a beautiful woman, beautifully groomed at her best.

As the luncheon concluded chairs were reversed in order to secure a better view of the styles, with their embellishments of swaggar sticks, bird cages and fairy wands.

The promenades were closed with an impromptu entertainment by master Tom Holland, an orphan child, who gave an impersonation of Charlie Chaplin and sang with the charming help of a small youngster, "This is the Life" and "Tiptoeing."

Closing Talks. Mayor Tom Lea, Col. Smith, congressman Smith were all asked for their views upon the show and their own expressed the kindest appreciation. Mayor Lea declared that "such citizenship as this assembled here today is what is making El Paso great." Congressman Smith said he no longer wondered at the growth of El Paso, after meeting such live, energetic men

CATTLE TRIANGLE WILL BE FORMED

J. H. Nations Proposes Rotation of Conventions Each Year.

Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 4.—A cattleman's triangle with its points in El Paso, Albuquerque and Amarillo was proposed to the executive committee of the Panhandle and Southwest Cattlemen's association at its meeting here.

The proposal was made by Mr. Nations during the meeting of the executive board and the president of the association declared that if Albuquerque and New Mexico produced a sufficient number of members, this plan would become a reality and alternative conventions would be held in each of the three cities.

Mr. Nations made it clear that the executive committee had not met in Albuquerque to consider plans for the entertainment of the cattlemen in March, as that will be left to the people of Albuquerque.

The president of the association also made it clear that drastic action must be taken to eliminate the cattle thieves from the southwest. He said that with the assistance of the Mexican government, this could be made possible as new members meant more funds for fighting the thieves who drive cattle across the border.

Other talks were made by A. B. McVilley, of Albuquerque, first vice president A. T. Wilson, of Clifton, Ariz., second vice president H. E. Crawford, of Buchanan, N. M., and secretary William Harrell, of El Paso. Max Nordmark, vice president of the commercial club, also spoke at the meeting which was held between the executive committee and the business men of Albuquerque.

and witnessing such cooperation and such enthusiasm.

Two hundred El Pasoans were present.

Each guest received as a souvenir a bottle of perfume, with the compliments of the White House, also a cigar with the compliments of the Bon Santo Cigar company, a newly established concern in El Paso.

Ready to Wear Business. M. Coblentz, in his brief talk upon the ready to wear business, told of how the fashions were created by men instead of women and stated that a few years ago one could count within a few minutes the number of ready to wear manufacturers in New York, but now there are 11,000.

"The leading firms and arbiters of fashion," he said, "send their buyers to Paris each year to ascertain what will be the vogue. A model is bought, for $400 or $500, brought to this country, Americanized and made available for the American woman, who objects to some of the lighter touches which European women desire, and sold for perhaps $100. Firms like Potvin & Permuter, of course, get their styles by walking about and looking in the shop windows."

Mr. Coblentz spoke of the development of the ready to wear along as one of the biggest industrial movements in modern American life and one which not only served womanhood, but lifted many of the burdens of design and assembling a garment—which was one of the facts of a few years back. In concluding his remarks he asked that mayor Lea secure, if possible, a city ordinance which would make it obligatory for every man in El Paso to buy at least two handsome gowns a season for his wife.

"Styles formerly changed once a season," he said, "now they change at least twice. Of course, this is hard on the ready to wear house." Then the men all laughed.

WATCH SORE THROATS because swollen glands or inflamed membranes often affect other tissues and lung trouble easily follows.

As Nature's corrector of throat troubles the pure cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is speedily converted into germ-resisting tissue; its tested glycerine is curative and healing, while this wholesome emulsion relieves the throat and upbuilds the forces to resist tubercular germs and avert the weakening influence which usually follows.

If any member of your family has a tender throat, get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion-to-day. Physicians prescribe it to avert throat troubles, overcome bronchial disorders and strengthen the lungs. No alcohol or harmful drugs. Always insist on Scott's.
