

TWO AMERICANS MAY BE EXECUTED

Arrested on Complaint of Gen. Ochoa That One Tried to Kill Him.

An American soldier of fortune named Flannery, serving in Villa's army as private in the Juarez garrison, has been thrown into jail charged by Gen. Manuel Ochoa, commander of the forces there, with plotting to kill him.

Both men were arrested at night outside Gen. Ochoa's house in Juarez, it was said. No weapons were discovered on their persons. They were to have been tried Monday morning, statements declared.

Positions Desperate. The acute situation in Juarez, where United States federal officials have daily expect a turn over to Carranza, has made Flannery's and Baker's positions desperate.

Flannery and Baker are without advice of lawyers and with Gen. Ochoa's command of the garrisoned town, either appearing against them or sending a signed statement as testimony in his place, little hope is held out for them.

Part of Conspiracy, It Claimed. Just what the case against Baker amounts to is not known, but in view of the unsettled state of affairs across the river, if anything is found against Flannery, Baker will be implicated with him as he was in his company when arrested.

Another alleged plot on the part of Carranza agents in Juarez to have Flannery kill Gen. Ochoa, as one of the first signals for the turn over of the garrison to the Carranza government, will be aired in the Juarez trial of the two men, it is declared.

U. S. TURNS $10,000,000 OVER TO CARRANZA, REPORT

Carranza advised from Mexico City that the United States government has turned over to the Carranza authorities in the capital the sum of $10,000,000 as customs collections during the occupancy of Vera Cruz by American military forces.

Another evidence of the good faith of the Wilson administration was reported as the receipt of assurances from Washington that damages suffered by foreigners during the revolution will not be pressed until the Mexican government is established on a firm financial basis.

Reinforcements Arrive. Reinforcements of some 300 men under Gen. Canuto Reyes arrived in Juarez direct from Chihuahua city Sunday evening, strengthening the forces in the border port against threatened revolt.

The train was not delayed in its trip from the Chihuahua capital, it was declared in Juarez Monday. The military telegraph line to the border and the state remained broken Monday forenoon, although the railroad line was said to be still open and intact, and the commercial wires operating.

Arrivals on Sunday's train from Chihuahua city report desperate food shortages there, with an acute lack of coal for fuel. The military train burned wood all the way up, it was stated.

Carrancista agents in El Paso declare that a fire destroyed the market place in Chihuahua city last week. Arrivals say nothing about it, and officials in Juarez, who claim commercial headquarters deny the truth of the report.

MRS. VILLA'S HOME ROBBED IN LOS ANGELES SUNDAY

Mrs. Francisco Villa, who is living in Los Angeles, was robbed of $400 in jewelry and a quantity of clothing Sunday while out riding in her automobile in the southern California city, according to a telegram received here Monday.

Mrs. Villa lives on Alvarado street in Los Angeles and her home was entered by burglars, who evidently waited until Mrs. Villa left the house in her car and then searched it for quantities of money supposed to have been kept there by Mrs. Villa.

GEN. AGRAMONTE DENIES REPORT OF HIS EXECUTION

Mexican consul Garcia in El Paso Monday noon received advice from Mexico City to the effect that Gen. C. H. M. Y. Agramonte has denied that he had been executed by Carrancistas as recently reported. The general is over 85 years old and still is engaged in the practice of law in the Mexican capital, the reports Monday stated.

Fear of a Revolt in the Garrison Leads to Precautions.

bridges, of course, but across the river in boxes and barrels. They cannot stop that. We even are paying a cent a cartridge for handsets brought in here by anyone."

Commercial Agency Protected. There are in the commercial agency, of which Gen. Francisco Villa's brother is the immediate head, eight 35 mm. field guns and one 7 mm. field piece with stacks of boxes of shrapnel shells for them. The guns are mounted and ready for placing in position and instant action. At the military headquarters, where Gen. Manuel Ochoa makes his office, are more field guns and ammunition. Boxes and cartridges are ready at hand in both places. Should an attempt to turn over to Carranza be made, the loyal Villa faction will possess the only heavy firing pieces in the entire city, it is claimed.

It is admitted in Juarez official circles that the situation is acute, and that a turn over may come during any night. But there will be a fight, it is maintained, and with the fighting material in loyal Villa hands, a revolt would face extermination, it is declared.

Chihuahua Wire Cut. The military wire between Chihuahua city and Juarez was broken at a point below Mochisuma on the National railway line, it was reported Saturday afternoon. Carrancista agents claimed that a detachment of troops had cut in near Gallego, killing the operator and severing the telegraph wires. Villistas claimed the break would be repaired.

Wounded Come From Chihuahua. Two trains arrived from Chihuahua city Saturday, one of them bringing out two cars of convalescent wounded. The wounded were reported by Villista agents to be at the border to add fresh men to the garrison of Juarez. None of the wounded were in bad shape, it was reported, all being advanced towards complete recovery.

The commercial telegraph lines to Chihuahua city, Jimenez and Parral remain untouched, it was stated in Juarez Sunday.

MARINE FILE SUITS FOR EXPORT DUTY

Carranza Consul Notifies Shippers That Drastic Steps Will Be Taken.

Mexican consul Andres G. Garcia, in El Paso, has posted notices to cattle and merchandise exporters out of northern Mexico, declaring that his government is taking drastic measures, threatening suits, to collect export duty on all cattle and merchandise brought out of any part of the republic which has not paid customs charges to the de facto government.

"I notify you by express order of the government of Mexico," read the notices headed by consul Garcia, "that as has been announced, export duty on merchandise and cattle brought out of Mexico at Palomas, Juarez and other points, which have not paid customs charges to the government, even while no customs agents of the recognized government are at those points, will be collected. If not paid, the government of Mexico in due time will take steps to file suits against owners, in accordance with the merits or demerits of each case; and that it shall be no excuse if duties are paid to parties unknown to this government of Mexico."

"In order to carry out this order the Mexican government is securing the necessary details of all shipments of merchandise and cattle out of Mexico from United States customs records and other available sources."

Cattle Intercepted. Advice Sunday stated that a force of the de facto government of Mexico marching on Ojinaga intercepted and seized a large herd of cattle intended for shipment into Texas territory.

The interception of the herd, stated to contain some several thousand head, cut an export tax of $15 a head on the revenue of the Villista faction across the river, it was said.

ADVANCED FREIGHT RATE HEARING IS NEAR A CLOSE

Audits Texas, Nov. 8.—When argument in the advanced freight rate hearing before the railroad commission is resumed Wednesday morning there will be two more speeches delivered and then the question of whether or not the Texas railroads are to get an increase in rates will be determined. The commission, however, does not propose to decide the question at this hearing. It expected the matter will be under advisement for a week or longer. It is generally considered that an increase in rates will be granted in the commission but it will not be such a substantial advance as desired by the railroads. It is likely the commission will be made certain commodities, while no change will be made in others. There may also be some important changes in the common point territory and apply straight mileage rates through out.

The closing speeches in the argument, to be resumed Wednesday, will be made by Judge Sam H. Cowan, for the commission and Judge J. W. Terry, general attorney for the railroads. Both sides anticipate an increase. This will end the argument.
