WESTERN COFFEE CO.,
El Paso, Texas.

Gentlemen:—

You claim your coffee is superior in flavor and aroma and brews better with western water than any other coffee on the market. While I have my doubts about what you say, I am willing to be convinced, as I would rather buy goods made in the West if quality is equal or better than goods made elsewhere.

Therefore, kindly send me a sample of your coffee selling at the same price as the coffee I am now using.
Yours very truly,

Quality, Purity, Cleanliness.

EL PASO business and professional men, manufacturers, merchants, farmers, laborers, etc. are united in regard to the one idea that the purchasing of strictly home made products is what is making El Paso better. By better we mean a better place to make a living in, a better place to work in, a better place to make a home in, and a better place to live in.

It is a well known fact that everything produced, whether manufactured or grown here, is equal in value and quality to any goods of the kind produced elsewhere, and in many cases better, costs no more, and sometimes less. You save in more ways than one. You cannot spend a dollar for home products, that the dollar does not do you quadruple service. You not only get the immediate benefit from the goods purchased, but the indirect good of helping your neighbor, your community and yourself. Thereby bettering your neighbors, your community and yourself. The producers of our home valley challenge the world to produce better goods than those produced here. They are striving endlessly to put before the people of the Southwest the best products that money can buy. Your cooperation in required and respectfully requested. We refer those who are not familiar with home products to the following alphabetical list, every item of which is sold by the firms advertising on this page.
