MUSICAL FEAST FOR ROTARIANS

Dr. F. R. Koch Tells of His New Production, "Scenes From Cloudcroft."

El Paso Rotarians had the pleasure of listening to a premier presentation of one of the numbers from Dr. Frederick R. Koch's suite, "Scenes from Cloudcroft," at their luncheon on Thursday in the Sheldon grill. The luncheon was a musical one, given for the business at the close, in which selections of delegates to the national convention at Cincinnati during July, and to the formation of an Albuquerque Rotary club, in that city, on May 2 were made. The piano for the luncheon program was provided by the El Paso Piano company, while the music was the contribution of the Koch trio, and some excellent harmonic solos by Arthur R. Millman. Mr. Millman gave as one of his encores, "A Little Bit of Heaven," which made a large hit.

Attractive Musical Program.

"Scenes from Cloudcroft," Alberto Tull, for violin, clarinet, piano, violin, Russell Koch, clarinet, Frank Koch, piano, Dr. Frederick Koch. "Carissima," Bartolomeo, Arthur E. Pava, Arthur R. Millman. "Souvenir de Moscow," Caprice for violin, Henry Wiseman, "Mazurka," Russell Koch. "Nina Gilda," Bartolomeo, Arthur R. Millman. "Pierrot's Serenade," Violin, Joseph Mandinger, Jr., Russell Koch. "The Voice of the Desert," from the suite "Scenes from Cloudcroft" (Manuscript copy).

Tells of "Voice of the Desert."

Dr. Frederick R. Koch, at the conclusion of the program, made a brief talk upon the musical composition he had recently completed, "The Voice of the Desert," from his suite for the piano, "Scenes from Cloudcroft." He first told how the subject had appealed to him during his many visits to Cloudcroft, and how eventually he had determined to set his impressions down in music. He then played the "Voice of the Desert," and it was well received and highly applauded. The number has within it all the elements of an interesting and artistic study, and the treatment of the theme was in accord with good musical form.

A. E. Rowlands, president, thanked the musicians for the pleasure that they had given the club and especially Dr. Koch, for his offering of talent. The club and musical society, which the musician had prepared with his own hands, was passed among the Rotarians for inspection.

To Go to Cincinnati.

The club decided upon sending the outgoing president, the new president and the secretary of the club to Cincinnati in July, to attend the national convention of the Rotary clubs of America. The announcement that the business men of Albuquerque would organize a local club in that city on May 2, led to the appointment of the following committee to attend the initial meeting of that new western group: A. E. Rowlands, C. W. Croon and J. R. Scowall.

The alternates to the national convention of Cincinnati will be chosen very close upon the time of the convention in order that Rotarians going east about July may have an opportunity of attending the convention in case regularly appointed alternates might be able to attend.

New Members Received.

New members received into the Rotary club by a general vote at the luncheon were: R. R. Seeds, of the Rock Island railroad; J. M. Howard, of the Rock Island railroad; A. E. Rowlands, of the automobile company; and E. A. Sanders, wholesale china. Prior to the club dispersing for the day, those Rotarians who had pledged themselves to aid in the sale of the Chautauqua tickets had lista handed them, of the districts which they would cover in an hour's sale, after the luncheon.

Makes Gift to Club.

H. Welch donated an Overland liquid container to the club. The container may hold anything from water to gasoline. It was given to R. J. Tighe. The club appropriated $5 to go toward a fund for purchasing a gift for the outgoing national president, upon the expiration of his term.

English Troops Fight Rebels in Effort to Stamp Out Rebellious Spirit.

be tried by civil court, was read upon the steps of the royal exchange this morning, according to historic custom.

Viscount Middleton attacked the government in the house of lords today for failing to take heed of warnings regarding the rebellion of the Sinn Feiners in Ireland. He asked what the government meant by saying Tuesday that the situation was well in hand. So far as he was informed at the time this assurance was given, not only were rebels in possession of a number of prominent parts of Dublin, but no attempt had been made to dislodge them.

Viscount Middleton said he understood telegraphic communication with Dublin was almost entirely interrupted; that the rebels, when they seized the postoffice, cut the wires and cables to England.

The authorities, he continued, had been aware that large numbers of armed Sinn Feiners had been drilled constantly for some months that they possessed explosives in considerable quantities and were well provided with money. These things, he declared, had been brought to the notice of the government by influential persons with the urgent request that action be taken.

Present Conditions Dangerous.

The present position of Ireland, he asserted in conclusion, was one of the greatest danger. Viscount Middleton further asserted that Baron Wimborne, lord lieutenant of Ireland, went to Belfast on Monday with a large number of officers had been allowed on that day to attend a race meeting near Dublin. Some of these officers were seized on their return to duty. The viscount was unable to conceive of any government so weak as to permit such a state of things to continue.

Lord Lansdowne Tells of Outbreak.

Lord Lansdowne, in a speech he believed this outrage was doomed to an ignominious failure, but he was not disposed to minimize the serious consequences likely to be occasioned. He said that on Monday, April 23, the rebels made a half-hearted attack on Dublin castle but the attack was not pressed. They then occupied Stephens Green, held up troops which were returning from the barracks, fired on them from the tops of buildings, seized the postoffice, city hall, the Four Courts and the Western road and Avenue road railway stations and that telegraphic communication was interrupted. The Four Courts are the principal courts of justice in Ireland and the two railway stations named are the main arteries of communication with England. The rebels, Lord Lansdowne said, were driven from Stephens Green with a certain loss of casualties.

Other Uprisings Nearer.

Today, Lord Lansdowne said, the commanding officer reported there was a complete cordon of troops around the center of Dublin on the north side of the river and two more battalions were arriving from England. The situation, he declared, was undoubtedly well in hand and he had no doubt of the ability of the government to suppress the movement by most drastic methods. There had been a small uprising at Drogheda and Louth, but more serious one in Swords and Lusk, close to Dublin.

Liberty Hall Party Destroyed.

Telegram received here this morning in more rapidly. They showed that Liberty hall was partially destroyed and occupied by the military. Referring to the attempt to burn the hall in Ireland, Lord Lansdowne said he did not know what Sir Roger Casement was led to expect in the way of assistance for his landing, but he added that he had been unable to find that extensive preparations were made for Casement's reception or the distribution of the material with which his ship was supposed to be laden.

Believe Casement Insane.

Sir Roger Casement, it is reported has expressed belief that the uprising in Ireland would be a failure on account of his capture. His leadership was necessary to the success of the movement, he said. Newspapers support the theory advanced by Sir Conan Doyle a year ago that Sir Roger is insane. The Western Star Gazette advocates that he be disposed of by placing him in a lunatic asylum.

Occupies Lady's Cell.

Sir Roger Casement is occupying the cell in which Carl Hans Lody was held prisoner before his execution as a spy in the tower of London in November, 1914. Lody was arrested in Kilmory, near where Sir Roger was captured.

It is learned that Casement was on board a German submarine in Kiel harbor about April 14. The submarine was accompanied by a tramp steamer manned by 20 picked men from the German navy and carrying a cargo of 20,000 rifles, machine guns and ammunition, bound for Ireland.

Steamer Coasted Norway.

The steamer, flying the Dutch flag and with the submarine proceeding seaward in close attendance, proceeded along the coast of Norway, thence north and west, leaving the Orkney and Shetland islands far to the south.

The German captain was congratulating himself on eluding the British. A patrol boat, surprised at seeing a Dutch trader, ordered the steamer to stop, intercepted the tramp, but found her papers regular. Even her crew spoke English, and she expressed sympathy for the allies and the hope that the patrol boat would not encounter a submarine. All this time the German submarine accompanied the steamer remained submerged.

Germany Sank Own Ship.

After resigning the course of the expedition and while creeping along the north coast of Ireland, another British patrol boat was sighted. The patrol boat was ordered to stop, but the tramp and signaled to the patrol boat that they were about to board her. The tramp steamer then was ordered to accompany the patrol boat.

After steaming some distance the tramp vessel hoisted the German flag and was sunk by her own crew in accordance with instructions before leaving Germany. The patrol boat sent an armed crew to rescue the Germans, who then confessed their mission.

Germany Tired of Casement.

The patrol also found a collapsible boat in which were Sir Roger Casement and another man. It is said the submarine commander had been ordered to receive orders that whatever befell the expedition, the presence of Casement no longer was desired in Germany and that when the ship was captured Casement was placed in the boat and left to his fate.

Returning But Unbalanced.

San Francisco, Cal., April 27.—That Sir Roger Casement is a "charming fellow though somewhat erratic" and "rather out of balance" is the subject of a question was the statement made here today by A. Carnegie Ross, consul general here for Great Britain, an old time friend of the captive Irish knight.

"I first met him when I was British consul at Belra, in Mozambique, in 1904. He was very friendly at that time and I met him at Delagoa bay, where I subsequently succeeded him. I met him at Delagoa bay during the Boer war. Sir Roger was very friendly at that time and I met him at Delagoa bay during the Boer war. Sir Roger was very friendly at that time and I met him at Delagoa bay during the Boer war.

Made Great Reputation.

"He made a great reputation in South Africa by the way he managed the native of whom he was very fond."
