

SUFFRAGISTS MAY APPEAL

16 Leaders Are Serving Workhouse Sentences; Malone is Champion.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—Final decision still was pending today at suffrage headquarters on the question of an appeal in the case of the 16 suffragists sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse for participation in the battle day demonstration in front of the white house.

On their conviction in police court yesterday, the defendants were ordered to pay fines of $25 each. They refused, however, and jail sentences were imposed.

Quilley, Freda Malone, collector of the port of New York, who testified in behalf of the prisoners and conferred with president Wilson regarding the case, is reported to have tendered his resignation as collector in order to carry on the court fight for the suffragists.

At least one husband is said to be determined that his wife should be released from the workhouse. Police court attaches said another had been interviewing officials regarding payment of a fine.

Women All Anxious to Serve. At the women's party headquarters it was declared all of the women were anxious to serve out their 60 day sentences, but it was admitted that the 125 fines of some of the married women would be paid.

As a result of the situation that have arisen in the homes of married women prisoners, only single women and married women who can be supported at home are being taken into custody as volunteers for the next picketing demonstration which probably will be attempted this week.

Austin, Texas, July 18.—The constitutionality of a city ordinance passed by the city of El Paso regulating the purchase and sale of articles by pawnbrokers and junk dealers, and requiring such dealers to make a daily report, is assailed in an application for a writ of habeas corpus filed today in the court of criminal appeals by Joseph A. FILES CHARGES AGAINST AVAUNT

Harry Ross Complains Detective Captain Abused, Threatened Him.

Charges of using abusive and threatening language were made against captain of detectives Tom Avault Wednesday morning before the city civil service commission by Harry Ross. The trial will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the city council chamber.

Four to the files of the charges John M. Wyatt, chairman of the commission, questioned chief of police E. J. Zaleski regarding the manner in which statements are taken from prisoners at the jail. The chief announced the statements were all turned over to him.

Wyatt then questioned Herman Block if reports to the commission were true to the effect that he was making a voluntary statement to the police after his arrest to "secure protection from chief Avault and the department."

Block gives statement. In this statement Block said that when captain Avault entered the place of business, Harry Ross, an employee, told Avault that he had better look out what he was doing that he was an officer. Block said he questioned Ross who remarked to Avault he would get his (Avault's) position.

Ross told the commission that when Block was arrested he went to the detective office with him, after first making the officer said "I am a sergeant." According to Ross, the officer said he did not have a warrant and when Block told him to come anyway he did so voluntarily.

Ross tells of conversation. Upon entering captain Avault's office Ross stated the officer said "you are one of those foxey guys that wants a warrant. Well, I am Tom Avault, captain of detectives. If you say anything I will put you in jail without bond."

Ross said his bond was fixed at $25 and that it was furnished by a prominent business man. When he was leaving the police station, Ross told the commission, Avault followed him and said "You have come just as far as you can." Ross said "I made an affidavit against me which are not proved to be true. I intend prosecuting them for perjury."

Avault granted attorney. Mr. Avault asked permission to have an attorney. The chief of police granted. He then said, addressing the members of the commission, "I want an attorney, for in the future when persons file charges against me which are not proved to be true, I intend prosecuting them for perjury."

Patrolman Evkins Violated. Holding that insufficient evidence had been introduced, the city civil service commission Wednesday morning vindicated patrolman L. Evkins, who was charged with striking a prisoner with a "blackjack" and knocking him to the ground. The trial of the case was held before the commission Tuesday morning when a number of prominent business men testified that they had seen the officer strike with his "blackjack" and then saw the prisoner fall.

A voluntary signed statement, Don Conway, the prisoner who was alleged to have been struck, stated that the officer did not hit him. Conway was recaptured and is now confined in the city jail on a vagrancy charge.
