

FESTIVAL OF THE ALLIES FORERUNNER OF AN ANNUAL AFFAIR TO ENTERTAIN EL PASO PEOPLE WITH FUN AND FROLIC

By Dorothy B. Johnston.

WHERE is King Osepe of tomorrow, who promised to give El Paso some distinctive form of annual holiday, only to go a-glimmering?

It is to be understood, it is said, by the queen of the festival of the Allies, which starts about the 15th of October on its seven days of pleasure-dispensing, as a patriotic Red Cross "Frolic". This festival, if plans carry out a reference to an established yearly gala event, which will occur on exactly the same date as the Allies, will be the first of its kind in the city.

from, will have the Globe Milling company at the helm, and all sorts of fascinating plans are afloat for the remainder of the allied countries. The Japanese will, for instance, have their own kind of cherry blossom and miniature and chrysanthemum, while China and the others will be assisted by their own race.

There are to be a number of entertainments, and the drama will be well represented. A week in the life of a soldier, money making isn't the motive that prompts the activity, but more to entertain El Paso.

Lodges and Clubs.

Mrs. Donna Kluge is meeting with an active response from the soldier men who sleep in lower berths, the cabinet feature for the festival at the Allies, soon to be held. Mrs. Kluge, who is in charge of the Allies, will take charge of the military features of the exhibit and is looking forward to a successful one.

Refreshment Unit Feeds Men From Oregon Going To Camp

ENTHUSIASTICALLY receiving the ministrations of the El Paso Red Cross refreshment unit, the boys of the Portland, Oregon, battery, and their officers, are being fed and supplied with the necessities of life as they travel and the monotony of desert views late Saturday afternoon.

Parties.

Col. E. A. Lewis is entertaining, tonight, at his bachelor quarters in the army post, with an informal, to which are invited Mrs. J. J. Beatty, Mrs. and Mrs. Herman Anderson, Mrs. Dottie West Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Huxthal, Capt. and Mrs. Daniel B. Gregory, Miss Treasurers Hartman, Mrs. Dorothy Johnston, Capt. DeWitt C. Grubbs, Lieut. Harry L. Gilchrist, F. P. Friele, and Donald Hartman.

ing, with some feature events for the "show." She expects to put on a first-class show, but her chief interest would like to hear from eight soldiers who can furnish their own dining table.

Miss Henrietta Buckler To Be The Bride of An Ohioan

FORMAL announcement is made by Judge and Mrs. Julius A. Buckler of the engagement of their daughter, Henrietta, to Lieut. John Frederick Buckler, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Seiberling, of Akron, Ohio, and a member of battery A, of the Ohio field artillery.
