314th Cavalry Will Train At Camp Jackson

Changes Into Artillery There, Report; Recruited At Camp Bieme.

A report, unconfirmed at military headquarters in the Mills building, was heard Monday morning that the 314th cavalry, recently ordered converted into a field artillery regiment, would soon be transferred from Camp Owen Bieme, east of Fort Bliss, to Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C., leaving its cavalry equipment and mounts at Fort Bliss. Col. Cornelius C. Smith and staff have brought the regiment from a skeleton to a full organization in the short time it has been training here, using recruits from eastern points.

It was said Monday that the 214th had turned in its horses and was packing, preparatory to the move. It was not known if Col. Smith would command, after conversion into artillery.

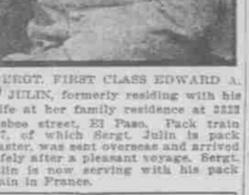

Americans Bring Down Two German Airplanes

ASKS BRITISH TO ENLIST NOW

Recruiting Officer Here Calls Attention to Coming Draft of Subjects.

Regulations explaining the effect of the coming British and Canadian drafts on residents of these countries in the United States have been given out by James E. Hyslop, chairman of the British-Canadian recruiting mission in El Paso.

Provisions of the treaty between this country and the British and Canadian governments include all men between the ages of 20 and 44 years. While these men are not subject to the draft laws of this country they have a period of 45 days in which to enlist in either the British or Canadian forces. If they are not accepted, or if they fail to enlist, they may then be inducted into the United States military forces within 30 days of their registration.

Local and district draft boards have been ordered to assist the recruiting mission in any manner possible and a drive will shortly be made to secure recruits.

Every man who has been registered in the United States and who presents himself for enlistment in any recruiting office will be asked to show his registration card. A record will be sent to Washington and also to the local board where the man is registered. In all cases the local board will be informed by the British and Canadian officials of the man's acceptance in the imperial armies. Should the man be in class one, he will be forwarded without medical examination to the nearest receiving office.

A special appeal is being made to all British and Canadian subjects to volunteer before the date set, Sept. 28. Further information will be furnished by the recruiting mission, 429 Mills building.

Of Officers Promoted At Fort Bliss, One Is Son of War News Man

Maj. J. M. Thompson, Fifth cavalry, just promoted from captain, and ordered to Camp Lewis, Wash., is a son of C. T. Thompson, superintendent of the Associated Press in the war zone in Europe, who was wounded recently in a battle.

Several other promotions were announced Monday from district military headquarters, among which were the following: Maj. A. H. Muller, Seventh cavalry, just promoted from captain, and ordered to Camp Lewis, Wash., is a son of C. T. Thompson, superintendent of the Associated Press in the war zone in Europe, who was wounded recently in a battle.

Gas Gets Him, But He's Game; Is Visiting City

Maj. Gifford, of Princess Pats, Recovers and Will Try Again.

Maj. P. Gifford Gifford, one of the few surviving officers of the ill fated Princess Pats, the first Canadian contingent to have chlorine gas used on them by the Germans, arrived in El Paso Saturday and is a guest at the Paso del Norte.

Maj. Gifford was gassed at Vimy Ridge and sent back to England to a base hospital there. Shortly after his discharge he came to the convalescent hospital at Toronto, where he spent several months. He was declared by physicians to be unfit for further military service and has been on the coast in search of health. He is now on his way east, where he intends to make another effort to get back into the army.

Save Him Not Far Off. When asked concerning the duration of the war, Maj. Gifford said: "The exact date of the close of the war is not far off. With the wonderful man power the United States is putting over, the Hun can resist but little longer."

American Bring Courage. "German militarism must be crushed. The armies of the allies were worn out with three years' tireless struggle. It is just this additional power and the wonderful spirit of the Americans is putting courage in their hearts. It is a fight to a finish and there can be but one ultimate ending."

Unprepared for Gas. "There is no sensation like it. One may be gassed for days and not know it, and again he may die instantly or linger on for months suffering terribly. At the time the Princess Pats were annihilated almost to a man, there were no gas masks. We were totally unprepared for it. The first sensation we had was when the Hindu troops supporting us on the left became panic stricken."

Even Discovers Grass. "Their men and officers were dropping about them from some unknown cause. The supervisors of the far east overcame their discipline and training and they were like women in a fire. When our men commenced to go under there was nothing to do but forsake the ridge. Even the grass, or what was left of the vegetation, became discolored from the fumes of gas. I was saved only because I was at an observation station more elevated than the majority of my battalions. Even then I got quite enough of it."

Receives German Gas Mask, Taken From a 17 Year Old Tipton

A German gas mask, of an old model, captured from a German soldier 17 years of age, was received in this city Monday morning by J. H. Graham, 1209 North Oregon street, from his brother-in-law, Carl Husted, first sergeant in company A of the signal corps with the American expeditionary forces in France. The mask was in a metal container that showed that the bullet killed the younger German soldier had first struck the container and then entered the soldier's body.

The gas mask is vastly different from the pattern used by the American soldiers. The German mask is made of leather with three glass "eyes," similar to motor goggles, covered on the inside with safety circle of metal. Over the top of the mask are two wire springs, covered with cloth, to hold the mask in position.

The bottom of the mask is round shaped, like a mother's lamp, of perforated steel, and inside is what appears to be paper, is filled with a chemical for inhalation that smells like a deodorant common in this country. The entire mask weighs several pounds.

No master record shall be considered as satisfactory and complete and perfect until it has been approved not only by an authorized representative of the Victor Company, but also by the artist.

Every Victor Record is approved by the artist who made it

Not only must every Victor Record receive the approval of the Victor Recording Laboratory before it is listed in the Victor Record catalog, but the artist who makes the record must also be satisfied that it portrays his or her art with absolute fidelity.

When you play a Victor Record on the Victrola, you can be sure the interpretation you hear is exactly as the artist sang or played it—exactly as he or she wishes you to hear it.

So true to life in every detail that Victor Records have also earned for themselves the universal and enthusiastic approval of the great final judge—the music-loving public.

There are Victors and Victrolas from $12 to $850. Any Victor dealer will gladly demonstrate the Victrola and play your favorite music to you. Saenger Voice Culture Records are invaluable to vocal students—ask to hear them.
