Think It Over. The biggest American today is the man in a United States Uniform. THE smallest American today is the one who has his health, who is earning money, but who hasn't a clear conscience because he hasn't supported America's War Activities to his limit. El Paso is well represented in the first class. The second class is practically an unknown quantity. Still, there might be some, but each one who belongs to this class knows it better than any one else. If there are any El Pasoans in this class, they will have an opportunity next Saturday to come clean. Give Your Share. THE United War Work Campaign begins in El Paso next Saturday. This is Volunteer Day. Those who contribute Saturday at the Statue of Liberty will constitute an honor roll. These names with the amounts given will be published in Sunday morning's Times. The Campaign Managers Do not overlook the fact that you are now giving to cable General Pershing that El Paso contributed seven active branches who used her quota, and more, are all in War Work voluntarily.
