A Marvel In Fall Hats

At $15.00

Introducing the Fall Season with a sample line of Mme. Chekanow model hats.

WE KNOW almost every woman in El Paso has fully expected to pay not less than $25 for a new Fall hat. Such would be the case but for a fortunate purchase of a sample line of model hats.

All The New Styles In The Season Represented

THESE hats are one of a kind that represent accepted styles of the new Season. They have been developed in velvet, plush, and beaver cloth, and in effective combinations of these materials. Some are draped, shirred or pleated and there are a great many severely plain—just what you want to wear with the new tailored suits. Others have large floppy brims, with soft, tam-like crowns for the younger women. The turbans for the matrons are side turned, stylish, youthful. All appropriately trimmed with feathers, flowers and ornaments.

Every shade—in black, navy, brown, rose and taupe—any color and shape you may desire. These hats should sell for $25. At the price we obtained them, we are able to offer you an exceptional value of a stylish

Millinery Clearance

We begin tomorrow a complete clearance in the Downstairs Store of all millinery for women, for misses and children.

THIS will be the last call for summer millinery in the Downstairs Store. Regardless of former selling prices, or cost, we have grouped all remaining millinery and offer it at one price. There is such a variety, it is impossible to describe in detail these Summer hats. We will only say pink and white gorgette hats—ostrich and flower trimmed, white and colored ribbon hats, genuine milan and double brimmed hemp hats are included. Many of these hats sold regularly at $12.50. We now offer—

Choice at $2.50

CHILDREN'S HATS—Here is an opportunity for school hats at a very low price. These girls' hats come in black and white, also black and white combined in superior quality of leghorns. There are also some brown milans in this lot. Some are ribbon trimmed with streamers and others have tailored bows. About 100 hats in this offer and your choice at $2.50

Two good thrift rules—Buy at The Popular; Buy Thrift Stamps—Do this every day.

EL PASO CAVALRY REGIMENT RESEAL MEDALS FOR OLD SOLDIERS

Honor Paid Gen. Leonard Wood in Celebration at Santa Fe.

Santa Fe, N. M., Aug. 7.—In the name of New Mexico, with no reference to race, creed or political belief, I present to you this medal for distinguished service, said Maj. W. H. H. Lewis, himself an officer of the rough riders, as he presented to Maj. Gen. Wood, former commander of the Rough Riders, the medal which was awarded to him by the last legislature. The crowd was spread out over the steps of the main entrance to the capitol building, on the lawn and in the streets outside the grounds. Men, women and children cheered to the echo as Maj. Lewis pinned the medal on his old comrade at arm's length.

Acting governor Benjamin F. Parker, making the address of welcome, had arranged for the medal to be pinned to the chest of the recipient at a high pitch of enthusiasm when, in referring to the positions of trust and responsibility which Gen. Wood had held declared he might soon be called upon to accept a place of even higher honor.

His first connection with New Mexico dated back to 1855, in the campaign against the Apaches. He spoke of a big celebration which he attended in Albuquerque in 1882, when that campaign and said that his first visit to Santa Fe was in 1887. He made it necessary to clear the way for the return of the medals, where in his customary outspoken way Gen. Wood entered upon a discussion of the issues of the time. He said that after the passage of the bill he would be glad to see any of the men of the 9th, the 10th, or any other outfit that was at Camp Funston, or anywhere else in service.

Special emphasis was laid upon the necessity of providing suitable employment for the returning soldiers. "We sent them away with hurrahs to do a certain thing and now that the thing has been accomplished there must be such treatment given the service man that he cannot feel he has been deceived," said Gen. Wood. There should be no nursing or coddling, but a place should be made for each one. And above all things else, ample provision must be made for the returning wounded men. No man should begin life all over again. See them through, whatever the cost. The time for emotional patriotism has passed and the time has come now for practical patriotism.

There was a storm of applause when he quoted Col. Roosevelt's words to the effect that this country has room for only one flag and that flag the American flag.

Must Be No Autocracy. Describing the red flag as an emblem standing for principles that are opposed to everything that is cherished under the American democracy, he would be necessary for Americans to fight the red flag with unending vigor. He declared that the American people never would stand for an autocracy, either of capital or labor. Gen. Wood said he believed in round table discussion which would lead to thorough understanding and eventually lead into the democratic way.

"We all hope that we will not come again, but we know that they will," he said, and added that the way to guard against war is in rearmament. He spoke against a huge standing army and in favor of training young boys in the grounds of an army as large as may be needed.

Gen. Wood struck a resounding chord when he declared the American nation never will go to war except when such a course is dictated by the conscience of the people. He said that the Americans never will go to war on the dictation of a foreign nation or of any group of men in the world. Internationalism is a creed to be avoided as carefully as death, he warned. "America's problems today are both difficult and serious, he said, but they are possible of solution. To arrive at the solution of these problems it is necessary to have open agreements and thorough understanding of issues. It is a time for all of us to keep our feet on the ground, but to make our ideals higher and follow God."

Classes in Spanish. The audience was surprised and delighted when his closing remarks were delivered in Spanish for the benefit of the few who might be fearful, he was unable to understand English thoroughly.

Many of the old Rough Riders were in the procession, but the guard of honor was formed of men from the 5th division. Adding an unusual touch of color, were a number of Mesquite Indians mounted and in full regalia.

MORE TROOPS WILL LEAVE MONDAY FOR CLOUDCROFT

The Second and Third battalions of the kind field artillery, troops K and P of the Seventh cavalry, pack train No. 23 and the motorcycle detachment of the Second infantry signal battalion, will leave for Cloudcroft on Monday for their summer outing. The detachments of the Seventh cavalry, now at Cloudcroft, have started back and will reach Fort Bliss Sunday. The Eighth engineers will leave Cloudcroft for its permanent post, about August 15, according to present plans. Upon the return of the Eighth engineers the Ninth engineers will go to Cloudcroft.

Organization of another troop of cavalry in El Paso is contemplated, according to Capt. A. F. Smith, commanding officer of troop L, third Texas cavalry. Anyone who has been in the service is eligible for enlistment in the cavalry in any capacity, such as horseholders, cooks and other lines of work, according to the captain.

Former Captain Enlists in Army; Made A Sergeant

Ernest J. Reed, who held the mercenary rank of captain in the quartermaster corps having served for almost two years in France, enlisted in the cavalry, and is ordered to report to the recruiting station, Thursday. Reed was at once advanced to the rank of sergeant and ordered to report to the east, where he will become an instructor in a military academy.

Navy Raises Standard To Get Into Service

No "limited service men" are wanted for the navy. In order to become a "jackie," one must be physically fit in every respect. Royal ruling from the admiralty increases the standard physical requirements and now no person who is not in excellent condition will be enlisted for any branch of the service.
