Telling Of Love Stories Is Feature Of Party Given For Visiting Women

PRIOR to the departure of Mrs. M. R. Bolton and her grand-daughter, Miss Mabel Cutler, for their home in Wharton, Tex., Mrs. A. Sanders, whose guests they were, gave a charming party Wednesday afternoon in their honor at the Sanders apartments, in the City. The drawing room was decorated with bowls of great shaggy white asters and the color motif of the dining room was pink, featured in pink roses and other dainty appointments. Ices were served with coffee. A unique contest was held in which the prize for the clearest love story told by the guests was awarded. Each guest was given a ball of brilliant blue yarn and was to tell the love story as the ball was unwound. When the yarn was unwound to the magnificent ball about which it was wrapped the story was to end. Mrs. Bolton told of the father of Gen. Sam Houston coming to her father, who he should marry and Houston were small children, to arrange a betrothal between them, and as this was the most interesting story told, Mrs. Bolton received the prize, a dainty etching. Ten friends enjoyed the hospitality of the afternoon.

"The English Outlive The Americans"

Says the famous physician, Dr. Rhein, "and do so in no small measure because the Americans wear septic bridges in the mouth, while the English are less addicted to this possible danger." Dr. Williams realized this years ago. Today the new system overcomes the "smelly old style bridge." In the new system of dentistry teeth are replaced immediately after extraction in all cases—and guaranteed. This holds out for the face its original form—prevents muscle shrinkage—Come in and see this work for yourself—Gladly explain.

Letters To The Herald

SEDIMENT IN RIVER. Editor El Paso Herald: If there is anyone who has lived in El Paso for two years and does not know the cause of sediment in the river, he must be a man who does not know that two times two makes four. It has been proved several hundred years ago. If the wonderful soil experts would study how to get the sediment on the land, his name would be blessed by every farmer in the valley. Who so important a man as a soil expert should study something that has been proved and stays proved several hundred years. John Sorenson.

THE TELEPHONE RATES.

Editor El Paso Herald: The Tri-State Telephone company is asking the mayor and city council to establish upon the people of El Paso the Burleson rate, setting up as its reason for maintaining this rate the fact that the company's operating expenses are higher than the Burleson rate, and that the price of material and the cost of help is higher and the company has to pay a higher scale of wages, and in this connection I would say: Before the city council should even consider such an application, the members will make the following demands upon the telephone company: That it raise the mayor and council with a list of all the names, together with the addresses of each of the stockholders and the amount held by each, and that it be required to furnish a list of all its operators, with their names and the wages paid since the Burleson rate together with a complete list of all its motels received each month. In fact as I look at the situation, the mayor and city council should require a complete list of names and amounts paid out and received before and after the Burleson rate, fully itemized, with the persons paid to, so as to avoid the company padding its payrolls, if any. Upon investigation of the book franchise, I find on December 2, 1903, the city granted to the Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph company the franchise under which the Tri-State Telephone company is now operating, which franchise is record at page 437 in such book, and which transfer to the Tri-State Telephone company, taking place on the 3rd day of October, 1912, is recited on page 438 of said book. In the franchise there is a stipulation that under no circumstances or conditions shall the telephone company ever charge more than $3 per month for business phones and $2 per month for residence phones. FULL in the face of this positive statement, I am of the opinion that the council being the creating body of the franchise, has the right, if in their good judgment the aldermen believe the company is entitled to a raise, to demand it. I hope the mayor and council will

Lice Lizard In Cow's Lung Fatal To Bovine

Chehalis, Wash., Aug. 7.—A live lizard in the lung of a cow caused the death here of the animal. The cow had been declining in health for some time, her condition improving when she was finally killed to end her misery. Then an old timer suggested an autopsy. The lizard was found lodged in the cow's lung. The animal had swallowed it while drinking water.

Army Waiting Orders To Sell Food To Public

Officers in charge of the quartermaster department of the army are expecting to receive any hour instructions from the war department to sell to civilians surplus supplies of canned meats and vegetables and bacon and ham. The instructions may also order the department to dispose of other living commodities.

May Sell Goods Over The Counter And By Parcels Post.

When the sales here are authorized it is expected that the postmaster will be instructed to sell the goods by parcels post, and the army will sell goods over the counter at the quartermaster's department. In Kansas City, the Local Order of Moose has placed its club rooms at the disposal of the government for selling the surplus food and its members have volunteered to act as clerks in assisting in the disposition of the food. Mayor Cowgill has wired the offer to the government.

Postmaster May Help.

When it is possible to buy food-stuffs from the army, it is believed that the high cost of the postmaster will be considerably reduced. Many inquiries have been received by the military authorities and the postmaster from interested persons desiring to know when this blow to the high cost of living will be made.

To Sell Clothing, Too.

To further relieve the H. C. I. situation, the government has decided to sell off its surplus army clothing and equipment, including $7,500,000 worth of underclothes and $3,500,000 worth of blankets. If the present plans are successful, secretary Baker has stated to newspaper men. Total value of all items classified as clothing and equipment, including cloth and leather, is $14,500,000. More than half of this $14,500,000 worth of surplus food stocks held by the war department July 19, is immediately available for sale, according to a statement issued today by the department. In addition to the canned goods and bacon previously announced, $15,500,000 worth of frozen beef, $2,472,900 worth of fresh beef, $1,214,000 in frozen fresh poultry and $1,473,000 in granulated sugar, which, since has been sold to the sugar equalization board.

Each Race Has Its Dregs; Pitiful Type Of American Found In Juarez

THE normal American takes a pride in his birthplace when he is in a foreign country—and rightly so. But did it ever occur to you that there is "let" shown of pride, minus every attribute of a man, who haunts foreign parts? If you don't believe there is such a class of Americans, more to be pitied than censured, and yet unworthy of the name they bear, go to Juarez and see the typical dreglet. Fortunately the average American in the Mexican city is above the average and the dreglet is the exception rather than the rule. But he's there. Some are drug addicts who find life unpleasant in the United States, due to a class superiority of narcotic sales. One typical "dreg" accosted a fellow (?) American recently and begged information regarding the location of drug stores.

SPREADING UP LUNA.

"Bill Moon's wife presented him with a new daughter Tuesday," says the Warfield item. "He celebrated by getting drunk and the judge fined him $5, but still had only 25 cents left." Here's a case where a new moon was followed by a full moon and a bloom in the last quarter in quick rotation.—Boston Transcript.
