

U. S. WHEAT GROWERS ORGANIZE TO SELL DIRECT TO CONSUMER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 22.—Representatives of virtually every wheat raising community in the United States, attending here the annual convention of the National Wheat Growers' association, voted last night unanimously to form a national combine for the control of wheat products.

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Now I Can Walk," Says Mrs. Southcott of Medina.

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars."

"Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big hearted rich man who would give all he has to get to the point where he can get a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment, to sell at all druggists for 40 cents a large box."

Read this letter, written February 14, 1918, by Mrs. Albert Southcott, of Medina, N. Y. It seems like a miracle, but it is true, every word of it. I know it because I got similar letters almost every day from people who have used my ointment for old sores, eczema and piles.

Dear Sirs:—I was an untold sufferer from an old running sore and ulcer. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not left me before in years, and after using just five dollars worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was 9 inches by 4 1/2 inches, in all length and I can walk, never, never will I be without Peterson's again.

You may use this to recommend your ointment if you wish. I cannot say enough to praise it. Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southcott, Medina, N. Y. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y. Kelly & Follard or Scott White & Co. will supply you.—Adv.

WHEAT OFFERES TEACHER UNION

Austin, Texas, April 22.—In an interview today Dr. Robert E. Vinson, president of the University of Texas and head of the State Teachers' association, expressed himself in sympathy with the American Education Society, which is withdrawing its proposed donation of $25,000 to the public schools of the city because of the unwillingness of a large percentage of the teachers there and their affiliation with the Education of Labor.

Dr. Vinson said that he regards the principles underlying the organization of the American Education Society of Labor as sound, but despite that fact he would regard the affiliation of the school teachers across the country with that organization as nothing short of a national calamity, for the reason that such action, if carried out, would deprive them of the greatest influence by exposing them to the liability of their own action, their part transferred their interest from their work to its emolument.

Dr. Vinson urged that the public consider seriously the conditions which have given rise to the movement among teachers to organize into labor unions and, instead of indulging in sharp criticisms and repressive measures, to undertake to remove the cause.

No Compulsory Arbitration. Well asserted that union labor will never stand for compulsory arbitration and called upon the publishers to oppose any such law. "Collective bargaining, mutually agreed upon," he asserted, "is what we must have. Compulsory arbitration destroys the freedom of contract, and every conception of liberty is thrown away. Destroy the freedom of contract, destroy your right to work or not work, and you destroy your right to control your own property. No compulsory arbitration law will ever compel a man to do that which he does not want to do, and you cannot compel him to work. There is no human instrumentality that will ever compel men to do that which they are not willing to do. Good will be the first necessity to get out of any man the best that is in him, and you can't buy that or enforce it with a contract."

"Cooperate, men, as you have never cooperated before," he said. "The easier element in the unions of America cannot keep their men in line without the help of the same men in business in this world."

The four great railroad bodies have just saved this country from what nobody can tell. But by their loyalty to their contracts they have saved the country. They know it. They are right. The railroad strikes, this Bolshevistic attempt to cripple the country. They know it. They are right. The railroad strikes, they give these loyal union men the same square deal. If you want to do this, the railroad men will give you the same men of all stations must work together."

The president of the publishers' association, at the conclusion of the address of the four union leaders, said in their presence: "These men have all practiced what they preached. I only hope that you will practice in future as much as what we preach."

In order to meet the situation facing the newspaper in the white paper market, the convention went on record yesterday against any publisher raising more money in 1920, after May 1, than he used in 1919, and Jason Rogers, of the New York Globe, who pledged himself to use 1000 tons less this year than last year, was named chairman of a committee to see that the rule is observed.

Unless something is done to curtail the use of paper, it was shown, hundreds of newspapers will have to suspend this year. Spot market white paper is quoted today in New York at 14 cents a pound, when it could be bought four years ago for less than 2 cents. The increase was termed by speakers as "monstrous and damnable profiteering."

The association passed a resolution that no paper should hereafter be sold anywhere for less than 2 cents a copy and urged publishers to eliminate special editions, extras and so-called "bull dogs" or early editions.

Witnesses in the case testified that records of the bank at the time the shortage is said to have occurred cannot be found at present.

AMUNDSEN ARRIVES IN ALASKA AFTER DASH FOR NORTH POLE

NOME, Alaska, April 22.—A wireless dispatch from Anadir, Siberia, announces the presence there of Capt. Roald Amundsen, the explorer. No details were given other than an indication that the explorer reached there in a vessel. Amundsen, discoverer of the South pole, was reported in dispatches from Christiana on March 24 of this year to have returned to his home in a vessel. Amundsen intended to drift from the White sea with the ice to the New Siberian Islands which lie in the Arctic sea. The latest reports from the Maude, however, would indicate that she might be expected to approach that point if the Siberian coast to which Amundsen is the nearest civilized outpost.

REMOVE CAUSE OF HEADACHE

Doctors Condemn Remedies that Merely Relieve the Pain—Claim Aspirin Also Removes Cause. Absolutely Safe. Doctors and druggists are delighted with Aspirin, the new "elixir" that relieves headaches (and other) within two minutes and also removes the cause and prevents the return of headache the next day by gently acting on the liver, correcting biliousness and constipation which are usually the cause of headache. The next time you have a headache go to your nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirin and tell him to serve you two teaspoonful — a little water. With your watch in your hand count off two minutes and call for your money back, as per manufacturer's guarantee. If you can't feel your headache fading away within the time limit, Your druggist will return and expects you to try Aspirin. Everybody is doing it.—Adv.
