

El Paso's Newest Industry Stove and Foundry Works

One of El Paso's newest industrial organizations—and, incidentally, the only one in the southwest which makes a specialty of its particular line of work—is the Peeler-Dobie Stove and Foundry company at 1094 East Missouri street.

Although the business has been established only a few weeks, the plant is already in operation, and the personnel of the management is one that should insure rapid growth and the maintenance of the highest industrial and commercial standards.

The men who are at the head of the concern are not new in the business and are not strangers in El Paso. They have been in business in El Paso for the past several years.

Mr. L. J. Peeler, one of the proprietors, was in the stove and furnace repair business for six years prior to the opening of the present concern, being located in the plant of the Darlyshire-Harris Iron Works. While there, he built up a fine business in this line, giving satisfaction to his patrons.

Mr. W. E. Dobie, the other proprietor, was for several years in the employ of the El Paso Foundry as pattern maker. About three years ago he resigned his position and went into the pattern-making business for himself, being located at 611 North St. Vrain street.

The firm of Peeler-Dobie will do stove manufacturing as well as stove repairing. All kinds of furnace repairing is done, and a high class foundry line, only the highest grade work is done, what is known as light gray iron castings being made.

"We employ, and will employ, only the very best and greatest skilled mechanics we can find in our business," said Mr. Peeler, in speaking of the future of the concern. "We shall grow, of course, as we are experienced in the work and know what the line and field offers. Our plant is the only one of its kind in this part of the country. The nearest plant engaged in a similar line of business is at Denver. Los Angeles has the next nearest. So it is easy to see the great field that lies open for our business. Every patron will receive the most careful attention, the best workmanship possible and a regard for his interests not to be surpassed anywhere."

Virden Studio Is Well Known Establishment

The Virden Studio at 108 Texas street finds the passport photo business about back to normal, according to Mr. Virden, the proprietor. For a time, it is said, there were few passport photos being made. This was due to the uncertainty following the entry of the new forces into Juarez. However, as soon as it was seen that no violence was being done, things returned to normal. And Mr. Virden avers that he is making as many passport photos as ever.

"We make passport photos and Ping Pong pictures that are high class in every way. The grade of these pictures is better than we really charge for. If one visits our studio one day, we have the photos printed and ready for delivery the following day. There are no long waits and no disappointments. Our work speaks for itself, and we have lots of samples to show and choose from."
