ROBBED THE GRAVE.
A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite--gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying "Electric Bitters," and to my joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life and robbed the grave of another victim. No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts per bottle at Perry's drug store. 6

President McKiuley's Political Estimate of James Hamilton Lewis.

While Hanna's paper, The P.-I., is falsely accusing Congressman Lewis of attacking President McKinley, while everyone recalls that Lewis, as Dingley admits, was the aid of the Administration on war measures--The Washington City Post, the personal organ of President McKinley, editorially gives the country its estimate of our Congressman as a tribute to his late renomination:
If the democrats of the next

ing the enemy, the minority would divide on personal lines and furnish exhibitions to the country which were anything but inspiring. These occasions were so numerous that the democratic press of the country found it necessary to reprimand the offenders and call for a leader with the ability to sink personal likes and dislikes and unite the party. There were several attempts in that direction, but the only man who succeeded in

Chauncy I. Filley Talks.

Addressing the Missouri Republican Convention Chauncy I. Filley said:

"I resign the leadership of the Republican party in Missouri, because I do not wish to be associated with the patronage brokers, instruction brokers, bolters, trust syndicates, tax dodgers and combines, repeaters, franchise grabbers and sellers and either silent or guilty promoters or supporters."

house of representatives are deprived of the leadership of the Hon. James Hamilton Lewis the blame for the hardship cannot be laid at the doors of the democrats, populist and free silver republicans of the state of Washington. The statesman with the effulgent pink whiskers has been accorded a most hearty renomination at the hands of these three political organizations, and if the voters of Washington can be made to realize the commanding respect and obedience was the representative from the state of Washington, and frequently were the republicans made to feel the effects of his sturdy and week directed blows.

Whenever opportunity occurred the Hon. James Hamilton Lewis was equal to it, and his crowning triumph came when an effort was made to force the minority into a caucus and wrest from the members the right of individual thought duty they owe the country, Mr. Lewis will be returned to Congress by an overwhelming majority. We know not who his opponent may be, but we do know that the nation needs the services of such men at Lewis at this particular time, and that his defeat would be in the nature of a public calamity.

During the exciting times when the country was preparing to go to war with Spain the democratic minority in the house of representatives was frequently in a demoralized condition. Jealousy on the part of the would-be leaders prevented a unity of action, and instead of closing its ranks and fight-and action. With all the vigor of a Sampson and the grace of a Chesterfield, the Representative from the state of Washington combatted this proposed innovation, and after a hard struggle, came off victorious. The democratic party needs its James Hamilton Lewises, and in its present demoralized condition it would be cruel in the Washington voters to deprive the organization of such services. The republicans of Washington could do a magnanimous and graceful thing by moving to make the election of the Hon. James Hamilton Lewis unanimous.

SHAMEFUL TREATMENT.

One of the most dastardly crimes for political purposes was committed by the War Department on the 4th of October, 1898.

Col W. J. Bryan had been lying for over a week on a sick bed at Washington D. C., having come there to secure the furlough of the dying men in his regiment.

The Administration took advantage of his helpless condition and ordered him back to Jacksonville to have it appear that he was delirious in his duty as a soldier.

Mr. Bryan's wife was at his side, having come all the way from Nebraska to nurse her husband.

Such are the depths of infamy to which the republican leaders descend in order to obtain a political advantage. As there was no fighting to do, what excuse can our government offer for such contemptible action.
