Olympia Standard:—Thomas Swan, who lives on a farm near Ellensburg for many years and until lately a resident of this city, is over on a visit of friendship and business.

Yakima Epigram:—The proposition advanced and advocated by the Ellensburg Dawn for the disintegration of the present three parties, which together composed the late fusion monstrosity, and organize as a new party, is a chimerical and impracticable idea, impossible of fulfillment. The people of this generation have had all they want of new parties which are born only to fade away and die and leave nothing behind them but wasted ambitions and dead hopes. Let our valiant brother of the Dawn wash his feet, and enter the temple of Democracy, where his ambition will entitle him to recognition, and where his keen pen can do splendid service for the cause of humanity, instead of fooling away his time, and the opportunities of others, in agitating a new party which is not needed; and which, if organized, would yield to its promoters, as have all other such organizations in the past—nothing but dead sea fruit.

Don't be too sanguine in this matter; make sure that your own garments are clean—not simply whitewashed.

Why You Should!

BY H. H. JOHNSTON.

If men would only stop to think How near they stand to Death's dark brink, Where rolls the Styx as black as ink, I'm sure that they From life insurance would not shrink, Nor say me nay,

When I, with most polite decorum, The praises sound of our Home Forum, And for their wives and babes implore 'em To take some heed, Lest, when they join the great majorum, They're left in need.

In love with their connubial mate, Yet, reckless, leave her to her fate, Too often in most desperate strait, With children small— How dangerous to procreate Beyond recall!

I don't believe that Heaven is won To any man, who leaves undone His duty clear to see that none, Near kith an' kin, Shall beggared be when he is gone— Too great's the sin!

Especially when, with rates so low As those the Forum has to show, There's no excuse for saying "no;" All may insure Loved ones from want, and doing so, Themselves secure Surcease from ever-shadowing fear Of what might come should Death draw near, Leaving the wife and children here Without relief, With naught but Poverty to cheer Them in their grief.

Whatcom Blade:—The republican state legislature will have a good, substantial, business-like state administration to thank for, a condition which will net to each legislator $6.75 more salary than the legislator of the session of 1897 received. State warrants are now selling at a premium of 2 1/2 cents on the dollar and the legislature during the coming session will receive 12 1/2 cents per day premium on the state paper in which his salary is paid. Of course it is all very effective politics to cuss and ridicule the hateful administration under which this benefit thrived and developed.

Pomeroy Independent:—The P. I. is quoting what every rag-tag and bob-tail sheet is saying in the state on the death of Fusion. It quotes all these third rate papers as having belonged to the allied parties, whereas not one of them ever did a thing but bleed a few of the candidates while they claimed the principles of Populism. The Seattle paper has a penchant for rooting in hog pens and it has its nose now employed in its delightful task of turning up something that stinks and causes the public to hold its nose while said paper goes on unconscious of the stink in its loved employ.

Seattle P. I.:—Sheriff Wynegar, of Kittitas county, arrived in Seattle yesterday afternoon from the eastern portal of the Cascade tunnel with Thomas Delaney, who is accused of raising a Great Northern time check from a small amount, something like $2.00 to $16. The Sheriff will take him to Ellensburg where he will be tried. They say the check was written by E. D. Ryan, who has charge of a gang of men, and was cashed by Frank Dorn, who runs a store. After the discovery of the alleged raising of the figures, complaint was made against Delaney and the sheriff placed him under arrest.
