

PARKER NOTIFIED OF HIS VICTORY

ESOPUS, N. Y., July 9.—"Is that so?" cheerily remarked Judge Parker at 7 o'clock this morning, as he emerged from his plunge in the Hudson river, when informed of his nomination. The nominee's curiosity went to the extent of asking for the details of the final vote, but he refrained from making any comment.

Will Remain Silent.

"I shall say nothing whatever until formally notified of my nomination," said the judge at a number of newspaper men.

Judge Parker retired last night at 10 o'clock and did not show himself until 6 o'clock this morning, when he went to the river for his usual swim.

Wall Congratulated Nominee.

MILWAUKEE, July 9.—E. C. Wall this morning telegraphed his congratulations to Judge Parker, promising his vigorous support.

PEN PICTURE OF THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE

Once one meets Judge Alton B. Parker one can never forget him. Picture a handsome giant of a man, six feet tall, 190 pounds in weight and active as an athlete. Indeed, he is an athlete, and every sharp, clean cut, aggressive movement of his lithe body shows it. His shoulders are broad and straight. His cheeks are ruddy—very ruddy. In fact, his color makes you wonder if he really lives a sedentary life.

You learn on inquiry that he does not. No weather is too bad to keep him from a five or ten-mile canter on horseback before breakfast each morning.

His clear brown eyes may be the result of these early rides, too. They are large, fearless, deep eyes—one of the strongest features of the judge's personality. Somehow you get the idea that they are taking your measure and helping their owner classify you. But they are kindly withal.

The nose is large and aquiline, but the heavy reddish brown mustache—the judge's pride, relieves it. The forehead is high and strong, showing much mentality. His cheek bones are prominent and his jaws are heavy and firm. His mouth is large and very masculine. His hair is growing sparse and is reddish brown in color.

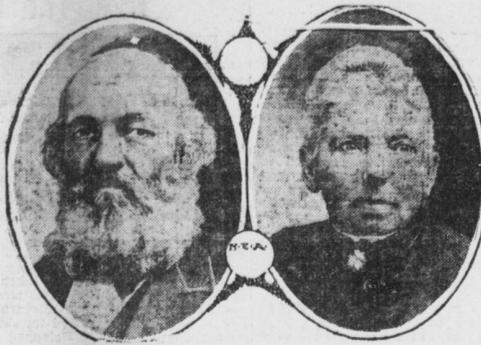

Time has dealt gently with Judge Parker. There is not a line or a wrinkle on his face. In fact, were one to hazard an estimate as to his age, no one would put it at over 40.

Nor would one, seeing him on the street, think he was the chief justice of the tribunal which ranks in importance and dignity next to the supreme court of the United States. He dresses simply and in good taste.

He rides in corduroys, leggings and riding jacket. Afterwards, he wears a plain business suit of gray or dark brown, sack coat, high vest, and a four-in-hand tie of a neat pattern, held by a tiny pearl pin. One would say he was a well-to-do business man, rather than an eminent jurist.

Judge Parker always dresses for dinner, and his evening clothes are as severely plain as those worn by him during the day.

WENT A-WOOING AT NINETY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—At the age of 90 Franz L. Linderman, of Alameda went a-wooning and yesterday led a blushing bride to the altar. To be sure the lady, Friedricka Ansoerge, is just five years over the allotted three score and ten, but nevertheless she was as coy as a maiden of 20 as she entered the church where she was to make her vows to her sweetheart.

The pair met at a German picnic two weeks ago, and Linderman lost no time in laying his heart at the feet of the lady.

The couple have taken a short trip into the country to spend their honeymoon and on their return will go to housekeeping.

The first four innings of yesterday's game were of the kind that warm the heart of the real fan. The Tigers had a collection of five hits and one run, while the Seals had been able to get next to what Keefe had up his sleeve only once.

The seventh inning developed into a sort of a sprinting exhibition, in which seven Tigers and three Seals made the circuit. That ended the game so far as the Seals were concerned. In the eighth a single and a steal by McLaughlin, a two-bagger by Keefe and singles by Doyle and Sheehan gave the Tigers three more runs and the hurlesque was over. The score by innings: R. H. E. Tacoma 0 0 0 1 1 2 7 3—14 18 2. San Fran. 0 0 0 0 0 3 0 0—3 7 2.

Summary: Struck out—Keefe 6, Jones 2. Bases on balls—Jones 6, Keefe 3. Hit by pitcher—Graham, Irwin, Stolen bases—Doyle, McLaughlin 2. Two-base hits—Casey, Keefe, Hildebrand, Jones. Three-base hit—Doyle. Home run—McLaughlin. Sacrifice hits—Keefe, Casey, Eagan, Anderson. Double plays—Eagan to Nordyke, Eagan to Casey. Left on bases—Tacoma 11, San Francisco 6.

Seattle 10, Oakland 5. SEATTLE, July 9.—Seattle won yesterday in a sensational fielding and batting game. The score: R. H. E. Seattle 0 0 1 0 2 1 3 3—10 12 3. Oakland 0 1 0 0 0 2 2 0—5 10 6. Batteries—Hughes and Wilson; Graham and Lohman.

Portland 1, Los Angeles 0. PORTLAND, July 9.—For the second time this week Portland blanked Los Angeles yesterday, by scoring in the last half of the ninth after an exciting battle between Baum and Roach. The score: R. H. E. Portland 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—1 6 1. Los Ang. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 5 3. Batteries—Roach and Shea; Baum and Spies.

Here's Good Reading

(By Mrs. E. M. Blauvelt.)

"My enthusiasm over the gas range is to be explained by the fact of its having solved for me the most difficult problem of the modern housekeeper, the servant question. The coal range, with its increasing demand for attention, its ashes, smoke and refractory dampers, necessitated the services of a cook constantly. Since the installation of my gas range I do my own cooking and find it not only free from drudgery, but a positive pleasure. My meals are prepared in the length of time it formerly took to get my stove hot, and, considering the fact that I save a cook's wages and board, I can honestly say that the gas range puts money in the bank for me every month."

We sell ranges and water heaters on payments of $1.00 a month. We also rent ranges for 25c, 35c and 40c a month.

"WAKE-UP JIM" FOUND WEALTH IN A DREAM

BUTTE, July 9.—Out among the sand dunes of Mount Moriah cemetery there is a wooden head stone bearing the singular inscription: "Here Lies Wake-Up Jim." That is all; the board bears no further inscription and no explanation of the singular nickname.

"Wake-Up Jim" Tewey, as he was known through all the mining camps of Montana, was for many years a prospector of the poorer class in this city. Coming from no one knew where he entered the camp in the early 80s, his entire worldly possessions being a pick, a pan and a shovel.

For months and years he wandered over the hills of Butte, picking up enough ore to last him a few weeks and being grubstaked by his more fortunate companions. His hard luck became proverbial, and when some unlikely event was forecast by one of the skeptical listeners world answer: "Yes, that'll happen when Jim Tewey strikes a lead." From Butte to Helena Jim wandered in search of gold dust and nuggets but barely enough came his way to keep him alive.

At last Jim went entirely broke. Those who had helped him out in the past came to the conclusion Jim was hoodooed, and to give him money was a waste of cash. Jim was up against it hard. He had no place to sleep and the larder was bare. He sadly wended his way up the hillside and selecting a soft spot on the hill, he lay down to sleep.

The next morning the men hanging about the bar in the Big Butte saloon, the popular resort with miners, were astonished to see Jim drift smilingly in to the bar and order a drink, offering to pay a huge nugget. In a moment he was surrounded by a breathless, questioning crowd of curious companions.

Then Jim unboomed himself: He told how he fell asleep on the hillside and a dream came to him. He thought an angel stood by him and said, "Wake up, Jim. Dig here." Jim awoke and, digging by the moonlight worked until the dawn. And he found the ore he had been looking for.

There, directly beneath the spot where he had slept was one of the richest veins of copper ore the camp had known. Staking out his claim, Jim took the words of his dream for a title and his sign of location read "The Wake-Up Jim Mine."

TACOMA LEADS

The state grain inspector has completed his report for the month of June. The statement shows that Tacoma still leads both Seattle and Spokane in receipts and remains the greatest receiving grain depot of the state.

The amount of grain received at the three cities is as follows: Wheat—Tacoma, 207,835 bushels; Seattle, 167,000 bushels; Spokane, 41,370 bushels. Oats—Tacoma, 39,000 bushels;

MEN'S TIES

Larger shapes in ties call for larger patterns in cravatings. There is no particular color except brown, likely to be favored during the fall. Purple is much talked about. Purple shot with dark or light shades. The new gobelin effects and tapestry styles offer something pretty. In the goods the color and design are alike excellent, the effects in light shot on black, brown, purple and other rich color grounds being particularly attractive.

LITTLETON'S ELOQUENT SPEECH

Judge Parker's name was presented to the convention by Martin W. Littleton, in a brilliant speech, which in part follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention: We do not expect here that peace which smells of chloroform. We do not wish that unctuous unanimity which springs from the unconflicting emotions of a solitary man. We would not have our harmony a harness. We, too, love the strenuous life, but we believe in equal strenuousness for all and special strenuousness for none. We do not derive our power from the seats of the mighty, but from the souls of the humble. We do not ask for inane agreements springing from faithless fire, but rather outbursts of discussion issuing from robust freedom. We are not in executive session, but rather in committee of the whole. We are sent here by the people to select a candidate; we were not sent here by the candidate to notify the people.

No Man the Master.
"Gentlemen of the convention, beyond the exciting passions of war and the distressing panics of peace, beyond the reach of disaster's dread appeal and the dead past's drying wall, we meet in the clear and rational calm of a seasoned common sense, to reason together for the well-being of our country and our party. No man here can have his exact way. No leader can take us along the narrow ledge of his unquestioned logic. No section should serve us from the course that leads to union and fellowship. No faction can divide us into weakened
