

PEOPLE WILL PUNISH TARIFF CRIME, SAYS CHAMP CLARK

IN SPECIAL INTERVIEW, MINORITY LEADER SAYS POWER OF TRUSTS OVER MASSES WAS NEVER CLEARER, AND INCREASED COST OF LIVING WILL KEEP VOTERS FROM FORGETTING PRESENT OUTRAGE.

By Gilson Gardner.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—What do the democrats propose to do about it?
This is the question I shot at Champ Clark, leader of the minority of the house, when he was asked "The tariff?" answered Clark. "You mean what do we propose to do in case the Cannon-Payne-Aldrich bill becomes a law—in the shape in which it is?"
"Assuming that the tariff will be substantially what the Aldrich bill now forecasts," said Clark. "I take it that will be the people's verdict. The republican party is responsible and the republicans will have to pay the fiddler."
"Do you think the country will be satisfied with the Aldrich bill?"
"Not unless the people change their mind. It is plain to me that at the present time the voters of the country are far from satisfied. Why should they be? Have they been clamoring for revision upward? Does the average man want to see the cost of food and clothes increase? Does he like to pay a tax every time he turns around in order that monopoly may be fostered?"
"Not much. The republican party went before the country in the national campaign promising revision downward. That is what the people understood. That understanding was responsible for a million votes for their presidential ticket. It was as a republican member of the house who otherwise would have been a democrat. That promise has been broken. The people have a feeling that they have been unfairly dealt with. The people will resent it."
"How about the democratic votes which have been cast in favor of the Aldrich tariff schedules?"

"That will be one question to be answered by the people. Either the tariff is a democratic issue or it is not. If the men who vote for a tariff bill are supported by the people in what are democratic districts, then the tariff issue has no place in politics. It has ceased to be a political issue. On the other hand, if there is a difference between republicans and democrats on this tariff matter, the democrats who vote for a republican tariff bill are not representing their constituencies. It will be up to their constituents to turn them out of office."
"Do you anticipate that the tariff will be the next campaign issue?"
"The republicans have kindly furnished us with several campaign issues. The tariff will be one; Cannonism will be another. A good many people feel that there is a need for a change in the rules and in the government of the house of representatives is quite as important as any legislation which has been passed or will be pending. They want to see their house made a representative body. They want to see an end to a system by which all legislative power is lodged in one man and the committee which he organizes. I predict that in the coming election of congressmen all candidates will be subjected to sharp questioning along these lines. They will have to tell their people what they think about the rules and what they think about protective tariff. As to the latter matter, they will have to tell their people whether they are in favor of a tariff for revenue—revenue for the government, not revenue for private monopolies."

HOT CONTEST FOR KVALSHAUG CHILDREN

In her determination not to allow the children of her murdered son turned over to friends of the persons who committed the crime, Mrs. O. Kvalshaug, mother of Martin Kvalshaug, left her home in Centerville, S. D., a few days ago, and will arrive in Tacoma before the guardianship arguments are heard in court next Saturday. There are two petitions for the guardianship of little Amy and Evelyn Kvalshaug, the children whose father was brutally murdered and whose mother languishes in prison accused of the crime. One petition asks that Sarah Kvalshaug, sister of the murdered man, be appointed, and the other signed by Mrs. Kvalshaug, asks that Mrs. Munsen of Puyallup be appointed guardian. The grandmother will take the children back to South Dakota if she obtains possession of them.

Forges Check To Aid Starving Family

Admitting that he cashed a forged check because his family was destitute and in need of food Dominic Guesstienich has been arrested and lies in a cell at the county jail while his wife and children are utterly destitute. Guesstienich forged a check for $27.20. He says he did it because he could not bear the agony of seeing his family suffer.

In view of the fact that Guesstienich has agreed to pay the money back, it is probable that the charge against him will be withdrawn.

MONUMENT TO MAN WHO STIRRED THE COUNTRY IN DAYS OF SLAVERY

MONUMENT TO JONATHAN

"Why, that brand is highest honor! Than its traces never yet! Upon old armorial hatchments was a prouder blazon set; And thy unborn generations, as they tread our rocky strand Shall tell with pride the story of their father's branded hand."
—Whittier's "The Branded Hand."
The verses are carved upon the four sides of the base of the monument.

MUSKEGO, Mich., June 1.—Almost forgotten is he now—Jonathan Walker, the "Man with the Branded Hand." Only a gray and crumbling monument, 30 years old, in a cemetery here, stands to remind the world of what he did. He stirred the whole nation a half century ago, did Walker. Whittier wrote a famous poem about him. Northern abolitionists raised money to get him out of a southern prison. Walker, working single-handed, was helping negro slaves escape from Florida across the British West Indies. For this he was branded on the right hand by a United States marshal, "S. S."—slave stealer.

It is stated on good authority that the appointment will be permanent and Gen. Carr will remove to Spokane to take charge of all the road's legal business in that section. He will succeed Judge M. J. Gordon in that office. "I have been retained to represent the Great Northern as counsel in a number of cases pending this summer," said Gen. Carr last night. "I would not care to say at present whether or not I shall remain in the road's employ in the eastern part of the state. I expect to leave in a short time to take up the pending cases." Gen. Carr has been maintaining a private law practice in Seattle since 1884.

LEPER DEMANDS THAT DOCTORS AGREE OR THAT HE BE FREED

By Gilson Gardner.
WASHINGTON, June 1.—"When doctors disagree," says John R. Early, the Washington "leper" who is under imprisonment, "there is some hope for me."
Early has hired a lawyer and he may demand his freedom from quarantine, imposed on him by the health department of Washington.
Dr. L. D. Buckley, a New York specialist in skin diseases, declares that Early is not a leper. He examined him, when the Washington health department wasn't looking. Thereby he made the health department mad.
Dr. Ehlert, a Danish specialist in leprosy, looked Early over and declared that he was a leper.
Now Dr. Woodward of the health department says he will keep a more strict watch over Early and not permit other doctors to examine him.
"I won't be satisfied," says Early, "until I get the unanimous decision of many doctors. I know I haven't got leprosy, and as long as I am together and freely air their views as one eminent physician agrees in regard to Early's condition."

JOHN R. EARLY.

with me it is wrong to keep me imprisoned."
Early's lawyer is considering the issuance of a habeas corpus action, in order to present to the courts a demand that medical experts get together and freely air their views as one eminent physician agrees in regard to Early's condition.

Sitting comfortably in his arm chair, with his little pet dog sleeping peacefully in his lap, George W. Manville, 77 years old, a hero of Indian wars and pioneer of Tacoma, passed away last evening in his cabin at 5425 Warner street. (By United Press Leased Wire.)
BERLIN, June 1.—Mechanics who are repairing Count Zeppelin's wrecked airship, Zeppelin 11, stated that the damage to the craft is not so great as was at first believed. Although it will take some time to make the repairs, it is believed that the ship can be removed to Zeppelin's shops at Friederschaffen by Thursday.

CARPENTERS GET HIGHER WAGES

Wages of carpenters employed by the contractors affiliated with the Builders' Exchange were raised in Tacoma today. Several weeks ago the Builders' Exchange, in view of the building activity in the city this summer, adopted a resolution that wages of carpenters should be raised to $4 a day June 1. The carpenters agreed to the scale and today all the contractors put the new rates into effect. It will increase the payroll of some of the large contractors as much as $50 a day each to meet the raise, but business is good and everybody is looking for a splendid season this year in the building trades. There are several hundred carpenters in the city who will be affected by the boost in wages, and the merchants will also be benefited by the increase.

RICHLAND ON THE COLUMBIA

THE LAND OF EARLY FRUITS; the section that possesses all the essentials necessary for the development of one of the greatest fruit producing districts in this country. This large tract, comprising some 16,000 acres of the finest irrigated land in the Northwest, is all watered as nature intended. Gravity flow ditches, under a water right over 19 years old. These facts are worth remembering, as they are both of sufficient guaranty that Richland growers will get all the water they need. Ten miles above Kennewick.

STOP AND THINK FOR JUST ONE MOMENT

If the Richland Valley did not possess all the favorable sides we present, do you suppose the hundreds of people who have invested and are improving their land, would have done so if our claims could not be substantiated? We say no.

For as Lincoln said: "You may fool all the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time."

Why pay prices out of reach of most men for land in a district that is fully matured, when we can sell you superior land in a superior location at prices that a man in any walk of life is in a position to take hold?

Bear In Mind: Ours Is No Experiment or Proposed Scheme

"The ditches are built and the water flowing through them" for the growers to use.

Why should people want it in the Richland Valley? Because it is the land that has proven itself right; it's exclusive and being located in the very center of the "Early Fruit Belt," with transportation facilities unexcelled, proves that people know and appreciate an opportunity and are taking advantage of it. The intelligent homeseeker, after investigating the various other so-called successful irrigated sections, finds all the important facts brought to an issue in the Richland Valley, naturally he grasps the opportunity offered.
