

TEACHERS RETURN HOME LEAVING HOT FIGHT FOR NEXT MEETING UNSETTLED

DECLARE CONVENTION MOST SUCCESSFUL IN HISTORY AND PRAISE TACOMA FOR HER HOSPITALITY.

Several hundred teachers from various parts of the state returned home today following adjournment of the Washington Educational association convention here late yesterday. The convention left a lively fight between Seattle, Everett and North Yakima for the next gathering unsettled. The delegates were warm in their appreciation of hospitality shown them in Tacoma, and declared this meeting the most successful in the history of the association.

The selection of a meeting place was left to a special committee.

Seattle appears to have the best chance of landing the next convention.

As was predicted, Frank B. Cooper, superintendent of the Seattle schools, was elected president of the association without opposition. W. C. P. McGovern, of the Edison school, Tacoma, was honored with the vice presidency. O. C. Whitney, principal of the Bryant school, Tacoma, was re-elected secretary for the eighth consecutive time.

Charles Fagin, of Seattle, was elected treasurer.

WOODLAND IN LINE FOR ANNEXATION MOVEMENT

UNANIMOUS VERDICT FOR GREATER TACOMA SCHEME AT BIG MASS MEETING.

Woodland is in line for the Greater Tacoma movement and will rally to the polls unanimously for annexation January 2. That was the verdict of the big meeting held in the school house last night with 150 persons present.

George H. Stone and Marshall K. Snell were the speakers. E.

C. Hurst and W. D. Ingoman furnished splendid music and refreshments were served.

The various phases of annexation were thoroughly gone into and the vote on the question when a counting of noses was asked showed that Woodland, like the rest of the suburbs in the big district, is unanimous for annexation.

The next annexation meeting in the campaign will be held at Freeman school next Monday evening.

PLEADS FOR NEW LEGISLATION AGAINST THE MONOPOLIES

SHERMAN ANTI-TRUST LAW DENOUNCED AS NOT MEETING COUNTRY'S NEEDS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Francis Walker, of the bureau of corporations at Washington, yesterday denounced the Sherman anti-trust law in its present form and insisted that the modification of the law would confuse the situation it has created even more than at present.

Walker spoke at the convention of the American Economic associations, and said: "Remedies for the big trust evil may be had in either a general prohibition of monopolies or a particularly remedy aimed at the reasons for their existence."

"The particular remedies that could be employed are restrictions of public grants of privileges, limitation of the private ownership of natural resources, or, in certain cases, a tax on the increment from those natural resources."

On the other hand, Walker said, prohibition of railway favoritism in all forms as well as in the various kinds of unfair competition practiced, are also needed.

The speaker continued: "With all this done monopoly could exist only by reason of the superior efficiency of the trust. It might be allowed then to exist as a public utility."

Her Good Cooking Won Election For Husband

(Special Correspondence.) INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 31.—Proof of the statement that the way to win a man's heart is through his stomach has been had by Mrs. Samuel Lewis Shank, wife of the mayor-elect of Indianapolis.

For 16 years Mrs. Shank had charge of the restaurant department in a local department store, and because of her skill as a cateress, she won the hearts of many county and city officials, as well as business men who took noonday lunches at her place. She has also prepared many of the banquets for lodges and other organizations.

When her husband announced his acceptance of the nomination Mrs. Shank took advantage of her wide acquaintance among influential men to write personal letters to them soliciting their vote for her husband.

"The result of the election has convinced me more than ever that the way to win a man's heart is through his stomach," said the smiling woman. "My husband gives me all credit, but that is too much. I helped him, though."

MRS. S. L. SHANK, county official, and that he also took his noonday luncheons at her luncheon.

"FIGHT IT TO A FINISH, THIS GREAT AMERICAN CONFLICT FOR THE MANY AGAINST THE FEW"

—GIFFORD PINCHOT, U. S. FORESTER

comes praiseworthy to do for a corporation things which they would refuse with the loftiest scorn to do for themselves. Fortunately for us all, that delusion is rapidly passing away.

A man is not bad because he is rich, nor good because he is poor. Exceptional capacity in business, as in any other line of life, should meet with exceptional reward. Rich men have served this country greatly. Washington was a rich man. But it is very clear that excessive profits from the control of natural resources monopolized by a few, are not worth to this nation the tremendous price they cost us.

We have allowed the great corporations to occupy with their own men the strategic points in business, in social, and in political life. It is our fault more than theirs. We have allowed it when we could have stopped it. Too often we have seemed to forget that a man in public life can no more serve both the special interests and the people than he can serve God and Mammon. There is no reason why the American people should not take into their hands again the full political power which is theirs by right, and which they exercised before the special interests began to nullify the will of the majority.

There are many men who believe and who will always believe in the divine right of money to rule. With such men argument, compromise, or conciliation is useless or worse. The only thing to do with them is to fight them and beat them. It is the honorable distinction of the forest service that it has been more constantly, more violently and more bitterly attacked by the representatives of the special interests in recent years than any other government bureau. These attacks have increased in violence and bitterness just in proportion as the service has offered effective opposition to predatory wealth. The more successful we have been in preventing land grabbing and the absorption of water power by the special interests, the more ingenious, the more devious and the more dangerous these attacks have become.

A favorite one is to assert that the forest service, in its zeal for the public welfare, has played ducks and drakes with the acts of congress. The fact is, on the contrary, that the service has had warrant of law for everything it has done. Not once since it was created has any charge of illegality, despite the most searching investigation and the bitterest attack, ever led to reversal or reproof by either house of congress or by any congressional committee, or in any court or administrative tribunal of last resort.

Another, and unusually plausible form of attack is to demand that all land not now bearing trees shall be thrown out of the national forests. For centuries forest fires have burned through the western mountains, and much land thus deforested is scattered through the national forests awaiting reforestation.

This land is not valuable for agriculture, and will contribute more to the general welfare under forest than in any other way. To exclude it from the national forests would be no more reasonable than it would be in a city to remove from taxation and municipal control every building lot not now covered by a house; or to confiscate a man's winter overcoat because he was not wearing it in July. A generation in the life of a nation is no longer than a season in the life of a man. With a fair chance we can and will reclothe these denuded mountains with forests, and we ask for that chance.

Still another attack, nearly successful two years ago, was an attempt to prevent the forest service from telling the people, through the press, what it is accomplishing for them, and how much this nation needs the forest. If we cannot tell what we are doing, the time will come when there will be nothing to tell. Publicity is the essential and indispensable condition of clean and effective public service.

Since the forest service called public attention to the rapid absorption of the water power sites and the threatening growth of a great water power monopoly, the attacks upon it have increased with marked rapidity. I anticipate that they will continue to do so. Still greater opposition is promised in the near future. There is but one protection—an awakened public opinion.
