

NO BARS ON LAND AND POWER SITE GRABBERS

(By United Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 15.—The only conservation legislation that will be passed at this session of congress, according to a member of the house today, "will be a general classification bill, a bill for the withdrawal of certain lands and the reclamation bond issue act."

"It will be necessary for supporters of the reclamation bond issue to fight hard to get the bill through the house," according to the representative.

Indications at present are that these three measures will be the limit on which the leaders can agree in connection with President's conservation program. There is a possibility also that one of these may fall of passage.

The dangers confronting the conservation program in congress are much that there is slight belief that more than three measures will be passed. This will leave to the president the task of preventing any coal land or water power site grabs.

GRAFT CASES CITY STUNG AGAIN DELAYED

(By United Press Leased Wire.) SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—Judge Lawlor today continued until next Thursday the cases against Patrick Calhoun, Tiley L. Ford, Thornwell Mullally and William C. A. Abbott, charged with bribery in connection with the granting of a franchise for an overhead trolley during the Schmitz administration. The judge ordered District Attorney Fickert to appear on that date to make a preliminary showing of what evidence he has gathered against the indicted men.

More than 50 subpoenas for appearance in court today had been issued, and practically every one who has been in any way connected with the graft prosecution was present. Those who had been called as witnesses were warned by the court not to leave its jurisdiction for Thursday without permission.

Among those who had been subpoenaed were Rudolph Spreckels, former Mayor James N. Phelan, and all the members of the Schmitz boodling board of supervisors who could be reached by a summons.

STILL NO TRAGE OF FUHR'S BODY

The body of Arthur N. Fuhr, the young man supposed to have been drowned in the bay night before last, has not been found as yet, although searching parties have been out since the time of the accident. The father and brother of the young man were searching all night long but without success. Fuhr was lost in a collision between the launch Arrow and the British steamer Celtic. The five other members of the party escaped by clinging to the top of the launch until the lines were thrown to them, but Fuhr was cast into the water and although a good swimmer he had disappeared before help could be extended to him.

STRUCK HIM WITH LANTERN

As the result of a scrap between a non-union switchman and a Northern Pacific yard foreman, Frank Smith, the switchman, was lodged in the city jail last night, charged with assault and battery, and Edward Hawkins, the yard foreman, has a scalp wound caused, caused by a blow from Smith's lantern. The fight occurred in the Halfmoon yards. Hawkins secured a warrant for Smith's arrest, and City Detectives Ashby and Milone served it.

BUILT ASYLUM; NOW INMATE

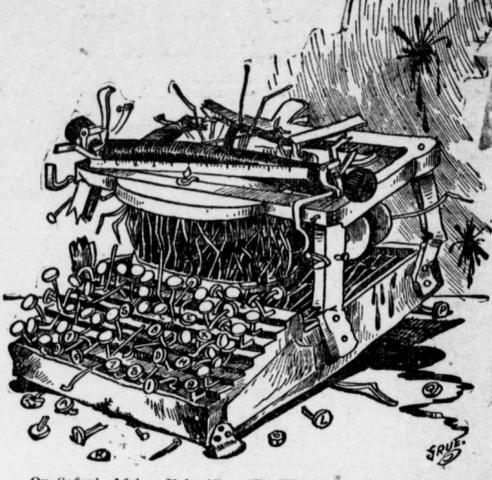

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—After having built some of the largest public institutions for the insane in the Northwest, Frank R. Pettibone, a contractor, was recently committed to the State Hospital for the Insane, where he will be an inmate of the building he erected several years ago.

Recently his friends noticed signs that his mind was weakening. His mad was said to be the drawing of plans for large building for insane patients. The testimony before the court showed that he had also developed suicidal tendencies.

YOUTHS GET OFF WITH LIGHT SENTENCE

Charles Ainsworth and Fred Fletcher, the two Olympia youths arrested at Stellacoom a week ago charged with stealing machinery and tools from launches, were given sentences of 90 days in the county jail by Judge Graham today, pleading guilty to malicious trespass. The original charge was petty larceny.

AIN'T IT AWFUL WALTER? MILLIONAIRE'S SON TO WED MILL GIRL

(By United Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—"It's murder; simply murder," tragically reiterated Eugene Walter, the playwright, today, following an attempt by local suffragettes to turn his play, "Just a Wife," into an argument for the "sanctity of the American home" into a "boost" for "votes for women."

"Here is a play," continued Walter, "written in defense of the American home and it is being boosted into an appeal for votes for women. It is indefensible. I could not stand for it."

The new play, which aroused the discussion, was attended by militant suffragettes who crowded the Belasco theater on the opening night. Walter, of course, attended the first performance. He was greeted in the lobby of the theater with a big sign reading, "Votes for Women" and at least half of the audience wore yellow streamers or badges which shrieked the same slogan.

Later while Miss Charlotte Walker, in the title role, was taken one curtain call after another, Mrs. Loebinger, one of the most militant of the suffragettes, called her appeal for votes for women.

"Do you know what that means?" she asked.

"Sure," shouted a man from the rear. "No schools; no children." That ended the speech.

CLIPPED CORN TOOK BOTH LEGS; ARMS GOING WHEN DEATH CAME

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 15.—The death of H. S. Odbert, prominent business man and veteran of the civil war, resulted indirectly from the trimming of corn.

In the four years that elapsed between Odbert's visit to the chiroprapist and his death, both legs had been amputated nearly to the thighs to stay the blood poisoning, poison abscesses had been cut from his back and his last fear, that his arms, one after the other, would have to be amputated and he would be left a living, helpless hulk of trunk and head.

Death, however, mercifully came to save him from that fate. His system, shot through with poison, could not withstand a sudden attack of pneumonia, and he died after a sharp illness of twelve hours.

Four years ago Odbert was a big, upstanding man, 59 years old. Ten years before he had been stricken with diabetes, and doctors said he could not live more than a few months. But his rugged constitution withstood the disease, which still clung to him, however.

But his weakened blood could not offset the poison that swept through his system after the chiroprapist's knife. The poisoning manifested itself almost immediately, and six months later Odbert's right leg was amputated above his knee to save his life. He bought a crutch and an automobile and continued to be about his business.

A year and a half later he was at Atlantic City when his left foot began to swell. Again he was put on the operating table. An attempt was made to amputate the leg below the knee. The cut was made, but the arteries of the locality were found too weak to be tied. So a second successful cut was made nearly at the thigh.

The doctors thought the shock of the operation would kill him. He recovered, however, threw away his crutch, bought a wheel chair, engaged a negro valet to carry him whenever necessary, and was soon in his regular place in the office.

Before he died he began to feel an itching in his hands, and he knew this meant that the poison had crept into his arms. Yet, facing such a fate, he maintained a cheer and composure that were heroic.

H. S. ODBERT

Rev. Dr. T. S. McWilliams, one of the chief supporters of the Emmanuel movement in Ohio, used to call upon Odbert in his last days.

"I am sure I derived more benefit from the man's cheerfulness than he did from any spiritual assurance I brought him," said Dr. McWilliams afterwards.

THE CONFLICT OF LOVE AND FAT

The average man will "jolly" with the girl; but he steals glances over her shoulder at that Miss Singer. He would sooner hold the hands of the latter in a stentorian silence than really enjoy himself with the other. Such is the power of line. Just above—from chin to toe, or nose to heel—that's all, but it rings the merry marriage bell.

Fat women should not rejoice, but refine—their own lines by means of that phenomenal—the Marmola Tablet. No exercising or dieting is necessary. Simply take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime, and in a little while the surplus of fat—the coarseness of aspect—will disappear. The figure will become slight enough to permit of a maidenly contour, a pure outline, being fashioned with corset and gown. Then victory—if not revenge.

Although Marmola Tablets often take off uniformly a pound of flab by fat a day, they are quite harmless (being made of the famous fashionable prescription: 3/8 oz. Marmola, 3/8 oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3/8 oz. Peppermint Water). Consequently, even timid ones are safe in using them, for no ill—not even a wrinkle or stomach ache—will follow their use; seventy-five cents secures a large case at any drugstore or by mail from the Marmola Co., 134 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

COLTON TAKEN TO COUNTY JAIL

In a preliminary hearing before Judge J. M. Arntson of the police court, John J. Colton, the alleged hold-up, pleaded not guilty to the charge of highway robbery. Colton has served three terms in the "pen" before on serious charges, and was caught Saturday night in the act of holding up the men in the Carlton hotel drug store. The accused man asked that any information against him be filed directly through the superior court. He was placed under $2,500 bonds and removed to the county jail.

NOW FOR A GRIND ORGAN AT PARK THINKS 'HEIR' HAS NO CLAIM

(By United Press Leased Wire.) KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 15.—Declaring his disbelief of the claim of Elmer Swope, of West Virginia, who seeks to break the will of the late Col. Thomas H. Swope, the Rev. William Dalton today declared that the colonel frequently benighted the fact that he had no near relatives to whom he could leave his property.

Dr. Dalton frequently declared emphatically that he had no children. The new claimant, through his attorneys, seeks to establish right to the estate of Col. Swope. He claims that before the Civil war Col. Swope married the claimant's mother, that his parents became separated when the war broke out, and that he was born in the South, after the separation. Swope declares that the colonel never knew he had a son living.

A LITTLE RED SPOT

Novel Experiment by Which It May Be Made to Disappear. A peculiar feature about psoriasis, the new skin discovery is that no one is asked to buy it without first sending to the Emergency Laboratories No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City, for an experimental sample and applying same to an affected part of the skin, about the size of a silver dollar. It will clear the spot so remarkably in twenty-four hours—a remarkable visual demonstration of its powers.

While psoriasis has been mentioned principally in connection with the cure of eczema, the most stubborn of skin diseases, it must be remembered that when used for itchy, hives, pimples, blotches, acne, itching feet, scaly scalp, chafing of infants and similar minor skin troubles its action is all the more pronounced, results being seen after an overnight application. As only a small quantity of psoriasis is necessary to cure such cases, a special fifty-cent package, usually sufficient, has been placed on sale at Malstrom's (9th and C Sts. and 938 Pacific Ave.), the Crown Drug Co. and other leading drug stores in Tacoma and throughout the country.

Some Reasons Why Most People Read The Times

It is independent in politics and action. It is aggressive and fearless in fighting for the public good. It has never truckled to any interest to anybody or to anything. It has never weakened, under fire, when fighting for the common welfare.

It speaks out on issues when other "independent" papers find it more convenient to remain silent. It refuses to suppress news to which people are entitled, no matter what it costs or whom it offends. It offers exclusive special features for every member of the family, which has made it the ideal home paper of Tacoma. It has the most complete and the most expensive telegraphic news service in the world, brought directly to the editorial rooms over the United Press leased wire. It resorts to no prize schemes nor other trickery to tie people up to read it. It goes before the public on its merits, and it gains more new readers every month than all other local papers combined. It has fought every corporation grab attempted upon the city and has saved to the people, privileges which will be worth millions in future years.

It's Policy Is Unchangable, It Has Had and Will Have In the Future But One Client—the People

A telephone call to Main 733 or Ind. A1733 will bring the Times to your home early every night for 30 cents per month. The Times' army of carriers is double that of any other local paper. Our delivery system covers Greater Tacoma like a blanket. You can get the Times wherever you live.
