Widespread Movement Started to Prevent Picture Exhibition

AUTHORITIES IN SOUTHERN AND MIDDLE WEST CITIES WILL NOT TAKE CHANCES ON MORE RACE RIOTS — NORTHWEST CITIES WILL NOT PREVENT SHOWING THEM.

(By United Press Leased Wire.) CHICAGO, July 6.—A movement to prevent the exhibition of the Jeffries-Johnson pictures is sweeping the country today. In many cities of the middle west and south the authorities have ordered that the pictures cannot be shown, fearing a recurrence of the riots that followed the victory of the giant black man over the so-called "hope of the white race."

Orders against the pictures have been issued in Washington, St. Louis, Des Moines, Lincoln, Detroit and Houston.

In Kansas City, Denver and other cities the matter has been brought before the authorities. In New Orleans the authorities have decided to allow the pictures to be exhibited but will not permit whites and blacks to see them at the same time and unusual precautions will be taken to prevent any disturbances.

In Chicago Mayor Busse and Chief of Police Steward have conferred about the matter and have decided that the pictures may be displayed. They declare that there is no reason now why the pictures should not be exhibited here but if any reason develops they will probably take drastic action against them.

May Show in Seattle. SEATTLE, July 6.—The Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures will not be prohibited in Seattle. There is little danger of their causing any racial trouble, the police say.

Portland Won't Interfere. PORTLAND, Ore., July 6.—There is little likelihood that an exhibition of the moving pictures of the Jeff-Johnson fight would be prevented in Portland.

Welcomed in Bellingham. BELLINGHAM, July 6.—The Jeffries-Johnson moving pictures will be welcomed in this city. No racial troubles will result here. There are very few negroes in this section.

Will Show in Medford. MEDFORD, Ore., July 6.—The leading moving picture theater of

Lost Tot Found After 48 Hours In Woods

(By United Press Leased Wire.) BELLINGHAM, July 6.—After all hope of finding their child alive had been abandoned and they were searching for some shred of clothing left by the great cougar, which they supposed had torn the baby to fragments, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kline, of Deming, this morning found the little six-year-old lad, Danny, near the head of Lake Whatcom, several miles from the camping ground at Canyon Falls, from which he wandered at 4 o'clock July 4.

How the child reached the spot unharmed, traveling through a rough country that is covered by a dense forest and populated with cougars and bear, is a mystery. The boy seemed well although terribly worn and exposed as a result of his two days and nights in the woods.

The discovery of the child came probably just in time to save the mother and father from a horrible fate, the fate that often follows severe mental strain. Without food or rest they had beat the bush for the last 48 hours.

Not a trace of the child had been seen although a party of 100 men and women had aided the parents in the search. So completely had the child dropped out of sight that it was believed by all that he had become the victim of one of the wild beasts.

All Hope Given Up. With all hope gone the search was continued only to postpone the time when the father and mother must give up and admit that what they felt in their hearts was the truth.

All through the long night they hunted, their companions watched closely for the sign they feared. A dozen times it was believed the climax had been reached. Far away the bloodhounds that had been brought to aid them could be heard baying. Daylight came, and still the grief-stricken parents pushed forward.

Then it was that the terrible strain came. With visions of the little body lying stiff and cold in death, or still worse, visions of the little form mangled and torn by the beasts of the woods, the parents hurried forward, forgetting their exhaustion in the excitement of the moment.

The suspense was terrible. Then as they paused to listen again for the dogs just ahead, was heard a faint cry, a child's whooping. A great shout went up, and in a moment little Danny was in his mother's arms.

Recently the city commission issued a declaration of war against the street car company, and today it took steps to let the company understand that war is what General Sherman said it was.

The city previously gave notice that if the company did not give five-cent fare and universal transfers there would be trouble. The company replied by fleeing to the federal court for an injunction against the city and everybody else to prevent steps already taken to force five-cent fare.

The case was argued before Judge Hanford yesterday. The street railway made a lamentably weak showing. Supreme court decisions from the United States court were quoted in voluminous repetition to sustain the position of the city that five-cent fare provisions of the settlement ordinance go out with the city limits. Judge Hanford took the matter under advisement.

Now the city is getting down to business. By unanimous vote the commission this morning passed two ordinances presented

JEFF'S RIGHT EYE MAY BE PARALYZED

OAKLAND, Cal., July 6.—Although efforts were made to keep the fact secret, the blow Johnson delivered in the second round of his fight with Jeffries at Reno paralyzed the optic nerve of the right eye and possibly permanently injured the white man's sight.

Jeffries made light of the blow at first but it was admitted today that the right side of his face is still affected, the sight of the right eye deranged and the nerve still partially paralyzed.

Jeff can see with the right eye but not distinctly and doctors are hoping that he may eventually fully recover his sight.

With visions of the little body lying stiff and cold in death, or still worse, visions of the little form mangled and torn by the beasts of the woods, the parents hurried forward, forgetting their exhaustion in the excitement of the moment.

The suspension was terrible. Then as they paused to listen again for the dogs just ahead, was heard a faint cry, a child's whooping. A great shout went up, and in a moment little Danny was in his mother's arms.

JACK DENIES HE WILL RETIRE

(By United Press Leased Wire.) CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 6.—Jack Johnson, who arrived here in his special car at 11:40 o'clock today, denied that there is any truth in his mother's statement that he was ready to retire from the prize ring.

Johnson made no attempt to explain any possible reasons for the statement, but declared he had no intention of quitting the game.

July 200 curious persons were at the station when Johnson's special car arrived over the Union Pacific. A squad of detectives were on the scene to guard the black champion.

TODAY IN HISTORY

July 6, 1854, a republican party was born. It is not true that Nelson W. Aldrich and Joe Cannon are his parents. They are merely its guardians. A number of people have claimed to be its parents, and nearly as many localities have claimed the honor of its birthplace, the bitterest rivals in this respect being Jackson and Three Oaks, Mich. communities otherwise orderly.

(By United Press Leased Wire.) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 6.—Tommy Kincaid was killed at the Motor Speedway here today when the National car which he was driving in a race dashed over an embankment. The car was overturned and Kincaid was pinned under it.

T. R.'s Endorsement of the Big Insurgent Shocks Stand-Patters

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—Politicians here have had two distinct shocks in the last two days. The first came with the alleged information that Roosevelt would support Miles Poindexter for the United States senate. The second came today when Roosevelt declared that statement was untrue.

That there is much passing behind the conference between Roosevelt and Poindexter at Oyster Bay yesterday all the politicians agree.

Will Greatly Aid Poindexter. While Roosevelt's statement precludes the possibility of his openly espousing the cause of Poindexter for the senate, when the contest for the senate begins it is universally believed that the endorsement of Poindexter by the former chief executive will have great influence.

As a consequence politicians look upon the Roosevelt-Poindexter meeting here with considerable interest, and the Washington insurgent is the subject of conversation generally in politics.

Poindexter is one of the most consistent of the insurgent group in the house. He was one of the nine republicans who voted to unseat Speaker Cannon after the memorable fight against the speaker's rule committee.

He was one of the principals in the rules committee fight, and he has played an important part in all the insurgent movement.

Coming from Oyster Bay with the official stamp of "T. R." on his record, whether the statement takes the form of endorsement for any specific office or not it is certain, as the politicians here view the case, to have a tremendous influence when the political pot in the northwest begins to boil.

Poindexter's delight yesterday was Roosevelt's approval of his record, and the statement which he issued after leaving Oyster Bay showed whatever matters were discussed at Sagamore Hill conference, whether they touched upon the Ballinger controversy and the Washington senatorship, or whether they were general, had a pretty direct significance.

Insurgents Are Pleased. The insurgents here are pleased with the interview. They declare that it simply indicates that Roosevelt is behind the insurgent movement, and that he has not changed his mind through any friendship for the president.

Means Slap at Ballinger. Roosevelt's "OK" of Poindexter is taken to signify here that the former president does not side with Ballinger. An approval of Poindexter could hardly be consistent with any approval of Ballinger and his policies, to put it in the most mild form possible, according to the politicians.

Will They Read T. R. Out? Roosevelt's emphatic approval of Poindexter comes as a terrific blow to the stand-pat contingent, which has been trying to read the Washington statesman out of the party because he rebelled against the Cannon-Aldrich machine. The events at Oyster Bay yesterday makes it clear that the stand-patters will have to read Roosevelt out of the party also if they succeed in crating out any of the insurgents.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Colonel Roosevelt today declared that he did not discuss the Ballinger controversy with Congressman Miles Poindexter of Washington, who conferred with him yesterday at Oyster Bay. The declaration was made in a formal statement issued today from Roosevelt's office at the "Outlook."

Regarding the conference with Congressman Poindexter, Roosevelt today said:

Pleased With Poindexter. "I will say I was pleased to find his past record regarding conservation and similar subjects was in hearty concord with mine.

"I did not express to him any opinion regarding senatorial nominations, and Poindexter did not ask for any. We did not discuss political questions in regard to the northwest, and we did not touch upon the Ballinger affair."
