JESS BAKER HOLDS TIGERS TO TWO HITS WHILE THE INDIANS MAKE 6 RUNS

NORTHWESTERN LEAGUE.

Team	Won	Lost	Pct
Spokane	55	43	.561
Vancouver	51	47	.520
Tacoma	49	47	.510
Seattle	39	57	.406

Two rather lucky hits were all Tacoma could gather after 27 men had tried at bat in the nine innings that Jess Baker pitched Spokane to victory yesterday. Jess, languid Jess, of Stellacom, whom Tacoma brought into professional ball and then trifled away because the rest of the team was not playing ball and the team lost regularly, is being groomed for a major league berth and his conduct on the slab yesterday indicates that he will bring a good price and will make good.

Tacoma never had a chance. Annis had his bad first inning when the Indians chased three men home. With Baker pitching there was no hope of ever getting them back.

After it was seen the game was gone for good Blankenship sent in Maston to see if he could get over his wildness. Maston fanned several men but his pass of Baker followed by Frisk's three-bagger blossomed into a run.

Tacoma had men on bases several times and if anybody had been able to jump in with a good lousy swat it might have broken up the Stellacom twirler but he had them all hypnotized. Score:

Team	R	H	E
Spokane	6	8	2
Tacoma	0	2	2

Batteries: Baker and Shea, Annis, Maston and Byrnes.

TURKS TRIM THE BEAVERS

SEATTLE, July 28.—Seattle jumped on Jensen again and drove him from the box yesterday, winning the game easily. Chinault pitched great ball for the home team. Score: R H E

Seattle	5	10	0
Vancouver	1	4	3

Batteries: Chinault and Hemmaway; Jensen, Smith and Lewis.

JOHN BULL TAKES GOLD CURE BY GIVING GOLD TO THE POOR

LONDON, July 28.—While Uncle Sam's drink bill is getting bigger, even with prohibition victories, John Bull's is getting smaller. Heavy taxation has done it.

In the fiscal year just closed, there was a drop of 10,000,000 gallons in the consumption of spirits, as compared with the previous year, according to Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George. In Ireland drinking has decreased from 30 to 70 per cent.

As soon as the heavy tax of the liberal budget was put on, drunkenness fell off. The number of resultant convictions has dropped 28,000.

"This has been a distinct gain to the community," said Mr. Lloyd-George. Then he told how the drinker's loss was really his gain.

"One Birmingham landlord reported that in the morning he used to sell a bottle of brandy with sodas," said this canny Welshman. "Now," he says, "I sell all sodas and no brandy—with just a little whiskey. Out of four customers now, two call for beer, and two for mineral water."

"There are two parties among the publicans (saloonkeepers)—the party that puts up the price, and there is a growing party, the party of the future, which puts down the measure. They have discovered that they could not do business at a higher price, so they sell at the old price a smaller quantity. They use a measure which is exactly the same as the old one on the outside, but which has a raised bottom.

"The consumer is not conscious that he is drinking less. Nothing gives greater satisfaction to a man than to feel that as he grows older he is able to drink exactly the same number of glasses and enjoy it better."

Thus England is striking two blows at poverty with one stone. The tax which prevents drunkenness, one cause of poverty, goes to relieve the poverty caused by England's industrial system.

SAFER AND SANER FOOTBALL SEEN BY WESTERN CRITICS IN THE NEW RULES ADOPTED; WANTING TO TRY THEM OUT

Diagram illustrating old and new method of making the forward pass. Under the new rules the pass must be made from a point not less than five yards back of the line, and must not go over 20 yards ahead of the scrimmage line. Under the old rules the player could make the pass from any angle after he received the ball, and the pass could cover any distance. Critics say this is certain to decrease the danger of the game.

(By H. H. Malone.)
CHICAGO, Ill., July 28.—Safer and saner foot ball under the new rules adopted recently is predicted by Alonzo Stagg, athletic director of the University of Chicago, and probably the best known man in the foot ball world, who makes his headquarters west of the Alleghenies. Further than this prediction Stagg absolutely refused to discuss the rules, or to go into details as to how they would affect the style of play.

"It would be impossible for me to discuss these changes at this time," said Stagg "as many of them are theoretical and must be tested in play before we can tell whether they will be a success or a failure. However, from what I have read I have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion they will effectually diminish the danger in the game and at the same time retain many of the thrills which make the game so popular."

The forward pass is one of Stagg's pets, and he fought hard to have it continued in use without any restrictions, but the eastern men overruled him. Indeed, for a time it looked as if the forward pass was to be eliminated from the game, but Stagg won a part of his fight and the pass is retained, with restrictions which limit the zone of action which will be in the opinion of foot ball men make it every bit as effective and not so dangerous.

Under the new rules the player making the forward pass must be at least five yards back of the line of scrimmage, and the player receiving the pass must not be over 20 yards ahead of the scrimmage line. This means that long passes up and down the field will be done away with, and, by keeping the play closer, avoid the danger from flying and hard tackles.

Flying tackles are barred, as is also crawling with the ball, or pulling and hauling the runner by his team-mates.

A former pupil of Stagg's at the Midway institute, and an athlete generally regarded as one of the greatest foot ball players who ever donned the moleskins, discussed the rules freely.

"Of course, just what effect they will have on the game towards making it safer is problematical at this time. We can't tell anything about it until the new plays are tried out, but to me it appears that the committee has done its work well."

TIP WRIGHT COLUMN

Nothing has been heard of late regarding that offer of $30,000 which Hugh Jennings is said to have made for Pitcher Walter Johnson and Catcher Charlie Street of the Washington team.

The chances are that the deal won't come off. In the first place it is to be hoped Manager McAleer has too much sense to dispose of his stars, even for a small fortune, and in the second place I believe Ban Johnson would prohibit the deal.

The Detroit management is making efforts, beyond a doubt, to bolster up the three time champions of the American league in an effort to bring a fourth pennant home, but in the interest of clean base ball it is not wise to let such a deal go through.

Last year when Detroit was slipping, Jennings secured Jim Delehanty from Washington in place of Herman Schaefer and Tom Jones from St. Louis in exchange for Claude Rossman. In both instances, cash went with the discarded players.

This change was effected late in the season when Detroit was finding the going mighty rough, and there is no doubt the deal helped the Tigers grab the pennant.

No one will deny that there was precedent for the action, but this does not justify it by any means. Many a bad precedent has been followed in base ball as well as in courts.

I advocate the adoption of a rule in base ball which will prevent the trading or buying and selling of players between teams in the same league, when the intent is apparent (as it is in this case) to bolster one team at the expense of another.

If club owners want to strengthen their teams during the season, let them go to the minor leagues, let them pay fair prices for the talent they need instead of practically bribing a tail end team with an offer of money and a couple of players who are going back, in exchange for men whose playing will enable them to remain in front.

If a manager knows that all he has to do to bolster his team is to offer a financial inducement to a second division club manager, he is not pushed to the limit of his resourcefulness in the fall, when he can get his pick of the players in the way recognized as legitimate.

Labor Backing "Red" Hayes is an Insurgent

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 28.—The Labor party the country over is keenly interested in a nice little political fight in the 5th congressional district of California.

It is between Everis Hayes, "Red" Hayes as he is sometimes called, and Mayor Chas. Davison, of San Jose. Both are after the seat in congress, which has been held by Hayes.

What makes the fight of particular interest throughout the country is the fact that Hayes is using campaign literature in the form of a letter from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and it is one of the greatest endorsements of a candidate ever given by the head of the labor party. It gives Hayes' record in full since he first took his seat in the house and concludes with the words: "He has given every evidence of being faithful to his great trust and has never hesitated to serve the cause of labor and the best interests of all the people whenever the opportunity has afforded."

On the strength of this letter and his record as an insurgent in the house, Hayes is leading his "regular" machine republican opponent a merry chase for votes and the outcome is being watched with the keenest interest not only because of Hayes' stand for labor, but because he is the author of an anti-Asiatic amendment to the immigration bill, which, if it is passed, will bar Hindus, Japanese, Chinese and other Asiatic colloid laborers from America.

AUTO COMPANY IS BARED

(By United Press Leased Wire.)
NEW YORK, July 28.—Automobilists all over the country are today impressed with the fact that it is the purpose of the American Automobile association to remain supreme in all matters of controversy which come under its jurisdiction.

Until further notice the Premier Motor Car company has been barred from all contests held under the sanction of the contest board of the association. The company last week secured an injunction in the Brooklyn courts prohibiting the Chalmers Motor Car company from receiving the Glidden trophy, which had been awarded by the referee to the Premier company. Since the contest board of the association had reversed the referee's decision and given the trophy to the Chalmers company, the securing of an injunction by the Premier people was regarded as an affront to the board and the barring of the company from subsequent contests resulted.

The Home Paper of Tacoma

Is the Tacoma Times

The Times employs as many carrier boys as both other afternoon papers combined, and The Times through this army of boys delivers nearly as many paid for copies as both other afternoon papers combined.

The Times city circulation beats the circulation of one of the other afternoon papers by about 7,500 copies each day, and The Times' city circulation beats the city circulation of the other afternoon paper by about 1500 copies each day.

Most Everybody in Tacoma Reads the Times

In proportion to the population of Tacoma the circulation of The Times is greater than that of any paper printed in the Northwest.
