

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Cynthia Greys Letters

Dear Miss Grey:— I think a great deal of a certain young man who likes my sister better than he does me. She does not care for him. Shall I tell him so, that I may win his affections?

2.—A friend told me that a boy said that he did not like me. Shall I believe her or ask the boy?—Marie.

A.—Certainly not. You could gain nothing by telling him and you might lose his friendship.

2.—Why do either If he does not like you, make him change his opinion of you by being just a sensible, natural girl—free from deceit—and a good comrade as well. Remember that boys usually dislike "boy crazy" girls.

Dear Miss Grey:— I am a girl of fifteen and am five feet, two inches tall. I will graduate from grammar school in February. What would be suitable for a dress in the way of material.—Ignorance.

A.—The dress would be suitable if made from linen or fine white lawn or any pretty white goods. It would be simple and pretty if made with a full skirt with about four shirrings at the top which would make it slightly high waisted. Have the waist soft and full with a square Dutch neck and short puff sleeves.

Dear Miss Grey:— How can I acquire a vivacious disposition and how can I cultivate a charming personality. A.—You need not worry about developing vivacity if you can endeavor to make the best of everything, whether or not things seem as bright as they might. A ready smile, a reputation for kindly action and pleasant words go toward making a charming personality. If the natural working out of a charming disposition brings with it what is known as vivacity, well and good. But if you find yourself not actually vivacious when you have acquired a likeable personality it will simply mean that vivacity is not naturally one of your characteristics.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) What will remove ink from a light blue poplin skirt? (2) On what day of the week did March 21, 1895, fall? (3) Should a school girl of sixteen wear black? (4) When the friend of a schoolgirl of seventeen returns from college should she invite him to call? (5) What is used as a dry shampoo for the hair?—BEAUTIES.

A.: (1) Put the stained part in benzine, and brush with stiff brush. Rinse in clean benzine (using precautions against fire). Dry and wash in suds. Remember that anything which will take out the ink stain will probably take out the color. (2) Thursday. (3) That's a matter of taste. Personally, I do not like to see black on young girls. (4) Yes. (5) Fine cornmeal, or talcum powder.

More American Fairy Tales

FOR THE YOUNGSTERS, AND THE OLDESTERS, TOO

BENNY, BUNNY AND TOMMY AND A GNOME.

"Now, Benny," Benny would say, "Tommy is all right. He is a good fellow."

But Benny would not say a word. He would come close and take what Benny gave him to eat—but he never, never acted as if he wanted to be friendly with Tommy.

Every time that Benny went out to feed Bunny, Tommy would follow.

When Benny and Tommy returned to the house after these visits, Benny would say to Tommy:

"You must try to be friends with Bunny. Bunny is a good chap; but he was raised out of doors and he doesn't understand our ways."

Tommy would come close to Benny and show how much he liked Benny—but this did not satisfy Benny.

Benny was very glad to be friends with Benny and Tommy. BUT he wanted Benny and Tommy to be friends with EACH OTHER. This shows that Benny was a very fine little man—oh! I had forgotten to tell you that Benny is a boy, Tommy is a cat, and Bunny a rabbit.

Now you will understand what a hard job it was for Benny to coax Tommy and Bunny to make up.

After a while Benny acted so afraid when he saw Tommy that Benny tried to make Tommy stay in the house when he went out to Benny's little house to feed Bunny. But Tommy nearly always managed in some way to get out. He would sit and watch Benny eat lumps of sugar, pieces of bread, carrots and cabbage leaves as Benny fed them to him.

When Benny would tell his mother how afraid Benny was, and how Tommy ruffled up the hair on his back when he saw Benny, she would kiss her little boy and tell him that it was because Benny and Tommy were jealous—which was NOT a good thing for Benny's mother to say; for we should know nothing at all about being jealous, any of us!

Finally Tommy's pussy wife died—and left five little motherless kittens—and how worried Tommy was! Tommy was about the busiest cat in the village, catching mice and frogs and even little fishes for them. But, of course, he did not know very well how to care for little kittens.

Benny's mamma soon taught the little ones to eat milk out of a saucer—but still they wanted a mother and CRIED for one. This is where Benny's dream came into good use.

Getting up early after the dream he took the little basket in which the kittens slept and carried it to Benny's house—and will you believe that Benny GLADLY adopted the kittens? It is TRUE.

Sour milk makes the cake light and spongy, while sweet milk makes it cut like pound cake.

After getting the ingredients together before mixing a cake, always warm the bowl by pouring into it boiling water. Let stand a few minutes, then pour out and dry. It must be warm enough to soften, but not melt the butter.

When using stale bread for puddings, etc., always soak it in a cold liquid. Bread that has been soaked in cold milk or water is light and crumbly, while that soaked in hot liquid is heavy.

While Benny stood watching Bunny nurse her adopted family, a very little man appeared before Benny and told him in a thin voice:

"We gnomes do not often go to much trouble about rabbits and kittens. But we help YOU because you have helped THEM. I sent Trixie to tell you the dream you had last night. Then she turned herself into a rabbit and talked to Benny about it. Then turned herself into a cat and found Tommy hunting in the woods and told him about it."

Benny was well acquainted with the fairies in his boons and from the stories his papa and mamma read to him, so he ran back to tell them what had happened.

And they, too, were very glad. Tommy's hair does not ruffle now when he sees the rabbit, and Benny has become so used to kittens that he is not afraid of cats.
