

Worst Wind In Years Up at Victoria, B. C.

(By United Press Leased Wire.) VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 14.—The gale which raged along the coast was one of the severest here for a number of years. The wind attained an average velocity of 40 miles an hour, while gusts of 60 miles were frequent. Despite the strength of the gale, the damage done along the waterfront in and adjacent to the city was not serious except in the vicinity of the Ross Bay cemetery. Here a picture of desolation was presented today. The sea wall was washed away for about 200 yards and the bank had collapsed for distance of from 12 to 15 feet at the highest point, exposing a number of graves. Waves beat with incessant roar upon the shores of the cemetery. In the old Chinese quarter 17 graves were exposed and coffins washed out, but as all bodies were removed last year to the new Chinese cemetery on Foul bay the coffins were empty.

Think Woman Got Loot When Cafe Was Robbed

(By United Press Leased Wire.) CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Police investigation today of the recent hold-up of Rector's restaurant reveals the fact that a woman, who is now believed to be in San Francisco, escaped with most of the loot. She double-crossed the man who double-crossed his pals by drugging them after they had held up Charles Willard, robber No. 1, and relieved him of the

$3,300. Before robbing the restaurant, Willard confided his plan to Loftus. As Willard was coming from the cafe he was confronted by four men, headed by Loftus, and forced to give up the coin. Then Loftus drugged his three companions and took the cash. "The police say today that Loftus gave the money to a woman to keep for him, and that she slipped away and fled to California."

SUFFRAGETTES PLAN A QUEER BOYCOTT

(By United Press Leased Wire.) LONDON, Feb. 14.—A boycott against enumerators when the census is taken next April, is the latest plan of the militant suffragettes to compel Premier Asquith to promise a suffrage bill at the present session of parliament. Announcement of the proposed stop was made today by Mrs. Despard, of the Women's Freedom league. "We will prove," she said, "whether there can be a people without women. Women have not received citizenship, and it is logical for them to say they shall not register as citizens. We shall request women householders and women lodgers throughout the country to refuse all information to census takers."

Extra! Bloody Mexican Battle of Manana Will Begin Tomorrow--Unless Bull Fight Interferes

"Tomorrow's" the Big Day, All Right, All Right--Every Mexican Leader Says So, and Who Is There to Gainsay It?--Nevertheless, the Fool Gringos Are Hanging Around Hoping to See A Battle TODAY.

BULLETIN JUAREZ, Mex., Feb. 14.—Tomorrow without fail, the federal troops will storm and capture the insurrecto position. This is official.

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 14.—"Tomorrow our flag will fly from the ramparts of Juarez." This statement from one of the leaders of the insurrectos may be taken as authoritative.

EL PASO, Tex. (By Our Special Correspondent.)—Tomorrow will be the red letter day of the revolution. I have just come from interviewing the leaders of the embattled hosts on the other side of the Rio Grande, and they are agreed on that point.

I asked Gen. Oronabisco of the insurrectos when the final attack upon Juarez would begin.

"Manana!" said the general, whenever they got close enough to the chicken fight to see the combat through the dust, they invariably forgot that they were on duty.

I asked the captain of the detachment when he expected to engage a real cloud of insurgent dust.

"Manana!" he cried. But in spite of the fact that there is such good reason to believe that there will be no battle till tomorrow, sightseers from the states are seeking every point of vantage commanding the bloody field prospective, hoping against hope that there will be a battle today.

If there is no battle there are plenty of bottles. Later. It is rumored that the Juarez bull fight will be held Sunday as usual, and that a general amnesty will be proclaimed for the day, so that the insurrectos may safely avail themselves of the opportunity to see the fight. Every effort to verify this rumor has been fruitless.

When Gen. Oronabisco was told of the rumor, he turned pale and almost ordered an immediate attack on the enemy's stronghold. He denounced the scheme as a base attempt either to influence his brave boys to desert or to lure them, unarmed within the lines of the treacherous foe.

He declared that if the rumor were found to be well founded he would lead the attack upon Juarez tomorrow, if not sooner.

BULLETIN. JUAREZ, Mex., Feb. 15.—Tomorrow, without doubt, will be the last day of war. Col. Rutabago says so. When asked today as to when, in his estimation, the campaign would be brought to a glorious close by the federal troops, he cried:

"MANANA!"

"Cook Is Still After Peary"

(By United Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Evidence that Dr. Frederick A. Cook, polar explorer is going to keep right after Captain Robert E. Peary is seen here today in the charges Cook made in a lecture before the Pleiades club. Cook charges that Peary and the "Arctic trust" have hounded him from the first day they learned he sought the pole. Cook, in his lecture, alleged that Peary had compelled Rudolph Franke to transfer to him $10,000 worth of furs and ivory belonging to Cook, before he would carry Franke back to civilization.

Outside the city I found a squad of soldiers practicing shooting at artificial cloud of dust.

A half dozen red gamecocks were pitted on a dusty common, and the resultant dust made an excellent imitation of the appearance of a body of insurrectos marching. The soldiers were instructed to fire at the cloud, but under no circumstances to fire low enough to endanger the lives of the birds.

The men showed great eagerness and bravery in stalking the cloud, but the artifice would have been more successful if the marksmen had been less interested in the cause of the cloud. As it was,

they, unarmed within the lines of the treacherous foe.

He declared that if the rumor were found to be well founded he would lead the attack upon Juarez tomorrow, if not sooner.

Canada's New Governor—He Left $25,000 a Year Job Because There Was No Work To Do

The man who resigned his job because there was no work to do. That was the Duke of Connaught, uncle of King George V. father of the queen of Spain, recently appointed governor of Canada. The duke was in command of the Mediterranean station when the incident occurred. He was drawing $25,000 per annum, besides his house and a liberal allowance for carriages and servants. However, he felt that his labors were not worth his hire, as his hands were tied by the big-wigs in the British office.

He protested, then resigned and his action caused no end of a flutter in the dove coots. He has recently returned from a visit to South Africa, where he represented the king at the opening of the South African parliament. It is said that his appointment has caused much uneasiness at Ottawa. Some of those who have been drawing big pay for themselves and putting things in the way of their friends are wondering how long they will be able to continue on the job. The new governor will take office next September.

REFUSE TO STUDY ON LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

(By United Press Leased Wire.) SEATTLE, Feb. 14.—The faculty of the law school of the State university is planning some sort of dire punishment today for the 150 students who yesterday went on strike. The men refused to attend classes, declaring that it was an imposition on their rights to expect class attendance on Lincoln's birthday, a holiday. After parading the campus, the men disbanded for pursuits more pleasant than the study of Blackstone, et al. The strikers will be summarily dealt with, according to an announcement at the university today.
